Streak-of-lightning P-1 British jet flown by test pilot Roland Beaumont has beaten world speed record of 1,132 mph set last year by British Fairey Delta 2. What was P-1's top speed? Sorry, that's officially secret. But we can say it was set by accident while Beaumont was still accelerating with no thought of record. (Daily Mirror photo.)

Douk Mother Found Hanged—Her Child in New Denver

KRESTOVA, B.C. (CP)—The hanging death of a Doukhobor widow is blamed by a spokesman upon the fact that her nine-year-old daughter is being detained at a New Denver special school.

Body of Mrs. Mary Glenger, 32, was found hanging from a beam in her Krestova home at 6 p.m. Wednesday.

Nearly a letter she had just received from her daughter Patsy. It read:

"Mommy, I am lonesome for you... come and visit me... I love you. Goodbye."

When authorities arrived at the farm they were met by a bitter gathering of neighbors who charged that the government's policy of enforced education for Doukhobor children had caused the death.

An inquest was called for today in Nelson.

There are 89 children in the school in New Denver in B.C.'s Kootenay district.

Each is considered a ward of the courts.

The children were taken when their Doukhobor parents refused to send them to school in accordance with B.C. law.

A delegation of three Doukhobor couples who have children at New Denver met Wednesday with provincial welfare officials in Victoria.

They sought to have the children released during the summer holidays, pending a court ruling on the legality of the detention which is expected in September.

The parents were told, however, that the children became wards of the courts after they were apprehended under the Protection of Children Act and they cannot be released as a group.

Individual court orders are necessary for each child before they can be released, the group was told.

Education Minister Leslie Peterson, whose department operates the New Denver home in conjunction with the welfare department, said the Free-domite delegation had made no attempt to meet him or any members of his staff.

"I am ready at any time to see them," Mr. Peterson said.

The 89 children live inside the barbed-wire fenced former sanatorium at New Denver, and attend public school in the community.

FACT-FINDING STUDY
A fact-finding study of the detention was started this week by two lower mainland Doukhobors.

North Vancouver lawyer Peter Faminow said he and William Papov of suburban Burnaby were delegated by the Union of Doukhobors in Canada to make the investigation.

"We will attempt to make a dispassionate inquiry into all phases of the New Denver project—the reasons for it, its legal justification, and whether it is an equitable solution to the problem," Mr. Faminow said.

PRAYER FOR TODAY
Grant, Lord, that we may take time to be holy, to speak often with Thee, to listen in stillness. Make redemptive our communion with Thee in lovely places, in the holy sanctuary, in our blessed homes, and in all our daily contacts with Thy people; in His name who arose a great while before day, and often prayed through the night. Amen.

PRINCESS FRONT-PAGE NEWS

Margaret's Couture Lifts London Brows

LONDON (UP)—A London newspaper bluntly suggested today that Princess Margaret is busting out all over—and published a bosomy photograph of her to prove it.

The plunging neckline picture and the comment in Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express was an eyebrow raiser in this country where royalty is treated with respect.

Express columnist William Hickey commented:

"The dress she wore was one of the prettiest. The hat was simple, and for the dress itself...

"Well, a dress should be where it was meant to be the day it was made. Could one or two extra pounds—a few extra dishes of strawberries and cream—a few extra ice creams at parties—have given it a look that wasn't intended?"

Rioting U.K. Strikers Face Government Action

Passenger Blown To Death In Mystery Blast

Airliner Lands As Weakened Side Caves In

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A mysterious hole was ripped in an airliner flying 10,000 feet over California's Mojave Desert today and a passenger was blown to his death. Investigators believe the man shot himself and bullet holes so weakened the plane that its side blew out. The plane landed safely. Its 12 other passengers and crew of three were unhurt.

The missing passenger is a retired San Fernando Valley jeweler who flew to Las Vegas Wednesday night and boarded the Los Angeles-bound plane this morning. He had taken out a round-trip insurance policy for $125,000, with his wife as beneficiary.

Western Airlines, operator of the twin-engine Convair 240, said S. F. Binstock, 62, of North Hollywood, went to the plane's washroom soon after it left Las Vegas at 2:50 a.m. He stayed there until the blast occurred at 3:37 a.m.

HOLES FOUND

The blast was opposite the washroom. Western said its investigators found four bullet holes in the fuselage near the edge of the four-by-seven-foot hole.

An earlier theory that an explosion charge might have been touched off was discounted. Western said, when no signs of powder burns—or any sort of blast—were found.

Western said its theory is that the bullet holes so weakened the side of the plane that air pressure—the cabin was pressurized—blew it out.

Binstock was in the washroom so long that one passenger became alarmed and was about to call a stewardess when the plane was shaken.

The occurrence posed a mystery for hours. There are no fuel or gas lines near the washroom and the main baggage compartment is in the front of the 40-passenger ship.

Rate Hiked Asked

MONTREAL (CP)—The Canadian Passenger Association, on behalf of a number of its member lines, today applied to the board of transport commissioners for authority to increase the basic rate per passenger mile to 4.4 cents from four cents.

Monarchy Ended

TUNIS (Reuters)—Tunisia today abolished its 250-year-old monarchy and became a republic.

The constituent assembly voted unanimously to end the monarchy. It also proclaimed Premier Habib Bourguiba, architect of Tunisian independence, as first president of the republic.

Skeltons Make Up

BARCELONA, Spain (UP)—Comedian Red Skelton was reported today to have patched up the squabble with his red-haired wife which cut short the European tour they were making for their leukemia-stricken son.

Missing Boys Safe

VANCOUVER (CP)—Two barefoot boys who disappeared from their home Wednesday morning were found 11 hours later in an automobile, huddling over three smoking lanterns to keep warm. Police had launched a search near their home in Vancouver's Trout Lake district for six-year-old Eddy Miller and his brother, Bobby.

300 Battle Fire

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—The wind died down early today, allowing 300 firefighters to gain ground on a 5,000-acre range fire that veered close to this southwestern Idaho state capital.

Visit Cancelled

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker has expressed regret that Prime Minister Suhrawardy of Pakistan has found it necessary to cancel a visit to Canada planned July 27-29.

Big 5 Ban on Missile Proposed by Stassen

LONDON (UP)—The United States declared today that the atomic "Big Five" powers should ban the military use of intercontinental missiles before it is too late to control them.

Presidential disarmament adviser Harold E. Stassen told the five-power disarmament conference here that a ban on missiles, which he described as the ultimate weapon, should be a feature of any first-step arms pact.

Stassen said a committee of experts should be designated by the conference powers—the U.S., Britain, Canada, France and Russia—to work out means of imposing and supervising the ban.

The U.S. delegate said the commission should start work within three months after the proposed treaty is ratified.

Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin, Russia's representative at the conference, expressed no opinion on the U.S. proposal. He said merely that he will "study it carefully."

The western powers had agreed to go ahead with the U.S. plan despite the harsh tone of Soviet Premier N. S. Bulganin's latest letter to Prime Minister Harold MacMillan. (See Page 2)

COLD PAY ALLOWANCE HOT ISSUE FOR AUSSIES

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters)—School charwomen have asked the Miscellaneous Workers Union to press for a special "chillblain allowance" of five shillings a day when the temperature drops below 25 degrees and ice is floating in their water buckets.

British Forces Sent to Assist Friend—Lloyd

LONDON (UP)—Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd announced today Britain is sending "necessary forces" into the Middle East to help crush a revolt against the British-supported Sultan of Muscat and Oman.

Lloyd told parliament that British warplanes already have attacked "military targets" in the area held by rebels in the Persian Gulf sultanate.

"These are limited operations," he said. "The necessary forces are being placed at the disposal of the local military commanders as they are required."

Lloyd said Britain is acting out of friendship for the sultan, who is battling "holy warriors" led by the Imam of Oman, rather than in fulfillment of any special guarantee.

NO TREATY

"There is no specific treaty obligation that Britain should interfere in the internal affairs of Oman," he said.

"On the other hand, we have quoted more than one precedent where the (British) government have in the past acted at the invitation of a friendly ruler to help him preserve law and order in his domain."

"That's what we are doing now."

He described Sultan Said Bin Taimur as "a firm friend of Britain... Whose sovereignty is acknowledged."

BEVAN SCORES MOVE

Lloyd spoke in reply to an attack by leftwing Laborite Aneurin Bevan, who had charged that British air attacks on rebel strongholds merely "displace innocent rocks and sand from one place to another and destroy mud walls."

Bevan said the government is "not entitled to use the lives of British servicemen" merely to help its friends.

He took note of the furnace heat prevailing in Muscat and Oman, which ranges up to as much as 130 degrees in summer.

JETS HIT FORT

Meanwhile at Oman Royal Air Force jets struck with rockets and cannonfire at the deserted rebel fortress at Nizwa, nerve centre of the tribal rebellion.

Other RAF planes from Bahrain and Aden blasted rebel concentrations in the mountainous hinterland in the second day of air strikes.

AVM Cook Dies

OTTAWA (CP)—Air Vice-Marshal Clarence A. Cook, 49, commanding officer of the RCAF's Air Materiel Command at Rockcliffe Air Station here died suddenly Wednesday night.

A native of Saskatoon, Sask., Air Vice-Marshal Cook had headed the Air Materiel Command since last March. He succeeded Air Vice-Marshal Robert C. R. Ripley, killed in an air crash near Ottawa in March.

The air force said death was caused by a coronary thrombosis. Funeral services with full military honors will be held Friday afternoon in the Protestant chapel at Rockcliffe.

New Move to Prevent Nurses' Strike Fails

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Evelyn E. Hood, personnel director for the Registered Nurses' Association, rejected the offer and indicated the nurses would accept nothing less than the conciliation board award.

The board had recommended that nurses wages be increased to $260 from $240 a month.

Miss Hood said also that the association would not extend the strike deadline, set for next Tuesday.

Diefenbaker, Dulles Talks Centre on Canadian Dollar

By NORMAN M. MACLEOD

OTTAWA (UP)—The trade problems caused by the record high premium on the Canadian dollar may play a key role in weekend talks between Prime Minister John Diefenbaker and U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, Conservative government sources say.

They said that Mr. Diefenbaker's policy of diverting Canadian trade from the U.S. to the Commonwealth would ease the penalization of Canadian exports and subsidization of foreign imports imposed by the rising dollar.

A 15-per-cent diversion of Canada's existing trade would bring the current payments imbalance between the United States and Canada into manageable dimensions, the prime minister has contended.

Meantime, the soaring premium on the Canadian dollar is being recognized by leading government economists as fast building up to a critical national

Violence Worst In Thirty Years

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Macmillan today threatened government action to halt the worst wave of strike violence in Britain in 30 years.

Even as striking fruit handlers battled police in London's produce markets, Macmillan told the Commons:

"I must make it clear that the government are determined to see that law and order are maintained."

The prime minister's statement was cheered by both Conservatives and the opposition.

Labor party leader Hugh Gaitskell also deplored the use of violence in labor disputes.

Gaitskell said he was glad to hear Macmillan stressed that the violence came from "a tiny minority."

Macmillan had said: "I am sure that violence, which has been the work of a small minority, will be condemned by all trade unionists."

Asked about the current strikes of fruit handlers and of provincial bus workers—both of which have seen violence this week—Macmillan said the law permitted peaceful picketing "but intimidation in any shape or form is illegal."

Conservative member Walter Davenport said the outbreak of violence is "threatening a breakdown of law and order."

Strikers set fire to trucks, cut brake cables and beat up a police chief in continuing violence today.

'Like a Wartime Convoy'

Police cars escorted long lines of fruit and vegetable trucks—"like a wartime convoy," one driver explained—through pickets gathered around the big London markets from which this metropolis draws its food.

Some 3,800 men are on strike in the Covent Garden fruit and vegetable markets and other London depots in protest against a new job reclassification plan. But market officials recruited fresh staffs from their clerical employees to keep supplies moving.

Violence in the market strike coupled with scattered outbreaks in the strike of provincial busmen employed by private firms, roused the demands in parliament for quick government action against "violent and unlawful picketing."

Picket line violence is unusual in Britain. The present outburst has been called the worst since the general strike of 1926.

In the London strike, pickets sought to turn back trucks loaded with produce for the markets. One man was arrested for beating up the police chief at Stratford near London's east end.

The driver of a five-ton truck loaded with potatoes reported that his brake cable had been cut by pickets who tried to stop him from getting through. He said he used his hand brakes to bring the big truck to a halt.

One truck driver who was accosted by pickets pulled out a shotgun and threatened to shoot. Police took him to headquarters but let him go when they found the gun was not loaded.

10th Atomic Test Shatters Nevada Calm

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP)—An atomic device shattered the pre-dawn stillness of the Nevada desert today with the power of almost 20,000 tons of TNT. It was the 10th shot in the Atomic Energy Commission's current test series. It was detonated from a balloon 500 feet in the air.

Today's detonation was a closed shot—newspapers were barred from the site of the AEC's big Yucca Flat test centre.

FINE WEATHER FOR TONIGHT'S FINAL CONCERT

A balmy evening was promised today for Victoria Symphony Orchestra fans who will attend the third and last of the summer series of concerts tonight at Butchart Gardens.

The weatherman said clouds that started gathering this morning will thicken overnight, and break up Friday at about noon.

The chance of rain is remote, and any shower will be light.

Minimum overnight temperatures will be 55 degrees, but the symphony audience will find it will remain above 60 degrees until midnight. Maximum temperature Friday will be 55 degrees.

Diefenbaker, Dulles Talks Centre on Canadian Dollar

problem for which neither treasury nor Bank of Canada experts foresee any immediate or artificial solution as possible.

The financial experts in the government are reported to have turned thumbs down on suggestions from exporting interests for a repositioning of exchange control with a view of pegging the dollar at or below parity.

The experts point out that exchange control is a device used traditionally to deal with an outflow of capital from a country. They are skeptical of its effectiveness in a reverse role of trying to control an inflow of capital—which is the main cause to which the present problem strength of the Canadian dollar is being attributed.

By the normal rules of economics the current premium Canadian dollar should be discouraging Canadian exports and encouraging foreign imports. The easing of the demand for dollars to pay for Canadian exports abroad, coupled with intensified Canadian demand for foreign currencies to pay for increased imports, automatically should bring the dollar back to or near parity.

GOODS TOO COSTLY

But while Canadian goods are being priced out of export markets on a steadily widening scale, federal officials state that the demand from United States investors for Canadian dollars to pour into our mineral and other natural resources is sufficient to maintain our dollar at a premium and to continue to drive it upwards.

Government experts say that a cure for the situation would be an embargo against the flow of outside investment capital into Canada. But the Diefenbaker government has made it plain it does not wish to take any step in such a direction. The Conservative administration recognizes that the flow of outside capital is essential to the maintenance of the current boom. They are convinced that if its inflow were ended, depression would be a rapid consequence.

POCKETS OF JOBLESS

But already the loss of markets by export industries is beginning to show up in unemployment pockets across the nation which are recognized as bound to increase the stronger the dollar gets. By that route, too, government economists realize, a recession could come. They feel, however, that it will be longer in arriving via the route of gradually increasing unemployment in export industries than by any drastic embargo of outside investment capital.

But the significant thing is at the moment that the government economists have no clue to any means by which the dollar can be restored to or near parity without destroying the development boom—or have they any idea as to how the inflow of capital for the development boom can be conditioned so as not to result in insuperable difficulties for the export industry.

PANTS PROBLEM VEXES SCOTS AS ARMY CUT

LONDON (Reuters)—Scottish soldiers face the problem of just who wears the pants. It is one of the things to be sorted out in connection with a drastic trimming of Britain's armed forces announced Wednesday that 21 regiments will be amalgamated.

One of the complications was foreseen by War Minister John Hare. He told a press conference: "One of the most difficult marriages is that between a Scottish Regiment which wears the kilt and a regiment which wears trousers (tartan trousers)." He said such problems are being left to the regiments themselves. If they cannot agree the war office will have to impose a solution.

LETTER MADE PUBLIC

West Stalls Arms Talks---Bulganin

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Bulganin has accused the West of stalling the disarmament talks in an effort to aid West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's election campaign. It was disclosed Wednesday night as a 6,000-word letter to British Prime Minister Macmillan was made public. He also proposed that the United States and the European powers pledge mutually to withhold help from any aggressor in Europe.

The Bulganin letter was a reply to a June 14 letter from Macmillan.

Linking the Sept. 15 West German elections with the disarmament talks, Bulganin charged the West with prolonging the arms deadlock by bringing up "this or that political problem" to aid Adenauer's re-election campaign.

"The statesmen of West Germany do not conceal... a deal has been made between the governments of certain Western powers and the Adenauer government," Bulganin said.

The letter urged Macmillan to take another look at an old disarmament idea first put forward by former prime minister Eden at the Geneva Big Four meeting in 1953. The Allies since have dismissed the plan, which would have put ceilings on Allied and Communist forces in West and East Germany, demilitarized a zone along the Iron Curtain and opened the zone to a control and inspection system.

Bulganin also said: "It would be worthwhile for the United States and the European powers mutually to pledge not to give military or economic aid to any state that violates peace in Europe, whether or not any of the

Huge Alleged Fraud Brings Arrest of 24

TORONTO (CP)—The Royal Canadian Mounted Police arrested 24 persons Wednesday in connection with alleged defrauding of the federal government of $75,000 to $100,000.

Most of the arrested persons are farmers, and live in the Toronto suburb of Scarborough, and in the nearby municipalities of Markham and Whitecourt and Pickering township. Three live in Saskatchewan.

The alleged defrauding was described as a bank loan swindle.

They were charged with false pretences or violation of the Bank Act or both.

Police said the charges were laid as a result of investigation which began in Ottawa into loans made under the Farm Improvement Loan Act to farmers in the Markham area.

An official of the Farm Improvement Loan Administration said the farmers made deals to purchase certain farm implements. He alleged that a dealer executed the necessary bills of sale and documents to show the farmers had taken delivery of the implements but no implements were delivered. He alleged that the money was used for some other purpose.

Missing RCAF Man Seen Last By His Wife

WHITE LAKE, Ont. (CP)—The mystery surrounding the disappearance of an RCAF flight sergeant, sought in a widespread ground search in this rugged area, deepened today with disclosure that he was last seen by his wife in Ottawa.

The wife of Sgt. C. A. W. Larose, 41-year-old father of three children, told reporters in Ottawa, some 40 miles east of here, that she and her husband arrived in the capital July 16 after a 10-day motor trip from Edmonton.

She said her husband vanished two days later after leaving her at the auto cabin they had rented to report for duty at Rockcliffe Air Force Station in suburban Ottawa.

Larose, a member of the RCAF for the last 16 years, had been transferred to the Rockcliffe base after serving about five years at No. 7 supply depot, RCAF Lancaster Park, Edmonton.

Mrs. Larose said at a brief press conference at the Rockcliffe base today, however, that she and her husband and two of their three children made a leisurely motor trip east to gether.

They left the two children with relatives in Toronto and moved into a motel in Ottawa. Mrs. Larose said she and her husband had planned to go house-hunting when her husband came home on his lunch hour the day he disappeared.

Crop Losses Soar to Millions In Drought-Blitzed Eastern U.S.

NEW YORK (AP)—A withering drought continued its grip on the eastern United States today, scarring some areas with the most severe damage in 25 years.

Estimated crop losses have reached a multi-million dollar level.

The parched region stretched from the Carolinas to Maine, inflicting its harshest punishment in southeast New England, southern New York, New Jersey, Virginia and Maryland.

Spotty rains teased some sections this week and temporarily eased the situation in Pennsylvania, but over most of the area the spattering showers helped little and no genuine rain was in sight.

Across the broad swath of the country, including major sources of fruits and vegetables, crops turned brown and shrivelled.

Prices for garden products took a sharp upturn.

In orchards, peaches and apples hung scanty and stunted. Long island potato vines wilted. Tomato plants sagged in New Jersey. Corn tasseled knee-high in Maryland, instead of its usual shoulder height. Tobacco leaves burned in Virginia.

Many pastures were little more than scorched earth.

New Arrests In Hungary

Prominent Citizens Among Group
Accused of Plotting Revolution

BUDAPEST (AP) — The Hungarian Communist government today announced the arrest of a new group of "counter-revolutionaries" headed by a count and including several former big landlords and factory owners.

ARRESTS SOON IN PUZZLING PETROV CASE

MONTREAL (CP)—Provincial police and Crown officers today sought help from the Quebec government to get warrants for the arrest of a number of suspects in connection with their search for missing Larry Petrov and a bank robbery in which they believe he was involved.

Gaglardi Endorse Marine Highway

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. (CP) — Alaska governor Michael A. Stepovich and B.C. Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi publicly endorsed the plan for a "marine highway" between Prince Rupert and Haines, Alaska, when they spoke at a Chamber of Commerce dinner here.

Gov. Stepovich declared that Alaska would do everything it can to further the project "and with God's help we'll have it running in the next three or four years."

Said Mr. Gaglardi: "The B.C. government is just as anxious to see this project completed. You'll get all the co-operation that we can give you."

CAREFUL STUDY OF CBC PLAN OF TORY REGIME

OTTAWA (BUP) — The Diefenbaker government will move slowly in any changes in federal radio broadcasting policy, Revenue Minister George Nowlan indicated in an interview.

Nowlan has been named as minister through whom the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation reports to Parliament.

Interviewed about the CBC's so-called monopoly of network broadcasting and television facilities in Canada, Nowlan said: "This is an important problem and one that has aroused great national interest. If we are to take action it should be only after careful thought and on the basis of knowledge."

PLEASANTLY CHAGRINED at being caught in quick time Wednesday afternoon is Mrs. F. R. Moore, Victoria's six-day shopping week mystery woman. Two who will split the $100 prize are Neville Howard, left, and Jerry Walter. Young men "pooled" their eyes and took just about an hour to locate Mrs. Moore on Government Street. They "did it for the money."

Team of Two Share $100 Prize; Catch Mystery Shopping Lady

It took only one hour for two astute young men to find the "mystery woman" shopper Wednesday.

She is petite Mrs. F. R. Moore, 2386 Queenswood Drive. The lucky fellows who will split the $100 reward money are Neville Howard, 17, 252 Ontario, and Jerry Walter, 20, 1697 Earle.

The young men made a concerted effort to locate the "mystery woman" because "of the money involved," and went about it systematically.

They had these clues: She was small and dark, wore a small hat, walked briskly and stopped often to look in store windows. Did not wear glasses or earrings, or a coat on fine days. It was a fine day for "Nev" and Jerry. Working together, they spotted Mrs. Moore outside the old Times building, Broad and Fort, and followed her quietly down to Government Street where she entered the Persian Arts shop.

"Are you the six-day shopping week mystery woman," asked Jerry.

That was it. She was.

Mrs. Moore had ranged the downtown area for only 1½ hours before being spotted.

A new mystery woman will be named for next week the last day of the stunt promoted by downtown merchants who are now open Wednesday afternoons.

New Immigration High Established in Canada

OTTAWA (CP) — More immigrants arrived in Canada in the first half of 1957 than in any corresponding period in the last 44 years.

Latest estimates available here place arrivals in the January-June period at 175,000, compared with 69,924 in the first half of 1956 and 164,857 for all of last year. The six-month figure is the biggest half-year total since 1913 when some 225,000 arrived.

By the end of 1957 the flow of immigrants is expected to reach between 265,000 and 275,000; a rate exceeded only five times since the turn of the century.

The biggest group of immigrants in the first six months of 1957 were from the British Isles. They totalled 72,000, as against 22,428 in the corresponding period last year and 50,563 for all of 1956.

British arrivals by the end of the year likely will total between 85,000 and 90,000. The record was 157,000 in 1913.

Hungarian refugees have played a major role in boosting 1957 figures. Some 5,000 landed last November and December and 28,000 since Jan. 1 for a total of 33,000 at July 19.

By mid-August it is anticipated that about 35,000 Hungarian refugees will enter as immigrants.

Former immigration minister Pickersgill said the Liberal government would accept at least 28,000 Hungarian refugees. However at the same time he said no ceiling would be placed on arrivals.

The new Progressive Conservative government has not yet announced what policy it will follow on Hungarian refugees. If total immigration in 1957 reaches between 265,000 and 275,000, it will be the largest number in any one year since 1913 when a record 400,870 came to Canada.

The Big Spread

THE DIFENBAKER GOVERNMENT is said to be planning a study of the wide spread between the price paid to the farmer for his crop and the price paid for it by the consumer.

Most consumers will hope that the Government goes ahead with this inquiry. For the spread is very large and apparently it is still growing.

The last official figures, for May, showed that retail food prices were chiefly responsible for pushing the cost-of-living index up to a new peak of 121.6 points. But in that same month the prices paid to farmers declined from 208.4 to 207.3.

The farmer was getting less. The housewife was paying more.

To most city people it must seem extraordinary that vegetables and meats worth relatively little at the farm are so expensive in the stores but there is, of course, a reason for this margin.

Every item in the cost of getting the food from the soil to the table has gone up and is still going up by the familiar process known as inflation.

It costs more to transport farm products by train and truck because the costs of railway and truck operations — mainly wages — are up. It costs more to retail these things because the operating expenses of retail stores are up for the same reasons. It costs more to deliver them.

In fact, throughout America it is generally true that urban wages have advanced and farmers' wages have declined, relative to their costs of production. And the farmer, of course, being himself a consumer of urban goods, must pay higher prices for nearly everything he buys.

If the spread between the soil and the dinner table must inevitably be large, is it unnecessarily large? Is the huge and complex industry which transports, packages and distributes food as efficient and economical as it could be? Is the housewife demanding too much service, too costly packaging?

Apart from the general process of inflation which threatens everybody, in every nation, is there anything that can be done to reduce the price margin between the farm and the home?

If the Government can give us a factual answer to that question, which affects every family in the nation, its time will not be wasted.

The Secretary General

AS SECRETARY GENERAL OF the United Nations Mr. Dag Hammarskjöld, is one of the most important and influential men in the world; also one of the most controversial.

In the Suez crisis he received the strong support of the United States but earned the distrust of Britain and France. As his term of office will end next spring, unless it is renewed, the position of Secretary General already is under anxious discussion in the foreign offices of the great powers.

The United States has lately informed the French Government, and no doubt other friendly governments, that it will support the reelection of Mr. Hammarskjöld to another term of office.

He recently visited Paris where, despite its doubts about his record, the French Government entertained him with every mark of respect. The Russian Government is said to favor his reelection.

As is natural in such a delicate position, the Secretary General has antagonized some powerful states but where can they find a better alternative? If they do find such a man how can they expect the Russians to accept him? And this choice is subject to Russian veto in the Security Council.

The New York Times reports that Mr. Lester Pearson might be "a possibility" since he enjoys general respect in the Assembly. But the Assembly can consider only candidates recommended by the Security Council and the Russians blocked Mr. Pearson's candidacy both in 1946 and 1953. (This, ironically enough, is the statesman sometimes accused by a few American politicians of being "soft" toward Communism.)

The Russians undoubtedly would veto Mr. Pearson again but these speculations are irrelevant in any case. Mr. Pearson has a big job ahead of him in Canada. His future seems to be committed, and we trust it is, to Canadian politics where he can play a major and decisive role as prospective leader of the Liberal Party and alternative prime minister.

Some of the great powers may not like Mr. Hammarskjöld — no man in his position can hope to please both sides in the world struggle — but it appears probable that he will have more support than any other candidate and will be re-elected.

Biggest Headache

WHAT REUTERS NEWS Agency calls "the biggest headache since the Suez Canal crisis" now afflicts the British Government.

Rising prices, the consequent problem of the exporter, and lately the anger of the housewife have created a combined economic and political issue of first magnitude.

Britain, in short, seems to have realized that inflation has not been cured, is getting worse, and threatens to eat away the substance of the nation's prosperity.

The more sensational newspapers say that the cabinet is split on fiscal policies. Even the sober London Times reports that Conservative supporters in Parliament "are in a critical and apprehensive mood." The Labor Party is using inflation as a convenient weapon against the Government, though the only remedy it can propose is a return to direct price controls which must involve wage controls.

The same sort of debate is under way in the United States Congress where the Senate Banking Committee has been making an intensive study of the American economy's long-run prospects. The Washington correspondents agree that, apart from the problem of world peace, inflation has become the primary concern of the Government.

In Canada (where prices have advanced more rapidly than in the United States during the last decade) there has been a pause in the argument about inflation as a new Government prepares to launch a new financial policy.

But when inflation is so gravely alarming our friends abroad, when our own prices are still going up and our savings down, we may be sure that inflation will soon become the number one item in the agenda of politics.

The great national debate now ahead of us should have been conducted during the election campaign so that the public could have grasped the views of the contending parties. Unfortunately, the Government failed to explain its policy and the Opposition therefore contented itself with generalities. The opportunity to clarify a fundamental question affecting every Canadian household was lost.

There will be another opportunity, however, when Parliament meets and again when the Diefenbaker Government goes to the country. By that time the Government's policy no doubt will be clear and the public can vote intelligently on it.

What's Going on in Esquimalt?

THE PUBLIC HAS BEEN shocked by reports that a youth — formerly a student at Esquimalt High School — menaced a teacher with a broken bottle and a threat against the teacher's life. If true, it is a serious charge.

So far there seems to have been a vast amount of talk about the incident and virtually no action. The public wonders why.

What is happening in Esquimalt? Are the facts given to the newspapers wrong, or don't the Esquimalt police prosecute when an alleged criminal act is committed?

against a teacher by a former school boy?

Secret discussion of the incident by the police commission does nothing to increase public confidence in the police. Unless the authorities wish to feed suspicion and mistrust, they had better make a frank and complete statement, or by other proper means clear the air.

No fatuous statement that the incident lacked the serious implications it now has until it had been "bally-hoed" by the newspapers can answer the questions left in the public mind.

Horace Snifkin's Crime

IT IS ONLY fair to say at the beginning of this sorry business that Mr. Horace Snifkin did not become a criminal by intent. He was tricked into crime not by a lapse of morals but by a lapse of memory. The law, however, takes no account of these fine distinctions and

Hutchison

At the risk of making myself sub judice in contempt of court, I set the pitiable record down here in full. If you have tears prepare to shed them now.

Mr. Snifkin, spending the summer on a lonely lake, went to town the other day to buy a piece of plywood and to get his orchard spraying machine fixed. Knowing that he would have to park for a few moments on the public streets, and having no money, of course, he borrowed two nickels from a generous lady in his office.

THUS equipped for the age of freedom, he set forth with a board eight feet long and four feet square, together with a spraying pipe twelve feet long, lashed to the top of his car.

He had not gone far before the load became dislodged, fell in front of the windshield, obscured the driver's vision and threatened the safety of all traffic. Mr. Snifkin therefore parked his car, readjusted the load and engaged a lunchroom for nourishment at a friend's expense. But in all this confusion he forgot to put the borrowed nickel in the meter. That was his undoing.

ON HIS return to his car he found a neat, impressive and rather terrifying communication from the Police Department. It informed him that he had broken the law and to a man who had never been convicted of any crime before this was a pretty shaking piece of intelligence.

Mr. Snifkin, a man of great courage and unsullied honor, decided to make a clean breast of it and throw himself on the mercy of the courts. He drove at once to the police station and offered to surrender.

There, for the first time, he found himself among the criminal classes. As he observed them, he realized at once how far society had sunk into the morass of crime. For to his horror he saw a long line-up of criminals all of them utterly shameless and incorrigible.

THERE they were, says Mr. Snifkin, boldly approaching the desk, paying their fines and departing without the least sign of remorse or repentance. In all those criminal faces, he looked in vain for any intimation of reform.

They had committed their several crimes on the free streets of the city, they were paying the penalties out of their ill-gotten gains (probably from looted safes or midnight hold-ups. Mr. Snifkin supposed) and they were going their devious ways to repeat their assaults on society.

Being only a first offender, not a seasoned criminal, Mr. Snifkin had no money with him, except two borrowed nickels. When his turn came, in the criminal line-up he offered, with shaking knees and a guilty blush, to pay the fine of one dollar by cheque. Then he learned for the first time the iron logic, the pure consistency and the beautiful impartiality of the law.

BEHIND that desk stood a young woman divinely fair and most divinely tall, a goddess of Greek profile on whom, Mr. Snifkin supposed, Phidias must have modeled his statue of the divine Athena above the Acropolis.

How wise, how scholarly, how nicely discriminating the police must be, thought Mr. Snifkin, to choose such a sublime symbol for the majesty of the law — a living image of Justice herself with evenly balanced scales and equal treatment for all, rich and poor.

Behind this splendid presence several officers of the law were seated at their work, all of them keen, athletic, intelligent young men who watched Mr. Snifkin with hard, knowing eyes. They knew a criminal when they saw one.

At first Mr. Snifkin decided to flee and seek refuge in the underworld but he realized that flight was hopeless. Those sleuths would follow him to the ends of the earth. The figure of Justice would haunt him to the grave.

SO HE offered his cheque for one dollar, a perfectly good cheque negotiable at any bank, and stood waiting for the verdict of Justice and clutching the counter for support.

Well, he received the verdict and took it like a man. (On hearing his account, I was very proud of my neighbor, Mr. Snifkin.)

No, said the majestic lady, a cheque could not be accepted over the counter. The law did not permit it and the law must be obeyed. As Mr. Snifkin prepared to enter the dungeons and bid the world farewell, Justice relented slightly with that mercy which is twice blessed.

If, she said, Mr. Snifkin would put his cheque in the mail it would be accepted. The law would not accept a cheque by hand from a known and respectable citizen but it would accept a cheque in an envelope from anyone.

THE wisdom of this arrangement, the perfect logic of the law, instantly appealed to Mr. Snifkin, and he slunk away and borrowed an envelope and wrote a cheque for one dollar.

Unfortunately he had no stamp and the cheque, the lady had said, must reach the police for certain next day. He therefore grooved back to his camp and at the rural post office secured a stamp on credit and posted the cheque. Alas, he had missed the daily mail. So the cheque did not reach the police until after the weekend.

Mr. Snifkin is plainly guilty of contempt or other high crimes but the police need not send out an armed posse. He is waiting for punishment with resignation. I can assure the Chief of Police that Mr. Snifkin will go quietly. We shall miss him, though, in the long, grim years ahead.

Statue of Christ

For once C. B. Carlton and I agree partly. I too am against political statues for our centennial, or for that matter any useless statues.

They mean absolutely nothing, most of them. The only statue I love really so far that I have even seen, is the one of our soldier boy, in the Parliament Building grounds. This is not because I am the daughter of a soldier and military ancestors and sister of servicemen brothers now passed on, but because it is a true symbol of something worth while, and a reminder of the fact that thousands of our lads, yes, and some women fought the good fight in our past wars, which were caused by greed, graft, and wickedness of all nations.

I therefore agree with Mr. Carlton's suggestion of an illuminated statue of Christ, placed where it can be seen by all, right on our Parliament Building grounds — where it has more right to be than any statue, other than our soldier lad who fought for peace and justice, as Christ did before him.

There are many today in this world who do not believe in our God, yes, and right in this city too.

Yes, I agree that every juvenile should contribute to this statue of our Christ. There are some I know, who will, and do, think I am juvenile in my thoughts. Let them.

Not only juveniles should contribute to this statue, but all who believe in Christ. Old age pensioners who have lived through trials and sorrows, I am sure will. I am one who has her dollar waiting for this true centennial memorial. Let's start.

Correction

It has been brought to my attention that the Victoria Daily Times of Tuesday July 16, 1957, quoted from CP wire, the following — this as an excerpt from the full article:

"Mr. Whitehouse said, the Federation is counting on the support of CCF leader Coldwell, whose party holds the balance of power in the new House of Commons, where the Progressive Conservative government does not command a clear majority."

"Mr. Coldwell's home province of Saskatchewan is the only one of Canada's 10 provinces whose civil servants have the right to bargain collectively. The CCF leader has advocated the same right for federal civil servants."

So that there can be no misunderstanding, I wish to say most emphatically that I never made any such statement as I am given credit for in the above quote.

The Federation has never played politics, and if our present policy is maintained, we never will play politics. On the other hand, should the question of an improved system of negotiation for federal civil servants ever be brought to the floor of the House of Commons, the Federation would support this request for this measure.

Oman---Spark Near Tinder

THERE is an obscure tribal uprising in the remote British protected Arabian Sultanate of Muscat and Oman. The Foreign Office sends into action its unique private army, the trucial scouts, while the War Office alerts the regular British troops in the area. And the whole ambition of the new Arabian policy in the Middle East begins to quake and tremble like a boy camper's puppet in a high wind.

This, surely, is a fairly alarming sequence of cause-and-effect. Until very recently, all official fingers, both British and American, were rather desperately crossed. The hope was everywhere voiced that "this disorder in Oman can be locally handled" — for which read "handled by the obscure and irregular and mainly Arab trucial scouts, without the importation of regular British troops."

But that hope is all but dead, since British Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd's statement on Monday to the House of Commons, foreshadowing active British intervention in Oman. As a result, the little trouble in Oman can mean big trouble, both in the Middle East and in the Anglo-American alliance. And while saying a prayer for a good outcome, it is well to understand the reasons why such small trouble may produce such big trouble.

Old-Style Outposts

In brief, the last old style British outposts in the Middle East are the Persian Gulf coast Sheikdoms and the Aden protectorate, which together comprise the whole Southern and Eastern shores of the Arabian peninsula. The two most valuable pieces of totally arid real estate in the world are the Sheikdoms of Kuwait and Qatar, with their truly fabulous oil riches, and the Sheikdom of Bahrain, while less wealthy, is also a respectable oil producer. The Sultanate of Muscat and Oman, in contrast, has not in recent memory produced anything but camels and headaches. The Sultan is one of the local claimants to the tiny oasis of Buraimi, to which Saudi Arabia has a counter-claim. The Sultan, whose capital is at Muscat, also has a rival in the person of the Imam (or Archpriest) of Oman. In both these quarrels, the Sultan has been stoutly supported by the British, who have publicly broken with Saudi Arabia over Buraimi.

This local friction had little more than local significance, until the Suez crisis forcibly propelled the reluctant Arabian policy-makers into the midst of the mess in the Middle East. A vital part of the new and thus far successful American policy was to encourage King Saud of Death-Bed Repentance?

Councillor Passmore's comments on the press report re Reeve Ash's lone fight for a referendum on the municipal hall, addition must surely amaze ratepayers who have observed this gentleman's actions in the Saanich Council. He states, he "was quite happy that Saanich ratepayers were going to vote on the scheme." This same councillor along with the other "Old Guard" vigorously opposed the reeves' fight for a referendum. Now all of a sudden "he is quite happy." Does he think people are so stupid as to believe this? It is perhaps more to the point to say that the "Old Guard" have found out the feelings of the ratepayers on this matter. It surely is a death-bed repentance.

Councillor Passmore's apologetic and illogical explanation that the municipal hall committee (he is not a member of this committee, but seems to be the spokesman) had gone ahead with working drawings and specifications, "to find out an accurate estimate," is so much eyewash. He knows, or should have known, that sketch drawings will give him as complete an estimate as anyone could ever hope for under the circumstances. Incidentally, the "Old Guard" were so bent on getting an estimate that they did not even bother to find out what the architect's fees would be. This, by their own admission.

Mr. Editor, Councillor Passmore and other councillors instead of trying to justify another costly mistake should have the intestinal fortitude to admit their error pointed out to them by Reeve Ash.

This is just another good reason why all taxpayers should get behind the new organization calling itself "The December 12th Group." We certainly need this organization.

Eating the Dust

For many years tourists, and natives alike, have found their way to the East Sooke Road, which partly girdles that lovely body of salt water known as the Sooke Basin. The road offers a grand view of the Strait of Juan de Fuca as a reward for the venture.

Many times has this writer been stopped and asked if the district was "out of bounds" for the public works department patronage, or if perhaps we were tax delinquents, and thus being penalized by having to eat both our own dust and that of others, through the now busy traffic.

After driving on the west side of the basin and finding all the by-ways nicely oiled, and the wayside free from dust, one is forced to wonder why the discrimination? Considering the outstanding wealth of the province, as asserted by our finance minister, surely a little of such magnificence could be spared to oil, and lay the dust on the road, for quite a large number of steady — but weary — taxpayers, who are growing tired of both paying and "praying" for what is their just due.

The public works department can easily find the road on the map, it is the very, very old original, and therefore worthy of their attention — but now.

Hyper-Tension

I ALWAYS enjoy those quiet films which rush at the familiar world with sympathy and humor. They're such a pleasant change from the exaggeration, sex and violence of so many of the films we see nowadays.

I should dearly love to see a film which poked gentle fun at the hurry and hyper-tension of some of the travelling public.

As a Vancouver Islander, I'd especially like to see a bit of fun with the people taking their cars to the mainland.

First, I'd have the line-up of cars at the ferry. In my imagination, I can see the shots of the drivers and their families. Let the camera swing slowly down the line, and, just for a second, catch each car with its occupants.

I'd have the business of embarking and parking the cars in as closely as they'll go. (Oh, the anguish in case a fender's scraped or bumped.) See that low-slung sports car backing in with professional ease and skillful, rather suspicious driver. See this enormous car being manoeuvred by anxious little Milquetoast while formidable wife looks on and gives advice.

Now let's watch them getting off the boat. Look, this one is worrying that, in spite of his apparently good position, he's going to be the last to leave the boat. It doesn't really matter if he is the last, but there's tension in the air, and the atmosphere is catching. Keep moving there. Don't hold up anyone for a moment. A stalled car or a flat tire would be ignominy and disaster. For all must go with speed and clockwork precision.

So watch the drivers make a frenzied rush at the ramp, as if they were afraid the car wouldn't make the top, or would somehow fall into the drink. There's not one happy carefree face in all the lot.

It's all there—the coats swinging on their hangers, the parcel on the shelf by the rear window, the concentrated driver, the apprehensive wife, the pop-eyed children. ("Don't talk to Daddy, dear. Let him keep his mind on his driving.")

North America on vacation with fish-tail lights and facial tissue!

Now let's have some fun with the unfamiliar city, the third largest in Canada. Well, I guess we all know this one of driving in a strange city. It's the furtive sidelong glance at the map, the muttered curse if street names aren't clearly shown, the peering out at civic sights and being unable to slow down because of the press of traffic behind, the question of children who would be so much more helpful if they'd just keep absolutely quiet.

These are aspects of the social scene that I like to laugh about. In a way, it's simply laughing at ourselves. And laughter is a good way of easing tension.

What Canadians need right now, is a slackening of the growing tension. Far too many people are rushing like mad, and getting ulcers, and having breakdowns, or resorting to the bottle.

Some of them are rushing because they're concerned with matters of life and death. But a lot are rushing for no reason in particular. If they took time out to stand back and laugh at themselves, they'd likely cut down on the hyper-tension and be able to act like human beings.

Myositis and Neuritis

Dr. Walter C. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic, and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

People want to know what is myositis and also what is neuritis. Myositis is an inflammation of muscle, and neuritis is supposed to be an inflammation of a nerve. Actually, often, a supposed myositis is more probably a fibrositis or a soreness in the fibrous tissues between the muscles. Often a supposed neuritis is a fibrositis or an arthritis. Often, it is hard to tell one from the other, and it may well be that the primary cause of the ache or pain is the same chemical abnormality in the body.

There are certain types of myositis that cause a lot of stiffness and trouble, particularly the myositis that goes with an inflammation of the skin. This is the so-called dermatomyositis—not a good disease to have because we doctors don't know the cause, and we haven't much treatment for it. Sometimes associated with it is a chronic inflammation of the gut.

There are a number of diseases that are due to weaknesses in the muscles; probably most of them are hereditary in nature. Again, we have no good treatment, but for some there is a palliative treatment. In the disease called myasthenia gravis, the patient's muscles may become so tired that he cannot chew for long and may even get tired trying to keep his mouth closed. He may sit with his hand holding his lower jaw up. Fortunately, new and helpful drugs for this disease are constantly being found.

There are several types of neuritis that can be recognized. Any person with a severe weakness of certain muscles should go to a good neurologist to see if a definite diagnosis can be made. Unfortunately, in many cases, we do not know the cause and hence haven't a good cure. A good neurologist can say whether the weakness is due to trouble in the muscle or the nerves supplying the muscle or in one of the tracts in the spinal cord, or up in some part of the brain.

Sometimes neuritis is associated with diabetes or with chronic alcoholism. In the Orient a common cause is a diet very deficient in Vitamin B.

VARICOSE VEINS

Millions of people have varicose veins. These veins tend particularly to bother stout women who have borne children and perhaps have had a "milk leg" after a confinement. A milk leg is due to phlebitis, or an inflammation of a vein in the leg. Often the vein gets plugged up by what is called a thrombus, or blood clot.

Later, if the person is lucky, this clot becomes somewhat honeycombed, like a Swiss cheese, and some blood gets through the holes. The rest of the blood has to go through other veins situated deeper in the leg.

In many cases no particular treatment is needed. Perhaps the person will just wear an elastic bandage or an elastic stocking. Elastic stockings are being made today which are not conspicuous. In those cases in which the veins get very large and cause a great deal of trouble and distress, the patient may have to have an operation. Usually, what is done is to make a little cut near the ankle and through this to place a metal ring about the vein. This ring is on the end of a long wire. By pushing the ring up along the vein, it is "stripped" or disconnected from surrounding tissues, and is pulled out through an opening near the groin. Then the blood goes through veins located deep in the leg. One of the early signs of trouble in some cases is the appearance of a big brown spot on the inner side of the leg near the ankle. Later, this may break down into a chronic ulcer. To heal this the area may have to be covered with a skin graft.

Thousands of women get little "spider bursts" of slightly enlarged veins on their thighs. These can hardly be cut out. They might perhaps be injected. A good treatment is to cover them up and make them invisible with a special waterproof cosmetic designed to conceal this type of blemish. It can be purchased in drug stores or at cosmetic counters.

For a while some men were injecting bad veins with some irritating chemical designed to cause the walls to stick together. But the results were sometimes so poor that I doubt if today many men are using this technique.

BENZEDRINE AND DEXEDRINE

Many ask if dextroamphetamine or other drugs that are used to give the person more pep in the early morning or to cut down an appetite are safe. I have heard of rare cases in which a foolish person ran up the dose until he was taking 20 or 30 tablets a day, but, of course, that was stupid. I never saw such a case. According to most authorities who have investigated, these drugs can be taken for years without doing any detectable harm.

Sunshine, 1957 1,320.1 hrs.
Last year 1,371.8 hrs.
Precip. to date 13.22 ins.
Last year 9.99 ins.

SYNOPSIS—A disturbance in the Gulf of Alaska still poses a threat to the weather over the province for the next 48 hours. Cloudy skies and showers have been general over the north coast throughout the night. The cloud cover is now pushing slowly southward down the coast and eastward into the Cariboo. The next 24 hours will see a marked increase in cloud in all southern sections. Scattered showers will occur in coastal sections tonight while afternoon showers are likely in the southern interior Friday. Temperatures will be a little cooler in most areas.

Traffic Signal Failure Causing Serious Concern

VANCOUVER (CP) — Officials expressed concern Wednesday that serious accidents may be caused by the lack of traffic signals at intersections in Vancouver. A strike of 37 city electricians has resulted in complete or partial failure of the lights.

Several thousand street lights have burned out and signals at 80 intersections have stopped working or become faulty since the strike started more than seven weeks ago.

BIBLICAL CITY

The ancient city of Caesarea, now being excavated by archaeologists in Israel, was founded in 30 B.C.

HOME GARDEN

By JACK BEASTALL

Prepare Bulbs Now For Winter Flowers

As vacant spaces appear in the garden during the next month it is a good idea to give some thought to the daffodil bulbs we intend forcing into flower for indoor decoration in January and February.

Most failures at bulb forcing are directly due to top growth starting before a good root system has been formed.

To get root action first, it is necessary to bury the pots or boxes of bulbs in the garden for six or eight weeks. After this rooting period, top growth and flowers develop rapidly when brought indoors.

The most difficult part is to find a space in the garden when the bulbs arrive in late September. Even when space is available, the soil is often too wet for easy working.

This difficulty can be overcome in a heavy soil by preparing the spot before the fall rains commence.

Dig out an area of sufficient size to hold the expected number of pots or boxes, and pile the removed soil as high as possible beside the excavation. While the soil is still dry, sawdust or peat moss can be thoroughly mixed with it to prevent packing after it has been placed over the pots.

My records show that in seven out of ten years it has Long Advocated Vet Legislation Remains Tory Cabinet's Target

OTTAWA (CP) — The Progressive Conservative party's long-held views on veterans' legislation remain its long-term objectives, says Veterans' Minister Alfred Johnson (Alfie) Brooks.

But, he said in an interview, there has yet been no cabinet discussion of policy on veterans' legislation. Which aspects of the party's program will be introduced during the next parliamentary session remained to be decided.

He did concede, however, that the government may ask Parliament to set up a permanent standing committee on veterans' affairs, long advocated by Conservatives.

"It wouldn't surprise me if it did," Mr. Brooks said, "but there is no cabinet authority yet to say that it will."

Twelve of the 16 ministers so far appointed are war veterans and Prime Minister Diefenbaker is Canada's first veteran to become government leader.

The 66-year-old Mr. Brooks, who at 23 was a public schools inspector, has amassed 37 years' experience as a militia and war-time army officer, 22 as a federal parliamentarian and 10 in the New Brunswick legislature.

He said he "would expect" the government in time would consider acting on others of its veterans' proposals, on which veterans' allowances to First World War veterans who served in the United Kingdom — the benefits now go only to soldiers who served in France; and extension of certain Canadian allowances to widows of imperial veterans.

CONFIDENTIALLY YOURS

—by Byrne Hope Sanders

MONTREAL, July 25th—It's a sight better to run your money than to let it run you. . . . but it's easier said than done. I've found that the only way I can run my money is to pay myself on pay-day—just as I pay the butcher and baker—by depositing a certain amount in my Savings Account at the BANK OF MONTREAL. I find it helps me enjoy life more because by earning myself a certain amount for my Savings Account, I am forcing myself to live within my income. Why don't you open your B of M Savings Account today? You'll be surprised at how quickly even small amounts add up if deposited regularly. And it's so nice to know that if you need ready cash for any unexpected opportunity or emergency, it's there waiting for you in "MY BANK."

I'M ON HOLIDAYS—and having a lovely time, thank you. It's good to have long lazy hours, isn't it? Good to sit in the sun with a cup of Instant Chase & Sanborn Coffee and let the moments drift. This fine coffee is the result of nearly 100 years of coffee experience—perfected in endless research in the very best techniques for coffee flavor. Remember, Chase & Sanborn is the Instant with the famous window in the jar . . . so delicious because it's very, very fresh . . . and it's fresh because it's made in an instant from freshly brewed coffee. Happy holidays, too, for you and yours—with several cups of flavorful INSTANT CHASE & SANBORN every day!

DOUBT IF YOU COULD MATCH IT! However great a cook you are, I don't believe you could better this new Lipton Green Pea Soup. The texture is smooth and creamy; the color a delicate, tantalizing green of young spring peas. And it's ready in minutes. Just add cold water and simmer. It's so right for guests, or family—especially in these hot weather days of light meals. Good for the youngsters' lunch. (You, too, m'lady!) Husbands enjoy it at the end of a long day's work. So make LIPTON GREEN PEA SOUP part of your family meals, week in and week out!

IF YOU LOVE YOUR DOG . . . give him a complete, nutritionally balanced diet every day with DR. BALLARD'S CHAMPION DOG FOOD. It means so much to his health and happiness—as veterinarians agree—to have day-by-day care through proper feeding. Dr. Ballard's, the quality dog food you can trust, will keep your pet healthy, happy and playful with a lustrous coat as soft as silk. Your dog, believe me, will enjoy a longer and fuller life with this fine dog food—designed for his special needs. Warren Demands Mountie As Attraction to City

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

Publicity Commissioner George Warren is fighting a pitched battle with the RCMP and Attorney-General Robert Bonner over his demand that a red-coated Mountie should be stationed outside the Legislative Buildings during the tourist season.

So far RCMP Assistant Commissioner C. W. Harvison has refused on the ground that Mounties are needed for more important work than standing to be ogled at.

And Attorney-General Bonner has persistently referred Mr. Warren's numerous requests to Inspector Harvison.

"We seem to be going round in circles," Mr. Warren said.

"Yet I am still getting letters from U.S. visitors demanding to see a Mountie in dress uniform."

RED COAT LURES

"To make matters worse, our Federal government is publishing advertisements in the United States showing pictures of red-coated Mounties and urging Americans to 'come to Canada and see a Mountie'."

"This situation is 'farical,' Mr. Warren snorted. "Why, our own Centennial Committee has put out a postcard showing two scarlet-coated Mounties outside the Legislative Buildings. If that's not misleading, what is?"

Mr. Warren drew the attention of Inspector Harvison to the postcard recently. The inspector has now replied, saying that the postcard was prepared by the Centennial Committee without reference to the attorney-general.

"I understand from L. J. Wallace of the Centennial Committee that only a very limited number have been circulated, and further circulation has been stopped," Inspector Harvison wrote.

MANY ADMIRERS

Mr. Warren produced a number of letters from Mountie admirers south of the border. Wrote Mr. and Mrs. Ellis E. Brown from McMinnville, Ore.: "Our grandchildren spent a week on Vancouver Island and were very disappointed at not seeing a Canadian Mountie in dress uniform."

"We have been coming to Vancouver Island each summer—sometimes for several trips—for the past six years and still love it."

"We thank you for many wonderful holidays spent on this lovely Island, and suggest you put a Mountie in a conspicuous place."

In one of many letters to Mr. Warren, Assistant Commissioner Harvison said the many requests for a "showpiece" Mountie are "high compliment" to the force, but he hoped tourists would appreciate that the maintenance of law and order was the first consideration.

But Mr. Warren has no intention of giving up his quest.

Coalition Split Spells Defeat for Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The coalition of Republicans and Democrats which had supported the Eisenhower administration's civil rights bill cracked up Wednesday.

When the Senate voted 52 to 38 to cut from the House-passed bill all enforcement provisions except those to preserve voting rights, 18 Republicans and 12 northern or western Democrats joined with 22 southern Democrats to achieve the winning result.

Thirteen northern or western Democrats stood with 25 Republicans for the stronger bill.

FIRST BIG TEST

The vote meant defeat for the coalition's efforts to resist proposed authority for the U.S. attorney-general to seek civil injunctions to enforce racial integration in the schools and public places in the south.

This was the first big test of sentiment on a strong civil rights bill the House passed 286 to 126 with coalition support June 18.

Two days later, the Senate voted 45 to 39 to put the bill directly on the calendar, and last week it voted 71 to 18 to take the measure up for action.

But Wednesday's vote cut sharply the powers the bill would provide. Nowhere was the Senate result regarded as anything less than a smashing victory for southern opponents of the measure.

Whether the coalition could pick up its pieces to resist further assaults on the measure remained a matter of doubt.

JURY TRIALS

Senator Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Democratic leader, put the coalition forces to a new test immediately by calling up an amendment to provide for jury trials in some contempt cases growing out of voting rights.

Supporters have said this would "emasculate" the measure because they contend southern juries won't convict.

Old Indian Fish Trap Betters New

HOPE, B.C. (CP)—A fish wheel, designed by Alaskan Indians to trap salmon, is being used on the Fraser River near here by the federal fisheries department in tagging and timing salmon migration.

Biologist Robert McLaren and engineer Ken Lucas of the department's Pacific region are using a 20th century version of a fish wheel, and consider it better than modern methods.

The two saw an ancient fish wheel anchored offshore in the Yukon River near Dawson City, Y.T. The wheel was of the type in common use by Indians in Alaska and the Yukon.

Plans were drawn up and a fish wheel, adopted to local use, was constructed.

Mr. McLaren says the wheel is "a pronounced improvement" over the hand-dip-netting method of tagging. Fewer persons are required to maintain a 24-hour operation and there is less danger of injury to the salmon.

The wheel consists of two basket-type nets made by stretching seine mesh on a framework of five J-shaped steel pipes. The nets are fastened to a central steel shaft which turns on bearings mounted on four pontoons, each 22 feet long. The rig is secured to the river bank by steel cables attached to winches.

Three wheels have been built, all for operation on the Fraser. Another may be used on the Nass River, in northern B.C.

Motor-Boating Fine Pastime But Many Factors Need Thought

(Crowded highways, longer leisure hours, and unparalleled opportunity have combined to make boating one of the most popular and fast-growing activities in the Greater Victoria area.)

By DAVE ANGUS

To the new and uninitiated planning to go out boating, one of the first questions seems to be: "What is it going to cost?"

That is determined by such factors as how you plan to use the boat, and whether you are interested in sport fishing, cruising, water skiing, or just running about.

One must also consider size, power intended, whether it will be moored or trailer-borne, and accessories such as cushions, mooring lines, and fire extinguishers.

Also to be considered are insurance, moorage costs, and perhaps membership dues in an outboating or yachting club, but the main components are boat, motor, trailer, and accessories.

Boats range in size from tiny prams of six to seven feet to sleek cruisers and are available in fiberglass, moulded plywood, strip cedar, metal or sheet ply, canvas over cedar, fiberglass over plywood, and other combinations.

Fiberglass is the most expensive, with prices ranging from $160 to $475 in the eight to 11-foot class, $350 to $1,100 from 12 to 14 feet, $800 for 15 to 18 feet, and $2,000 to $6,000 in the 19 to 22-foot bracket.

WIDE PRICE RANGE

Motors range from 1½ to 60 horsepower, and can be used in pairs. Victoria prices for new motors range from $125 to over $1,000 for the larger types with electric starting and generator equipment.

Choice of a motor follows choice of a boat, since one must consider the boat builder's recommendations. Conversely, when one is interested in a certain motor that will deliver a certain speed or accomplish a certain task, then a boat is found that will carry it safely.

Trailers vary in price according to capacity and special equipment such as winches, cable tie-down kits, and tail light installations. Smaller trailers with capacities up to 300 pounds are available for $150, but as capacities increase, so do the prices. An additional accessory, a tilting cradle for easy loading, costs an additional $40.

Boat accessories can cost as much as $300. They vary according to boat size, but one must take into consideration the cost of steering gear, remote controls, boat hardware, windshield and a canvas cover.

INSURANCE VITAL

Insurance coverage is vital, particularly when the outfit represents a major investment. Rates vary according to coverage, and one must be careful not to be penny wise and pound foolish. If a trailer is to be used, make certain that it will not void the automobile insurance.

Operating expenses involve fuel cost, mooring fees, boatyard servicing and painting and winter storage. However, if one is careful to stay within the summer pleasure budget, the boat will give the greatest return of any investment—care-free hours on the water.

Baltimore Gets It

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball commissioner Ford Frick said Wednesday the 1958 All-Star game will be played in Baltimore, probably on Tuesday, July 8. The 1957 game, won by the American League team, was played at St. Louis July 9.

COMPENSATION COVERS SORE BUS DRIVER LEGS

Extension of the list of diseases covered by the Workmen's Compensation Act to take in an occupational ailment of trolley-bus drivers was announced Wednesday by Labor Minister Wicks.

By constant movement of their right leg on the big acceleration pedal, trolley-bus drivers often suffer an inflammation of the leg tendons.

For that reason the compensation board now recognizes "tendonitis" as a compensatory disease. A similar, but not as extensive category, "tenosynovitis," has been on the schedule since 1942 covering inflammation of arm and leg tendon sheaths.

Mother of 2 Turns Guinea Pig For Aiding Anti-Flu Drug Work

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UP) — "I'm no hero," said Mrs. Dorothy Biggio, a human guinea pig in a laboratory war on the Oriental flu epidemic, "but I feel like I'm doing good."

Mrs. Biggio, 40, a mother of two teenaged boys, is one of about 200 volunteers who are receiving five weeks of experimental shots of vaccine for the flu virus that has spread to the U.S. from Asia.

Dr. David D. Rutstein of Harvard University, warned Wednesday that there is a possibility of a major flu epidemic in the U.S. this fall with the approach of cool weather.

Rutstein found similarities between the Oriental flu that recently became a world health menace and the world-wide 1918 flu epidemic that killed more than 21 million persons, including 300,000 in the U.S.

The virus and rickettsia laboratory of the U.S. Public Health Service here developed a "type A" virus to immunize persons against the Asian flu and inoculated the 200 volunteers.

"I just had to give up my fear of germs and a needle for just plain family practicality," said Mrs. Biggio, an employee of the veterans' administration. "I figure that if we ever have an epidemic I'll probably come in contact with it, considering the type of work I do."

TORONTO (CP) — Paul Wiley, Davis Cup player from Vancouver, and Anne Bagge, Danish-born Toronto resident, headline visiting stars who will compete in the Ontario open tennis championships here Aug. 3-10.

3¼-Pound Bass Wins Child's Fish Derby

Fishing just for fun, Ken Smith, 13, of 1812 Fairfield, hooked a 3¼-pound bass Wednesday afternoon to win top honors in the city playground fishing derby off the breakwater.

More than 500 young fishermen cast for prizes in the annual derby, sponsored by the T. Eaton Co.

Second prize went to Marion Small, 13, of 1034 Linden, for a three-pound bass.

Egyptian Plot To Aid Hitler Bared in Book

NEW YORK (UP) — Egyptian efforts to help Hitler win the Second World War and to halt America's "imperialist economy" in the Middle East are related in a book, Revolt on the Nile, published here yesterday.

The author is Col. Anwar El Sadat, one of Gamal Abdel Nasser's "young officer" revolutionary group.

Much of the book is devoted to secret efforts by the young officers to help the German war effort as well as to overthrow King Farouk. Of one unsuccessful effort, Sadat wrote:

"I still think that if ill luck had not so dogged our enterprise, we might have struck a quick blow at the British, joined forces with the Axis and changed the course of events."

"The imperialist economy of the United States came to the assistance of European imperialism in Palestine... American ambitions had been roused by the war... they set up the state of Israel in the hope of gaining a foothold in the Middle East, astride one of the world's trade routes, where they could keep an eye on the Russian colossus..."

Other winners were Peter Wakeman, third; Jack Pepper, fourth; Marilyn Fieldhouse, fifth, and Joanne Halfhide, sixth.

Largest fish of the day, a 100-pound skate, was disqualified. It was caught by Jack Perkins, 15, of 151 Linden, outside the legal derby limits.

TENNIS NEXT

More than 45 entries have been received for the annual playground tennis tournament which opens on Central Park Courts Monday at 1:30 p.m. Matches will commence daily at 1:30 and finals will be held next Wednesday or Thursday. Trophies and prizes will be awarded by the T. Eaton Co.

Annual field day for all children attending city playgrounds will be held at Central Park Friday, Aug. 2. Track and field and novelty events, including a boxing card matching boys from all parts of the city, will begin at 1:30 p.m.

NO TRAFFIC PROBLEM—When Leland Bryan of Highland, Mich., gets tired of bucking highway traffic he takes off—literally. Bryan invented the "auto-plane," seen at top. The same craft, bottom, takes to the highway with equal ease after its wings are folded. It does 90 mph in the air and 60 on ground.

Postal System Shifts Unlikely Says Chief

TORONTO (CP)—Postmaster-General Hamilton says he is not considering any radical changes in Canada's postal system.

Mr. Hamilton said Wednesday his four weeks' experience of the job has shown him an organization which, basically, is working efficiently.

Until he had visited other large postal regions he was making no decision. But when he returns to Ottawa, he promised, he will examine such questions as twice-daily delivery, mail before breakfast and increased space for Toronto's postal facilities.

Formerly a critic of the decision to revert to once-daily mail deliveries, Mr. Hamilton said he now believes few householders expect or want the mailman to call more than once—particularly if the increase in costs is passed on to them. Separate arrangements could be made for businesses in residential areas so that they would get adequate deliveries.

Mr. Hamilton said there will be fewer stamp issues in future. He said he is looking seriously at the "multiplicity of special issues."

He said he is considering inviting a number of artists to form an informal advisory committee to help in the choice of stamp designs.

Sit Up and Take Note Mom Sets Pole High

MONTREAL (CP)—Mrs. Victor Lajoie, who believes women are tougher than men, will shinny down a rope to solid ground tonight after squatting atop a 75-foot flagpole for 25 days and 21 hours to prove her point.

She's stiff and nauseated after her ordeal, but claims her sit has set a new world's record by a nifty margin.

The official world's record is 26 days, she says, with a disdainful sneer for the men who set former records by staying up a paltry few hours more than their predecessors.

The men also had such comforts as radios and waterproof shelters, but not Mrs. Lajoie. "I'm doing it the hardest way I know how," she brags.

Rains have soaked her and her mattress and her chilled legs have become stiff, she says. But she'll still climb down the rope, although softer males allowed themselves to be lowered by cranes.

She says the prospect of getting down again has so excited her that the swaying of the flagpole has made her seasick during the last few days.

"You don't know what the ground has to offer until you get up on one of these platforms."

Mrs. Lajoie is the 31-year-old mother of five children. Her husband is a former magician. She operates a pet shop, when not up flagpoles.

SCOTCHED WHISKY QUEST FLOORS THIRSTY BRITON

LONDON (AP)—The London meeting of the American Bar Association contributed mightily to an Englishman's thirst.

After standing in a long line of delegates—registering at the Savoy Hotel for the meeting—the Briton finally reached the head of the queue.

"A whisky and soda, please," he said.

"Sorry, sir," answered the man behind the desk. "This is the American Bar Association. What you want is the American Bar. That's on another floor."

30-Minute Trip Lasts 66 Hours

SODUS POINT, N.Y. (AP)—What was supposed to have been a half-hour jaunt in a 14-foot motorboat turned into a harrowing 66-hour battle with nature for a middle-aged Canadian couple.

James M. Cook, 51, and his wife, Helen, 47, with their white dog, were washed ashore in the boat near here Wednesday after being adrift in Lake Ontario since Sunday.

Their diet since casting off from Preeque Ile, Ont., has been lake water.

The Cooks, of Belleville, Ont., were taken to a hospital suffering from exposure. Mrs. Cook's eyes and lips were swollen from the burning sun.

After it was all over, Mrs. Cook told reporters: "We had a talk Tuesday night. Jim said if we don't make it by tomorrow morning, we might just as well say we've had it."

Cook, a machine operator, said this was how it happened: They decided to take their 14-foot outboard for a half-hour spin Sunday noon.

The weather was hazy and the shore was out of sight when the boat took a lurch and the compass went overboard.

About 3.30 p.m. the gas supply went low and Cook shut off the engine to keep a little fuel in reserve.

That night a severe storm shook up the lake.

From then on, the couple kept warm with blankets, prayed, and drifted.

Jack's Hopes Fading

Rocks Stretch League Lead

Shamrocks 11, Pilseners 8

Disillusioned Jack McKinnon is busy trying to nail the pieces of his dream house back together again today, but time is running out for the Vancouver Pilsener coach.

McKinnon, who has been conjuring up lofty ideas of an Inter-City Lacrosse League off berth for his Pils, watched in disbelief at Memorial Arena Wednesday night as Victoria Shamrocks kicked the props from under his playoff plans.

All but counted out of the playoff picture a few weeks back after dropping seven straight decisions, the Pilseners had roared back into the scramble with four victories in five outings and McKinnon was convinced the Pilseners had it made when he sent them after their third straight win Wednesday night.

FIVE-GOAL SURGE

But the Rocks, playing without Jack Bionda and Jackie Howse—both out with injuries—showed little respect for McKinnon's new victory formula and hammered out a rugged, 11-8 triumph with a five-goal surge in the final quarter.

Defeat left the Pils in an almost hopeless position. They are still four points back of third-place New Westminster and five away from Nanaimo with only four games left on their schedule.

Shamrocks, becoming the first team to clinch a spot in the playoffs, boosted their lead over the runner-up Timbermen to six points with Wednesday's win and can just about wrap up a first-place finish if they can end their New Westminster jinx tonight.

In four appearances at Queen's Park Arena this season, the Irish have been unable to turn back the Salmonbellies. Playing their second game in two nights, the Pils made it close most of the way after the Rocks got away to a 4-1 lead in the first quarter.

They collected the only goal of the second period and split four goals with the Irish in the third canto to start the final quarter on the short end of a 6-4 count.

Don Cummings crashed through to bang in his own rebound and bring the Pils within a single goal, but Jackie Northup, one of the game's standout performers, got that one back on a brilliant individual play one minute later.

Jim Swanson trimmed the margin to 7-6 midway in the period before the Rocks took over from the tiring Pils to win going away.

TWO FOR GILL

Alan Gill broke through from a faceloff for the Rocks' eighth tally and then collected his second goal of the night on a breakaway with Pewee Bradshaw and Bert Bertola to make it 9-6.

Ed Kowalyk outran the Pilsener defence to fire the goal that boosted the count to 10-6 and that was it for the Pils although Ron Hemmerling matched Don Sherry's tally in the remaining five minutes.

Shamrocks turned in one of their most satisfying performances of the season. They kept the Pils off balance with solid checking, forcing the visitors to take most of their shots from well out and the Rocks often had the Pilsener defence guessing with a fast-moving passing attack.

Setting the pace in the Irish victory was the line of Bradshaw, Gill and Bertola. Gill fired two goals and collected three assists while Bertola, coming up with a standout effort while filling in for Bionda on the first string line, had two goals and a pair of assists.

Bradshaw, in another fine two-way display, fired one shot behind goalie Dave Unwin and picked up two assists.

Record-Breaking Spurt Features Swim Opener

VANCOUVER (CP)—Record-breaking swimming in the first event of the meet got the Canadian swimming and diving championships off to a spirited start. The occasion was the 1,630-yard freestyle for senior men swimming's so-called "mile" and it was Bill Slater of Vancouver who knocked almost 22 seconds off the previous Canadian record.

His time of 19:46.1 compared with the old mark of 20:07.9 set by Gerry McNamee of Vancouver during the British Empire Games in the same pool, the University of British Columbia's Empire Pool.

The 3½-day championships will continue to be the scene of action as some 200 competitors from more than 30 clubs in Canada and the western United States try for medals in swimming and diving events.

HOLDS 13 RECORDS

Slater, 17-year-old member of the Dolphin Swim Club here and a member of Canada's Olympic squad at Melbourne last year, brought his total of individual Canadian records to 13 with his latest win. Included in those is the record of 19:24.4 for the 1,650-yard event in a 50-yard pool. Empire Pool is the Olympic standard of 55 yards in length.

Jacques Corbeil, a small 15-year-old entry from La Palestre Nationale in Montreal, placed second to Slater in Wednesday's competition. His time was 20:49.3. Bespectacled Jim Lewis of the Del Mar Swimming Club in Santa Monica, Calif., came up with a third placing in 20:57.1.

Each of the three medal winners had come in first in their individual heats. Fourteen competitors took part.

HEATS CUT OUT

Because of the wearying distance of the event, most officials ruled that the best times in the heats would be the basis of determining winners. All other events except some diving contests will involve preliminary heats to determine the six entrants in a final run-off.

There were 12 events on the schedule for today. Finals will be held at night, beginning at 7.30 p.m.

Irene McDonald of Hamilton, Ont., bronze medal winner in the Melbourne Olympics, will be defending her 1956 Canadian women's three-metre diving crown under the colors of the Los Angeles Athletic Club.

Her competitors are Lois Wood of Toronto, Perry Shannon of Regina and Myrna Wreggitt and Patsy Lowe of Vancouver. For senior men, the schedule has the freestyle and butterfly events over 110 yards and the 440-yard individual medley. Senior women will run through the 110-yard freestyle and the 220 individual medley.

For those under 18 years, there is the 220-yard freestyle, 110-yard butterfly and 440 freestyle relay for men, with the 110-yard breaststroke, 440 freestyle and 440 medley relay for women.

Pat Huffman of Ocean Falls, B.C., will be trying to better her own Canadian record of 1:33.2 in the junior women's 110-yard breaststroke. She will have 19 opponents.

TIME OUT!

"Great prospect for the majors, Al... the kid can hit and field, throw a nice left hook and knows judo!"

Milwaukee Ace On Disabled List

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Milwaukee Braves said Wednesday that baseball commissioner Ford Frick has approved placement of centre-fielder Billy Bruton on the 30-day disabled list effective July 19.

The move will enable the hard-pressed Braves, who Tuesday night had catcher Del Crandall playing in the outfield, to add another outfielder to the roster, if they can find one.

Bruton injured his knee in a collision with Felix Mantilla on Milwaukee's last eastern road trip.

Rags-to-Riches Epic in Offing?

If they manage to maintain the pace they have been setting in the past few weeks, Mawson-Gage of the Carnarvon Pony League will be a very big handful for Jaycees to handle in the playoff finals which start Wednesday at Carnarvon Park.

Mawson's have come from the deep depths in the league standings to earn the last play-off berth. They added another chapter to their rags-to-riches story Wednesday, moving into the league final with their best-of-three conquest of City Police.

Gordon Archer won his second game in the series by an 8-4 score to kayo the Police. Archer ran into trouble in the second, when the losers capitalized on five hits for their four runs, but then allowed only one other safety the rest of the way while striking out 10.

ROTARY UPSET

The only other league active Wednesday was the National Little League Gyros upset front-running Rotary with a 12-11 edging.

Gyros pulled a fast, first-inning jump on Rotary with a seven-run spurge, adding two in the second and three in the third to hold on and win.

Rotary followed a one-run first with five in the third and crept closer in the fourth and fifth before Gyro reliever Larry Whitman closed the door in the sixth.

The Royal Colwood golf course toria club. Following is Friday's draw:

Even defending champion George Spaulding found the going rugged, requiring 84 blows to finish his 18-hole jaunt. That was four strokes behind the pace set by Harold Lineham.

Reg Clarkson trailed Lineham by one stroke in the race for the John Hart (gross) trophy but took a commanding lead in defending the W. and J. Wilson (net) trophy. His 81, less handicap, gave him a net 63.

Three-Over-Par Pays Off for Kay

MONTREAL (CP)—Jack Kay of the Montreal Mount Bruno Club won the Quebec Open golf championship Wednesday with a 36-hole score of 143.

Kay, winner of the Quebec pro title last month, shot rounds of 72-71 over the Kana-waki club's par-70 layout of 6,645 yards to take $300 first money.

Closest to Kay was Ken Banks, amateur from the Country Club in nearby St. Lambert, who had rounds of 74-72 for 146. Murray Tucker of the Toronto Rosedale Club collected second prize money of $200 among the pros. He finished at 147.

Profits So-So, Says NFL Prexy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gross receipts of the 12 National Football League clubs amounted to less than $1,300,000 last year, NFL commissioner Bert Bell reported Wednesday.

Net profits after taxes averaged about $40,000 a club, Bell said in a statement to the House of Representatives anti-trust sub-committee.

He said the federal government collected more than $900,000 in admission taxes on NFL games in 1956. This, he noted, was about 33 per cent more than the clubs' combined net income.

YATES AT QUADRA

VANCOUVER (CP)—The B.C. Lions had it in, cold print and diagrams Wednesday: The Calgary Stampeders will be a tough football nut to crack Saturday night at Empire Stadium here.

The conclusion was reached after head coach Clem Crowe and other members of the Lions coaching staff read through a detailed scouting report compiled by Ab Wimberley.

End coach Wimberley and assistant coach Fred Owens scouted the Stampeders' intra-squad game at Nelson last Saturday.

"Let me tell you that club looked real good," said Wimberley. "It was a 26-24 game and even with all that scoring their running attack didn't show anything."

NO RUNNING THREAT
"But their quarterback, Jim Flinck (former Pittsburgh Steeler star) was pitching strikes all over the field and he had three great receivers catching for him."

"He's not a running threat at all, but he plays it cool and calls his plays well. You don't see him facing any second-and-10 situation."

"With him in there throwing and receivers like Dick Wartick, Willie Roberts and Jack Gotta, Calgary will get points."

Wimberley reported the Calgary line to be "awfully big," particularly in the tackle vicinity of Dick Huffman and Flod Harwood. He said the Calgary line would be considerably bigger than Lions'.

The two Western Interprovincial Football Union clubs meet here Saturday night in a pre-season exhibition game.

At Edmonton the Eskimos have made their first cuts from a 56-man training camp roster Tuesday night.

Released by coach Frank Ivy were nine graduates of Eskimos' rookie camp held here last month. Eight of them still are eligible to play one or more years in junior football.

Before the Grey Cup championship club leaves Edmonton next week for a three-game exhibition tour of the west coast, seven more players will be cut.

Lopped from the roster Tuesday night were fullback Jerry Heine, quarterback Bruce Bryson, ends Lorne Sampson, Al Sandahl and Rob Harris, tackles Dick Cradock, Don Dun-

Toronto Beckons Portly Pro Golfer

TORONTO (CP)—The Globe and Mail says Ed (Portly) Oliver, a tournament golfer for close to 25 years, is thinking of moving to Toronto in the near future "if a proposition now being negotiated materializes."

Details of the deal were not known here.

The newspaper quotes Oliver as saying at Baltimore, Md., where he is to play today in the $20,000 Eastern Open:

"I'm going to play in the Tam O'Shanter in Chicago in August. After that I'm not too sure. I may locate in Toronto. I'll be there around Aug. 13. I've always been well treated in Canada and I like it up there."

Bernie Retains That Old Magic

HAMILTON (CP)—Bernie Faloney, who quarterbacked the Edmonton Eskimos to their first Grey Cup in 1954, showed Wednesday night that he has lost none of his ball-handing magic and running ability as he led the Blacks to a 21-17 win over the Yellows in the Hamilton Tiger-Cats annual intra-squad football game.

Faloney passed for two touchdowns to Ron Howell and Eddie Macon, and ran for one himself as he put in a strong bid to take the first string quarterback spot from Tony Curcillo.

With the Eskimos' Faloney's passing was his weak spot, but Wednesday night he completed 14 of 23 tosses, good for 274 yards. Billy Graham converted all three Black touchdowns.

Curcillo and Nobby Wirkowski shared signal calling duties for the losers, completing 17 of 30 passes for 274 yards.

Bruno, on an 82-yard pass play with Curcillo, and Wirkowski on a one-yard dive, scored touchdowns for the Yellows. Steve Oneschuk added two converts and a 37-yard field goal.

GRANT IMPRESSES

Tommy Grant, one of coach Jim Trimble's finest homebrows, had the 10,606 fans talking. Given a regular ball-carrying spot in Faloney's backfield, the former Windsor A.K.O. junior star made gain every time.

Montreal Alouettes get their first football test of the season against outside opposition today when they meet the Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen, Ontario union champions at Montreal.

An inter-squad game Monday showed the Als have some bright prospects among the new imports but a sounder judgment of their capabilities in the Big Four League likely can be formulated when they face the Dutchmen.

Alouette coach Douglas (Pea-head) Walker isn't taking the exhibition game—or the Dutchmen, either—too lightly. But he may do some experimenting in getting a line on his imports.

AIM FOR GREY CUP

Coach Harvey Johnson's Dutchies are expected to go all out in an effort to prove to themselves—and incidentally to the Canadian Rugby Union—that they're no pushovers for a Big Four club and rate more than cursory consideration for Grey Cup competition.

The K3W team is pretty well stocked with imports itself although it is quarterback Bob Celeri, one-time Hamilton Tiger-Cat import.

Johnson reported he expects pass defence to be a major problem tonight against Sam Etchevery and the likes of Hal Patterson and Red O'Quinn.

The Als will be without three players. Billy Shipp, holdover lineman, has back injuries; Ken Owen, halfback from Georgia Tech, has an injured ankle, and Canadian halfback Bill Bewley is recovering from a knee operation.

On the basis of their showing in the intra-squad game, Johnny Majors from Tennessee and Joel Wells from Clemson College in South Carolina should produce some lively ball-carrying, along with holdover Pat Abbruzzi.

O.C. CRICKET

LONDON (Reuters)—Wednesday's cricket close-of-play scores:

Hampshire 110, Yorkshire 100 for 5. Middlesex 237 for 4 declared. Essex 10 for 2. Sussex 181, Glamorgan 33 for 1. Warwickshire 287 for 5 vs. Scotland. Lancashire vs. Lancashire League XI. No play, rain.

Kent 305 for 9 declared. Somerset 15 for 1. Lancashire 98, Worcester 64 for 2. Nottinghamshire 350 vs. Gloucestershire.

Brazil's Captain Risks Reputation

MONTREAL (CP)—Brazil's Armando Vieira risked his reputation as a prophet today by court and to the heavier, faster balls in use here.

He conceded cautiously that the Brazilians are favored to win "but you can never tell what will happen on the court."

Feiger also would not name his singles men until the last day, but the obvious choices are Eleazar Davidman, 20, top-ranked in Israel, and second-ranked Arieh Avizian, 29.

Israel is playing its first year in the North American zone after sporadic competition in the European. Middle East wars have interrupted Israeli participation at times, and even for the tie Davidman had to get leave from the Israeli army.

"They were hitting pretty good," he said. "They are nice players but we can take them."

Although he would not commit himself to naming his two singles players before the draw Thursday, speculation is that Vieira will name himself and the 19-year-old Fernandez again as last weekend, saving Jose Aguiro, 24, for possible use in the doubles match.

Avrom Feiger, Israel's non-playing captain, worked his men

Car Runs Wild Into Beach Party

(From CP Dispatches)

VANCOUVER—Two women and four children were injured when a car ran out of control into a beach-side parking lot at nearby Deep Cove Wednesday.

The most severely injured was Mrs. Lillian Anderson of Kelowna, who was pinned beneath the car until a wrecker lifted it. She is in North Vancouver Hospital with chest injuries.

The car also rolled over three-year-old Debra Smith of North Vancouver. She was reported in fair condition with a deep back cut.

Police said the accident occurred when the car, carrying four children, rolled down a steep hill toward the beach and then swung into the parking lot. The occupants were uninjured.

Mrs. Elsie Schrenk, her daughter Dianne, 4, and two other children, Penny Smith, 11, North Vancouver and Theresa Catherine Owens, Horseshoe Bay, were detained in hospital overnight.

ARENA WALL BLOWN DOWN

DAWSON CREEK—Reconstruction of the Memorial Arena here, which suffered $100,000 damage in a fire last winter, has received a setback. An entire cement wall was blown down by high winds Tuesday. A crew of carpenters working inside the arena escaped injury.

CHILDREN'S CENTRE

NEW WESTMINSTER—Plans for a $55,000 handicapped children's training centre were announced Wednesday by the New Westminster Kinsmen Club and the B.C. Society for Handicapped Children.

The project calls for conversion of an old Trapp Technical School machine shop into a modern five-classroom school with facilities for 75 students. The Kinsmen, who will renovate and equip the building, said the job will be completed by October.

KINSMEN CLUB FINED

COQUITLAM—The Coquitlam Kinsmen Club was fined $20 in police court Wednesday on a charge of keeping a common gaming house.

The club was charged after RCMP gambling squad officers from Vancouver seized a dice game in Blue Mountain Park while the club was operating a fund-raising drive. President Ed Morigeau told the court the club has been operating five years, during which time it has raised funds for worthy causes.

AMALGAMATION STUDY

NORTH VANCOUVER—A hitherto one-sided love affair was struck up again Wednesday night. District council voted to appoint two councillors to meet with two aldermen from North Vancouver City Council and look into the possibility of an amalgamation. It is the third such attempt in three years.

STRIKE VOTE FRIDAY

KITIMAT—Carpenters here have rejected two alternative offers to settle their 6½-month dispute with the Kitimat Builders' Exchange.

Ernie Rodda, business agent of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, Local 1081, said the carpenters would go ahead with a strike vote Friday as planned. The union is asking for an hourly rate of $2.55 retroactive to April 1, with a five-cents raise next January, as recommended by a conciliation board.

PGE Overpass To Get Chief Off Warpath

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Pacific Great Eastern Railway is considering building an overpass so Chief Mathias Joe of the Capilano Indians can reach his front door without crossing the tracks.

Indian agent F. E. Anfield said Wednesday the railway has recognized the chief's right of way following consultations with federal officials. An ancient trail leading to his waterfront home in North Vancouver was crossed a year ago by a nine-track PGE freight yard.

While the discussions have been in progress, trains parked in the yard have been divided to permit free passage on the trail. The overpass is being considered as a compromise, Mr. Anfield said.

The pure-blooded Eskimo dog is a powerful animal weighing up to 100 pounds.

B.C. YOUTH HIT BY BALL

EDMONTON (CP)—A 17-year-old boy who was struck on the head with a baseball four days ago was flown from his Dawson Creek, B.C., home to an Edmonton hospital by the RCAF Wednesday night.

Hospital authorities described as critical the condition of young Jimmy Anderson.

C.N.R. DERAILMENT

VANCOUVER—A buckle in the track caused by heat on the CNR mainline near Spencer's Bridge, 150 miles east of here, derailed 10 freight cars and tied up traffic on the track for several hours Wednesday night. A 59-car westbound freight hit the buckle shortly after 5 p.m. and the 10 cars slid from the tracks. No one was injured. The track was expected to be clear today.

Lone Canadian Left in Korea

OTTAWA (CP)—Only one Canadian soldier will be left in Korea after July 31.

Army headquarters announced Wednesday that 29 soldiers, the last but one of more than 22,000 to serve in the Korean theatre, will have returned by the end of the month.

Staying behind is Maj. Gordon Douglas Cochrane, 41, of New Glasgow, N.S., Canadian representative on the military armistice commission at Munshin-Ni, Korea.

The returning troops comprised the Canadian medical detachment which has provided medical and dental care for the remaining British Commonwealth troops in Korea. The entire Commonwealth contingent is being withdrawn.

Most of the soldiers already have arrived back in Canada. The final four are to arrive by air at Vancouver between 8 p.m. MDT July 31 and midnight Aug. 1.

The first Canadian Army unit to reach Korea was the 2nd Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry. It landed in Korea Dec. 18, 1950.

Cabbie Finds $11,200 In Car But No Claimer

NEW YORK (AP)—A taxicab driver found $11,200 in cash in his cab Wednesday. Hours later nobody had appeared to claim it.

Harold Petrie, 65, the driver, said he found the money wrapped in a package a few minutes after taking a well-dressed man from lower Fifth Avenue to the Biltmore Hotel.

The fare, it later developed, was $11.20.

Land Purchase By-Law Likely

Duncan Bids on 47 Acres in Reserve Will Give Needed Room for Expansion

DUNCAN — A by-law likely will be put before ratepayers this year for the purchase of 47 acres of land in Cowichan Indian Reservation No. 1.

The upset price of the property is $70,000, but it is believed the by-law will be for a larger figure to cover costs of clearing and servicing the property for subdivisions.

Private Roadway, East, West Link Near Completion

CAMPBELL RIVER — Only one-half mile of road remains to be built in a private road system that will connect the east and west coasts of Vancouver Island by way of the Campbell River watershed.

Elk River Timber Co. has the small link to build that will connect its road with that of the Tahsis Company, which has headquarters on Murchison Arm on the west coast.

Although much of the 60-mile road between coasts will be closed to the public, it will give the B.C. Power Commission access to its diversion dam project on Heber Creek, a tributary of Gold River.

Tight money was held responsible for the fact that the city was the only bidder on the land, which lies along the west side of the Hospital Hill area. It extends along both sides of the Old Island Highway to Herbert Street and Brownsey Avenue, and includes the old Athletic Park.

Owner is Charlie Williams of the Cowichan Indian band, who will receive two-thirds of the selling price. Members of the band will share the remaining third.

Acquisition of the land will give the city much-needed room for expansion, since there is little available building property in the 500 acres within the city boundaries.

Negotiations for land have been conducted over the past number of years, but until now difficulties have cropped up between the city and the Indian owners regarding a price.

Land Owners Protest Prince George Voting

DUNCAN (CP) — Two Duncan residents who own property near Prince George said Wednesday they have formally protested to Municipal Affairs Minister Wesley Black at being barred from voting on an annexation of 4,000 acres of land to the northern city.

The land, adjoining Prince George's boundaries, includes 300 acres owned by C. P. Deykin and Robert Bishop of Duncan.

They said they are disfranchised by the new Municipal Act because they are not residing on the property. On other occasions, Mr. Deykin said, when Prince George sought to annex the land they received votes by mail "just as though we were residing on our own land." Earlier annexation attempts have been rejected by voters.

"Mr. Bishop and I are not speculators. We developed and worked that land for many years, and have paid taxes on it for 35 years. We are willing to co-operate with anyone in developing the area of Prince George. We have repeatedly offered to extend nearby trackage to our property for residential use, at one third the price being charged for nearby city land."

Mr. Deykin and Mr. Bishop charged that Prince George has expanded so fast and borrowed to such an extent that its credit is impaired and it must get greater acreage to be able to borrow again.

Alberni Valley Centennial Plan Makes Progress

PORT ALBERNI — Good progress has been reported here on the development of district sports facilities, chosen by Alberni Valley Centennial Committee as its permanent centennial project.

Full amount of the provincial grant of $8,592 has been received, and city councils of Alberni and Port Alberni will match the sum between them. An additional $3,600 will be provided by School District 70.

The program includes construction of a cinder track and soccer pitch at Alberni District High School, improvement of Tenth Avenue ball park, and flooring of Alberni Athletic Hall.

To date levelling and graveling of the track is close to completion, and a source of cinders is being investigated. The committee is considering quotations made for draining and seeding the soccer field.

Only volunteer work has been done at the ball park because of a lack of funds. Flooring for the athletic hall has been ordered.

Ground Observers Meet

CHEMAINUS — FO. H. Weston, field training officer from the Vancouver Filter Centre, conducted a discussion group at a meeting here this week of the local Ground Observer Corps.

12-Year-Old Wreckage of Plane Confuses Duncan Family Search

Aircraft wreckage in the Mt. Pilchuck area 30 miles east of Everett, Wash., believed to be that of a plane missing since May 19 with three Duncan residents aboard, apparently is that of a U.S. Navy plane that crashed about 12 years ago.

Snohomish County Sheriff Bob Twitchell of Everett said he flew low over Mt. Pilchuck Wednesday, and that the object sighted a week ago appeared to be wreckage of the previous crash.

The Duncan party, lost on a flight from Ellensburg to Everett, was made up of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Wall and their eight-year-old son, Glen. A ground party sent into the area when bad weather grounded planes earlier in the week checked out about 4 p.m. Wednesday without locating the wreckage, Sheriff Twitchell said.

The sheriff said a second party would be sent into the area next Saturday. He said he also plans to organize work parties armed with black paint and brushes to camouflage old plane wrecks in the area.

Three other planes—two jets and a helicopter—have crashed in eastern Snohomish County in recent years, he said.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then Ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions be asked to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe. Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Jack Sorrentino, 12, San Diego, Calif., for his question:

How Long Does an Elephant Live?

A Mayfly can be expected to enjoy life on the wing for but a few hours. A big tortoise may live to celebrate his 150th birthday. Other animals have various life spans between these two extremes. Usually the larger animal have a longer life span. But this does not always hold true. A pearl mussel can expect to live and manufacture gem pearls for some 70 years. While the king of beasts is an old, old lion at the age of 12. A moose seldom passes the age of 20, whereas an owl is just past middle age.

Earthworms and blackbirds may, with luck, live to celebrate 10 birthdays. A queen ant may live through 15 seasons. Cows, chickens, dogs and pet canaries are very old people at the age of 20. The big ostrich, the wandering seagull and the gentle dove can expect 25 years of life. Bears and camels often reach the age of 30 and the rhinoceros, the goose, the swan and the talkative parrot may live to be 50. The monster whale may enjoy 65-70 birthdays, almost as many as the cautious box turtle.

Tracking the life span of these animals is no easy job, as you can well imagine. Most of them live in the wilds. They do not carry birth records or inform us of their anniversary.

Tip for Tots: Keep Nose Out of Sight

VANCOUVER (CP) — A six-week-old girl lost the tip of her nose at Royal Columbia Hospital when another baby climbed into her crib and bit it off.

The incident was not discovered until the three-year-old boy had returned to his crib.

Hospital officials said the baby also suffered other bites on the face but these now are healing.

The incident happened about 7 a.m. July 14.

Hospital officials said there was at least one nurse's aide in the ward at the time but she did not see the incident.

Waste Paper May Be Prize To Historian

WINNIPEG (CP) — Old letters, documents and books in household attics may look like junk to the spring-cleaner, but to others they are the ingredients of history written in research libraries.

The Manitoba Provincial Library, for instance, welcomes bits and pieces left over from pioneer days. The library has one of the finest collections of books about Western Canada.

Provincial librarian Marjorie Morley is constantly on the look-out for old documents and letters. She says the letters that grandfather wrote when he first came to Manitoba in the 1800s supply the source material for history.

Some persons are shy about revealing personal letters and papers to the public, but Miss Morley says only persons who have a good reason to do so are permitted to study the material. In the library vaults at the present time are the papers and diaries of a former Winnipeg mayor. The collection was given on the understanding that none of the material be touched until 20 years elapsed. When that time is up the papers will be catalogued and made available to scholars.

ANCIENT PRACTICE

Cremation was the customary method of disposing of the dead in nearly all ancient countries except China and Egypt.

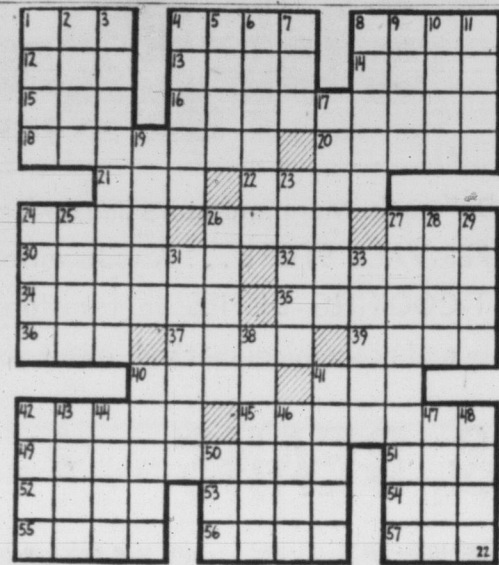

Andy sends a Hammond's Ambassador World Atlas to Joan Wassner, age 13, of Bronx, New York for her question:

What Is Soil Made Of?

Soil is a mixture of powdered rock and decay. There was no soil on the earth until after the first plants and animals came out of the sea to live on the dry land. There was plenty of powdered rock, for the barren earth was exposed to winds and weather.

Through millions of years, the remains of animals and plant life became mixed with the wind and the powdered rocks. Decay bacteria broke down the plant and animal remains into more simple chemicals. New plants used these chemicals as food. These plants were eaten by the animals. And in time, each generation of plants and animals was left to rot and decay.

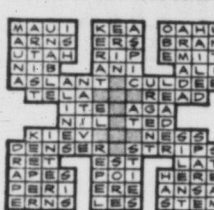

In areas where living things flourished, the earth became covered with rich, fertile soil. The process of soil making is still going on. Every generation of worms, insects, snails, animals and autumn leaves decays into the ground. And this decay process adds the necessary organic matter to the earth. It may take 100 years of this living and decaying to create an inch of good topsoil.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

By FREEMAN KING

It was fifty years ago this week when the first Boy Scout Camp in the world was held. On July 25th Lord Baden-Powell the founder of Scouting went into camp on Browns' Island just off the coast of Dorset, England, with a mixed group of boys, some from Eaton and other public schools, some boys from poorer districts of the East End of London and some from the secondary schools of Bournemouth.

WHERE'S ELVIS?

To Bee or Not to Bee, Fans Ponder

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP) — Fans gathered in front of Elvis Presley's new mansion here were rocking 'n' rolling Tuesday without any prompting from the loose-hipped singer.

Fans clustered around the wrought iron gate to Presley's southern-style mansion hoping to catch a glimpse of their hero were attacked by a swarm of bees.

J. F. Ashworth and a helper arrived to cut down a dead tree about 100 feet inside the gates. As the tree fell, the bees swarmed out.

"Move back out of the way — they're mad," shouted Ashworth.

The fans stood their ground, but not for long. One man swatted at his neck. Another woman grabbed at her hair. The crowd raced for their cars, swinging their arms at the insects as they went.

About a half-dozen persons were stung.

City Seismograph Shows Only Trace Of Sharp Tremors

Four fairly sharp earth tremors recorded Tuesday night and early Wednesday on the seismograph at Fordham University in New York went practically unnoticed here.

William Milne, Dominion Astrophysical Observatory seismologist, said the only indication of activity was a "trace of a surface wave" recorded at about 6 a.m. It affected only the most sensitive instruments, he said. Fordham University suggested the tremors might have been in the Aleutian Islands.

NO COMPLAINTS FROM WIFE

Film Beauties Beat A Path to His Door

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Peter Gowland earns $40,000 a year snapping sexy pictures of scantily-clad movie beauties in his living room.

Now, men, doesn't that sound like an ideal way to earn a living? "It certainly is," confirms Gowland, "and my wife thinks so, too."

His wife, Alice, who acts as his assistant, put it this way: "It's nice to see a man do what he likes."

PLAIN BUSINESS

However, Gowland says taking glamor pictures is business, strictly business.

But what a business! During the last 10 years, Gowland, 41, has built a reputation as one of Hollywood's best photographers of glamor and sex. Result: The loveliest ladies in movieland, both famed and unknown, beat a path to his door.

The door is on a modern studio home in a rustic canyon in Santa Monica, about one mile from the ocean.

There Gowland has filled his lens with Jayne Mansfield, Arlene Dahl and Terry Moore, among other Hollywood lovelies—not to mention scores of starlets and models.

First, a girl . . . The key to successful glamor photography is a good model, Gowland explained. The model must be not only photogenic but also able to fall into poses easily and naturally.

Another thing: The model and photographer must work in a relaxed atmosphere. That's why Gowland thinks his home is ideal. In addition to an elaborate studio in the house, the woodsy three-quarter acre site offers many natural spots—a running stream, huge gnarled trees, a colorful garden.

To break any picture-taking tension, Gowland frequently calls a recess for a plunge in the patio pool. He also uses the pool for swimming pictures and has a waterproof camera case for underwater shots.

Gowland usually hires his models, pays $25 an hour to $250 a day depending on the girl and the picture.

Studio are anxious for him to photograph their stars for free. They realize a Gowland pinup often gets wide play in magazines and newspapers.

GOOD GIRLS SCARCE Good models are hard to find, Gowland said, and are subject to the law of diminishing returns. There is a constant demand for new faces and figures.

Gowland's current favorite is Sandra Edwards, a raven-haired 19-year-old mother.

"Most of my best models have children," he said. "Motherhood seems to enhance their beauty."

ROSSELLINI MEETS BEAUTY BEFORE LEAVING

BOMBAY (AP)—Roberto Rossellini left by plane for New Delhi Wednesday night amid speculation that he may go on from there to Europe.

The Italian film director flew here Sunday and it is reported he was met at the airport by Sonali Dhas Gupta, Indian script writer who left her husband and two children to work with Rossellini on Indian documentary films.

The reports said Sonali waited in a car and when Rossellini arrived they shook hands and drove off to their separate apartments in the city. It was the first time the two had been seen together in a public place.

Sonali was not at the airport when Rossellini, the husband of actress Ingrid Bergman, took off for Delhi.

Meanwhile, Sonali's husband was reported by a close friend to be planning to move from Bombay to Calcutta because he is embarrassed by his wife's desertion and by newspaper reports linking Sonali and Rossellini romantically.

"We are all tired," Skelton explained. "We are going home."

Richard tried gamely to see the sights his father had promised him—every great wonder of the world that a little boy might like to see. It was too much.

Richard saw Copenhagen, then Geneva, and then Rome. He was to have gazed on the ruins of Pompeii—the sight he said he wanted to see most of anything on earth. Then they were to visit Spain, the island of Majorca, England, Germany, the Azores, Mexico—and maybe the Orient.

But the boy appeared too tired to go on after they reached here, where he had a private audience with Pope Pius and saw the Coliseum.

TWO for the SHOW

By PHIL LEE

AA (Oscar Class) BB (Worthwhile)
A (Don't Miss) B (For Rainy Days)
C (To put in time)

(A) "A FACE IN THE CROWD" (Royal) — As entertainment Warner Brothers' "A Face in the Crowd" is a solid hit.

But, as a story to be believed, it is something else again. Between them, the brilliant directing-writing team of Elia Kazan and Budd Schulberg, who gave the world the Academy-award winning "On the Waterfront," simply took their character up above the ionosphere of credibility.

It starts off well enough. Guitar-strumming drifter Lonesome Rhodes is lifted from jail for a rural radio program. He makes a hit and then goes on Memphis television and there to big-time TV and the boisterous admen of Madison Avenue.

As the hillbilly Andy Griffiths is top-drawer. But like the plot he is top-drawer only half the way. The reasons for this, one would suggest, is that for that part of the film where he rises to TV stardom on the wave of mass hysteria of the "great American public" he believes his role. But when he is called upon to transform himself into an egomaniac, obsessed with power and his own destiny to become a member of the U.S. Federal cabinet, it can be seen plainly that he doesn't believe the story himself.

IT MAY WELL be that Griffiths will be nominated for an Academy for his part in "A Face in the Crowd," but it will be a crying shame if Patricia Neal is overlooked. As the girl who watches horrified, and shamelessly in love, as the star she has created becomes a monster of Frankensteinian proportions, she is easily the best of the cast. Nor can Anthony Franciosa be overlooked as the opportunist office boy.

Not in a long time has sex been treated with such frankness as one learns that blushing yokel Lonesome, has been as lonesome for feminine company as Solomon. There was a wife he forgot to divorce. There is Miss Neal, who keeps him from returning to the country after he has lost his first sponsor by a feminine device, and

Dr. Sheppard's Lawyer to Probe 'Confession'

DELAND, Fla. (UP) — An attorney for Dr. Sam Sheppard said Wednesday he would come here and investigate the "confession" of a convict who said he might have killed Sheppard's wife, a crime for which the doctor is serving a life term.

Attorney William J. Corrigan said that the story told by Donald J. Wedler, 23, in jail here, fits his theory of the crime—that Marilyn Sheppard was beaten to death by a drifter who broke into the Sheppard's Bay Village, Ohio, home on July 4, 1954.

Wedler's story was termed "phony" by Cleveland authorities.

A merchant seaman who had planned to fly here to confront Wedler called off temporarily his trip. But the seaman, Ernest J. Kolofolias, 32, now in Waterloo, Iowa, stuck fast to his identification of Wedler as a suspicious motorist who gave him a ride near the murder scene some 24 hours after the slaying.

MONTE ROBERTS

I hope and trust this does not lose me any friends or influence reprisals... but I just can't resist it.

There arrived at the Times office yesterday morning an interesting bit of mail from Comox.

This bit of mail from Comox consisted of a photograph, and a few words of explanation from the RCAF.

The photograph was of the Japanese barque Nippon Maru, and showed same under full sail.

The few words of explanation said a routine air patrol had spotted the four-master, "somewhere off the West Coast of Vancouver Island," and hoped the Times would be interested in the photo.

As a sailing ship of that size is a rarity these days, the Times was indeed happy to receive the photo, and is duly grateful to the RCAF (see page 25, yesterday's issue.)

However, there was a detail missing.

The Nippon Maru was known, by reputation, but no person around the office was sure whether she is a merchant navy craft, or a service navy craft.

So it fell to my lot to find out.

My first thought was to telephone the Royal Canadian Navy, which I did.

And I asked the information officer if he would be so kind as to slide down below and ask the intelligence officer to tell all he knew about the Nippon Maru, including what she was doing in our coastal waters, where bound, and so on.

The ever-obliging officer said, why, sure, he would be happy to. Call you back in a couple of minutes, said the information officer.

Well, about 15 minutes later the telephone rang, and a familiar voice said hello at me.

I said hello at the familiar voice.

"Do you know anything about a Japanese sailing ship off the west coast?" asked the familiar voice.

I allowed as how I'd heard a little about the matter, and told the familiar voice all I knew about the Nippon Maru.

After all, why shouldn't I? The familiar voice belonged to B.C. Pilotage.

"By the way," I enquired of the familiar voice, "why do you ask?"

"Oh," said B.C. Pilotage, "Naval intelligence phoned and..."

I guess I would spoil a good story if I told you what happened when naval intelligence phoned me to tell me what naval intelligence had learned, wouldn't I?

But I DO hope I haven't lost too many friends or influenced too many reprisals.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

The culture of Switzerland will be featured at the Victoria and District Film Council weekly presentation at 8 p.m. Friday in Beacon Hill Park.

Performing will be the Mount View High School folk dancing group, a Swiss accordion team of "Fred and Hans," and Mrs. Christina Rottler, a yodeler who has made recordings in Switzerland.

Film shown will deal with the beautiful mountainous country.

Naval authorities have requested city police for any information known of whereabouts of PO Roy Bernard Drysdale, 34, Vancouver, up to the time he was killed early July 13 near Langford.

The naval recruiting officer's truck, painted blue and bearing naval insignia, crashed into a rock face off the highway as he headed for Vancouver.

A Mungo Martin-carved Kwakiutl totem pole, 40 feet high, was loaded on a trailer truck at Kelvin and Douglas, Wednesday, in preparation for shipment to the border at Blaine for erection at the International Peace Arch.

Oak Bay council will consider a suggestion by the municipal board of trade that a centennial outdoor theatre be built in Oak Bay.

Board secretary, John Weicker, said the theatre could be erected in Uplands Park near the Beach Drive war memorial. It could be built, he said, with centennial funds.

Arrivals in Victoria next Thursday for a three-day convention of the International Northwest Parks Association, will be officials from between 100 and 150 parks in Oregon, Washington, Alberta and B.C.

Included in the convention program are tours of the city and parks, talks by authorities on park problems and a visit to Butchart Gardens.

Recreation and Conservation Minister Earle C. Westwood will speak at a luncheon August 2, while Major H. C. Holmes, chairman of the Victoria Town Planning Commission, will be the speaker at a banquet that evening.

Seven lots in the new Veterans' Land Act subdivision at Royal Oak remain to be sold according to George Chatterton, divisional VLA director.

A special VLA board Tuesday and Wednesday sold 28 of the 38 lots. Prices ranged from $800 to $2,300.

Victoria's sub post office Number One at the Junction Pharmacy, 1541 Fort, closed this week. Nearest other sub post office is located at the Jubilee Pharmacy, 1775 Fort.

Elected to the council of the College of Dental Surgeons of British Columbia at their annual meeting in Vancouver was Dr. M. J. T. Doherty, 37 Beach Drive.

Dr. C. M. Whitworth and Dr. C. R. Hallman, both of Vancouver, were elected president and vice-president, respectively.

FOR 'EPIC SWIM'

Victoria's gift to Toronto's Cliff Lumsden, first swimmer to conquer the Strait of Juan de Fuca from Victoria to Port Angeles, is on display at Woodward's Stores Ltd. Each plate of the 41-piece Minton bone china dinner service in Lady Devonish pattern is engraved "in recognition of his epic swim..." One special plate is centered with Victoria's coat-of-arms. Sample plate is shown above by Woodward's employee, Mrs. Jackie Giles.

CIVIL SERVICE COFFEE BREAKS TO BE CHECKED

The government's drive to make the civil service more efficient has been extended to coffee breaks.

In future, employees in the main legislative building won't be able to duck over to the Douglas Building cafeteria for a pick-me-up.

The government feels that too much time is taken up travelling back and forth across Government Street.

The unofficial word was passed around Wednesday, to be backed up soon by an official order which is also expected to apply to other government offices on Superior and Menzies Streets.

It is believed that "coffee carts" or vending machines will be adopted.

In another efficiency move Wednesday, the government decreed that all government employees will take lunch between 12 noon and 1:10 p.m., and offices shall be closed during that period except for special services.

NO INSPECTION

Pensioner 'Boarding' Protested

A protest against the practice of the city social welfare department of placing pensioners in private unlicensed "nursing" homes, today was received by the city from the Victoria branch, B.C. Rest Home Association.

Mary Brishin, president, said all rest and nursing homes should be properly inspected and licensed before pensioners are placed in them.

She noted that at present there are several places advertised as rest and nursing homes which were really only rooming houses.

"We realize that there is an increasing demand for homes for elderly people," she said, "but our protest is that these homes should be properly inspected and licensed."

City welfare officials said that due to the lack of accommodation they have been forced to place pensioners in private homes. These private homes were inspected, they said.

NEW MATRON of the Veterans' Hospital here is Miss Ruth Cowper, B.A., RN, whose last appointment was with the Westminster Veterans' Hospital in London, Ont.

Member of the department of veterans' affairs since 1947, Miss Cowper is a graduate of the Ottawa Civic Hospital School and the University of Toronto. She replaces Miss J. D. Roberts, who retired from the post in May. Times photo.

B.C. Teacher Shortages to Ease

Because of the new College of Education at University of British Columbia, never again will the same teacher shortages in B.C. be experienced as in past years, Dean Neville Scarfe, UBC education faculty, said here today.

Addressing the Victoria College summer session, he said the UBC college would raise the status of the teaching profession and "will go a long way towards solving the problem of shortages."

But so far, not enough persons were entering the college, despite stimulation of young people to enter the profession.

Dean Scarfe was optimistic, however, regarding the future as more persons are attracted to the profession with salary increases, following on broadened teacher education.

"No longer, therefore, will teachers be trained in a few techniques... they will be cultured, thoughtful, knowledgeable persons who can hold their heads high in any society and will be leaders of thought wherever they go."

One of the problems is to retain teachers. This can be helped by providing extra courses which builds the feeling of confidence in teachers.

"People do not normally leave a profession in which they feel really happy and confident, merely for money."

He said happiness always made for a fine teaching situation, as few children learn readily from unhappy, insecure or incompetent teachers.

About 30 off-campus courses will be available for trainees this winter throughout the province, he said.

"It is not easy to get enough of the right kind of people. It is not easy to train them. We hope, however, that our present set-up will provide for the needs of the province in future," both in quantity and quality.

Year in Prison For City Sailor

A 24-year-old sailor was sentenced in city police court today to one year definite and a year less one day indefinite for the robbery with violence of an Esquimalt man July 8.

Paul G. Cook had pleaded guilty to the charge laid on complaint of Donald William Carson, 37, 618 Grenville, and was remanded to today for a probation report.

Magistrate H. C. Hall ordered the sentence to be served in Oakalla Prison young offender's unit.

Another man, Donald Qualte, 130 Linden, also is charged with robbery with violence and elected trial by judge and jury.

HEARING ADJOURNED

His preliminary hearing Wednesday was adjourned to Aug. 1 for decision.

A third young man, Douglas Cameron, 805 Intervale, originally charged with robbery with violence, later pleaded guilty to being in possession of money known to be stolen after the first charge was withdrawn.

Cameron was remanded to Saturday for a probation report.

Charges were laid after Carson complained of being beaten and robbed of his car and wallet containing $110 after giving three young men a ride to department of transport wharf on Harbor Road the night of July 8.

WALLET EMPTIED

A search of the area on Harbor Road turned up Carson's wallet, papers and identification intact, but with no money.

Carson required hospital treatment for abrasions and a deep cut under the right eye.

MAGISTRATE REGRETS

"It is a matter of regret," said Magistrate Hall, "that a young man like you, doing so well in the service, should be charged with so serious an offence. I must treat it on that basis."

"You are a young man and I think there are contributing factors... Partly... Carson left himself open to it."

ALISTAIR FRASER

B.C. Liberals Name Chief Organizer

Appointment of Alistair Fraser of Victoria as chief organizer of the Liberal party in B.C. was announced today by Senator Sydney Smith, president of the B.C. Liberal Association.

Named associate organizer is Jack Ross of Vancouver, who for the past 18 months has been executive secretary to former defence minister Ralph Campney.

"With provincial by-elections and a federal election in the offing, we have been working intensively for some weeks," Senator Smith said. "The new appointments are the forerunner of a complete overhaul of our organizing system."

Mr. Fraser makes his first address in his new capacity at Liberal headquarters in Victoria tonight at 8.

30-FOOT LONG 'CADDY' JUST FISH AT PLAY

The glad cry of "there's Caddy" echoed over the waters of Cadboro Bay at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Forty or 50 people lining the beach looked out toward Ten Mile Point, and sure enough, a long serpent-like figure was seen gliding through the water.

One witness described the "thing" as having a head about 30 feet forward of its tail.

"It comes up out of the water for about 10 seconds, then goes down again," he said.

Unfortunately, however, one of the bystanders had a powerful pair of binoculars. And through the glasses caddy the fun-loving sea serpent turned out to be nothing but a line-ahead formation of blackfish, playing follow the leader.

Saddened witnesses went home to dream of the $300 which the Times will pay for exclusive rights to an actual photograph of Cadborosaurus.

Accidental death was the verdict returned today into the death of PO Roy B. Drysdale, 34, killed July 13 when the RCN panel truck he was driving on the Trans-Canada Highway near Millstream cut-off went out of control.

The six-man coroner's jury sat in McCall Bros. chapel. Only two witnesses were called.

Joseph Sisco testified before coroner Dr. E. C. Hart that he was travelling north at "between 30 and 40 mph" when he passed by the RCN vehicle, which then skidded back and forth, left the road, hit an outcropping of rock, and threw the driver out into the ditch.

"I assume he was travelling at least twice my speed... 70 or 80 mph."

Lieut. G. W. Tanner, RCN, said Drysdale was engaged in recruiting duties and "it was presumed he was on duties pertaining to that" when the fatality occurred.

Lieut. Tanner, who had on occasion travelled with the victim in relation to recruiting, said he had always found Drysdale "a careful driver."

But he added the navy had no "good reason" why Drysdale was travelling at that time.

It had been assumed the petty officer was en route home to Vancouver with the vehicle, to see his wife there.

Constable F. C. W. Minty, RCMP, Colwood, who attended the accident scene, said death was apparently caused when the driver was thrown from the vehicle on impact and hit his head against the rock.

Labor Dispute Mediator Named

W. T. McLaughlin of Victoria has been appointed as a conciliation officer in a contract dispute involving 139 employees of the CIL James Island explosives plant.

The workers are represented by the Canadian Chemical and Explosive Workers' Industrial Union, local 128.

At issue are wage classifications and schedules, overtime pay, hours of work, annual vacations and the workers' request for a union shop.

FRIDAY MEETINGS

Victoria Lions: Empress Hotel, noon luncheon. L. K. O'Neill will speak on "The Tale of a Dog."

Cosmopolitan Club: James Bay Hotel, 7 p.m. Ladies' night program.

ASK THE TIMES

Q—Is it known how old dice and dice games are? P.L.W.

A.—No. The Encyclopedia Britannica says it is certain dice were used in times antecedent to those of which we have written records. So-phocles mentions dice being played at the siege of Troy.

WORKING WITH 8,000 MEN, WORLD-WIDE TEAM

Researchers Here Probe Magnetic Mysteries

BY MONTE ROBERTS

You don't have to know what you are looking for in order to find it.

This (to the layman) appears to be the working philosophy of the Pacific Naval Laboratory research team participating in the current International Geophysical Year.

The four men are:

P. W. Naysmith, chief of the PNL's seaward defence section; Sir Charles Wright, ex-Royal Navy scientist, out of retirement for this project; John Duffus, IGY project chief, and scientist Arthur J. Shand.

Each will admit, cheerfully, he doesn't know exactly what the team is searching for, or whether it will be found, or if it is found, of how much value it will be.

It appears this is the essence of free research; to probe, investigate, compile, correlate.

From it, sometime, somewhere, somehow, something of use may develop.

The current International

Geophysical Year began in June, will carry on through December, 1958. The 8,000 scientists from 64 countries who are involved agreed to lengthen the "year" to 18 months.

Biggest So Far

This is third IGY scientists have observed. In many ways, it is the biggest, and certainly the most publicized.

Although there are some special IGY projects, most of the work going on would be carried forward, IGY or no IGY.

Says Mr. Naysmith: "It's simply a matter of doing our jobs in concert with other scientists."

An impetus to research during IGY comes in the form of alerts. For example: a researcher in Geneva sees unusual activity on the face of the sun, reports to the IGY "braintrust" in Belgium.

The "brain trust"—a six-man committee headed by secretary-general Marcel Nicolet—evaluates the information. And then, over the meteorological communications network (the weather wire in jargon), an alert goes out to all 64 countries.

Couched in scientific terms, the alert advises scientists to keep their eyes on old man sun, because he appears to be up to something.

So far, 35 such alerts have been received at the Pacific Naval Laboratory's Esquimalt headquarters.

Magnetic Studies

"By good fortune, we are engaged in research of a type which ties in with IGY," he explained.

The project he refers to is the study of magnetic fluctuations—the minute changes in the magnetism of the earth.

PNL is interested because it is researching the possibility of magnetic detection as a supplement to other warning devices, such as sonar and radar.

There are always magnetic properties present, in and around the earth. Any accurate detection devised based on magnetic principles would have to allow for the "normal" fluctuations.

But at the present time, there is no accurate knowledge of "normal" fluctuations. Thus the PNL team's study, through which they hope to find something—although they don't know exactly what they seek.

Their main item of equipment is a giant induction coil magnetometer installed at Albert Head. Constant recording machines are attached. From the miles of graph paper which will be used during the life of the study—at least 18 months— a pattern may emerge. Or it may not.

Focus on Ionosphere

The magnetic fluctuation study ties in with IGY because the international study is focussed largely on the area of space between the ionosphere—the layer off which radio waves bounce—and the sun.

Japanese scientists have advanced the theory that fluctuations in the earth's magnetism are "probably" caused by properties of matter in this unknown space between sun and ionosphere.

If so, the fluctuations would conceivably bear some relationship to other factors being studied during IGY—the envelope of air around the earth, the surface of the earth, the depths of the earth, the surface and depths of the seas upon the earth.

Extends to Soil

Later this year, the PNL team will extend its research to a study of magnetism in soil.

Meanwhile, Sir Charles Wright, who concluded a distinguished career in Britain as scientific adviser to the Admiralty during the Second World War, is carrying on a fascinating study of his own.

Not satisfied with the fluctuations recorded by the Albert Head magnetometer, Sir Charles is studying the "fluctuations" between fluctuations.

These are caused by lightning.

There is always lightning, somewhere around the globe, every minute around the clock, Sir Charles explains.

A flash in Iraq or Auckland or Rome or Moscow will make itself felt in magnetic fluctuations recorded here.

Like the other scientists, Sir Charles does not know what he is looking for.

But it is quite likely he—and the rest of the team—will find it.

Attending a civil defence course for ministers which closes today at Arnprior, Ont., are (from left, standing) Brig. C. J. Milley, Salvation Army public relations officer, and Rev. G. L. Gillard, command padre, RCN (ret.), and (seated), Rev. J. L. W. McLean, St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, and Canon George Biddle, St. John's Anglican Church. Course started on Tuesday.

MID-AUGUST WEDDINGS

Mr. and Mrs. William Boyd, 3236 Service Street, announce the engagement of their only daughter, Christina Ramsay, to Lawrence Raymond Leach, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Leach, Lloydminster, Sask. The wedding will take place Aug. 17, at 3 p.m. in St. John's Anglican Church, Rev. A. I. Higgins officiating. Miss Boyd has asked Miss Heather McKinnon to be maid of honor, Miss Margaret Wilson, bridesmaid, and Miss Hazel Craig, junior bridesmaid. (Joncas Photo.)

Mr. and Mrs. A. Shewchuk, 737 Kings Road, announce the engagement of their daughter, Helen Florence, to Robert Daniel Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Green, 809 Selkirk Avenue. The wedding will take place Aug. 17 at 6:30 p.m. in St. John's Anglican Church. Miss Shewchuk has chosen Mrs. Mary Parsons as matron of honor, Miss Nettie Mitchell and Miss Sonia Molofy as bridesmaids, and Miss Dolores Parsons as flower girl. (Joncas Photo.)

SHOPPING GUIDE

Use Pinch of Exotic Tea To Flavor Ordinary Brew

By PENNY SAVER

If you'd like a change from just plain tea, why not try some golden-tipped Assam? Or lapsang, Souchong? Or jasmine or Russian caravan? If you haven't tried any of the more exotic teas and aren't sure if you'd like them, then a sample packet is the answer.

The packets are beautifully done up in cellophane and gold foil, and contain enough tea for about 25 cups. They're just 25 cents each. The manager of the store where I found them recommends that you try just a pinch of a strongly flavored tea, such as jasmine, with your ordinary tea.

For gift-giving, the packets are packed four to a box, complete with a booklet giving history and details of the teas and suggestions for using them. This is $1. A box of eight packets is $2.

The same store also carries a full range of spices and herbs, from allspice to white pepper.

If you like your kitchen cupboard to be all nicely organized, you may be interested in a rubber-covered rack for dishes that lets you put the most china in the smallest space and still get it out easily.

There is a section for out-size platters, and hooks to hold 10 cups. The rack comes in white, blue or red, and costs $4.50.

I found some really nice-looking sets of measuring cups and spoons today. They have a metallic copper finish, applied by an electrochemical process, the label says. It won't chip or peel or tarnish.

Advantage of these is that you can melt fat right in the measuring cups or pour in boiling liquids without breakage.

A set of four cups, from quarter to full cup size, and four spoons is $1.79, while the cups alone are $1.19. Either would make a good kitchen shower gift.

I'll tell you where I found any of these items if you ring me at 2-3131.

Couple Making Home Here After Marriage Up-Island

Mr. and Mrs. Robert John Fowler are now making their home in Victoria at 815 Walker Street, following a honeymoon trip to Banff and Calgary. They were married recently in St. Andrew's Church, Sandwick, B.C., Rev. J. J. Vanderleest officiating.

The bride is the former Iris Blodwen Rogers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Rogers, Courtenay, and her groom is son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Fowler, 3422 Bethune Avenue, Victoria. During the ceremony, the bride's brother, Fred Rogers, sang "The Lord's Prayer," and organ music was played by Mrs. B. Marriott.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a classic gown of white taffeta with champagne lace outlining the portrait neckline and forming a bustle effect of puffed gathers below the waistline. The skirt swept into a train. Her train-length net veil fell from a pearl-embroidered coronet, and she carried a crescent bouquet of yellow roses and stephanotis.

Maid of honor was Miss Gail Long, bridesmaids were Mrs. Ray Rogers, Mrs. Fred Rogers and Mrs. Ken Kerr, and bridesmaids Miss Beverly Bell and Miss Sue Pearson. Flower girls were Margo Rogers and Dianne Rogers.

Miss Long and the flower girls were gowned in pink with matching coronets. They carried blue crescent bouquets. The other attendants were in blue with blue coronets and pink crescent bouquets. The gowns were floor length, styled on princess lines.

Best man was the groom's brother, James Fowler, and the ushers were Victor Skinner, George Hall, John Catterall, Ed Corbett and Norman Rogers.

A reception followed at the Elks' Hall, Courtenay, where the newly-weds cut a four-tier cake. Dr. H. A. L. Mooney proposed the toast to the bride.

For travelling, the bride donned a navy blue two-piece dress with white duster, pink accessories and pink rose corsage.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Three of the Five Important C's Are Discussed Today

This week I have been telling you about courage and clothes, two of the five important C's. Today let us think of the remaining three—namely Color, Cooking and Callisthenics.

For many years artists and psychologists and cosmeticians were the only people who realized what a great impact color has on our lives and our appearance. Some colors are soothing while others are exciting, and some cosmetics flatter us while others are aging and unbecoming. One school of thought is that the effect of color on our emotions is due to the action of the color on the nerves of the eyes.

The psychological impact of color is carefully considered today in the decor of hospital and school rooms and by those who design stage sets. The smart woman in the home uses colors on the walls of her house and in the materials of decoration which are flattering to her and restful to her family.

The right shade in powder, rouge and lipstick, can make a sallow complexion bloom and a muddy skin look fairer. They can bring out the eyes or mask them, make the mouth alluring or dull.

We all know what colors can do for us when it comes to clothes! There are certain colors which always bring us compliments while there are others which do nothing for us.

Use your most flattering shade often but also have variety. There are many colors you can wear. It is boring to become correlated with just one color in the minds of our friends so that they think of us as blue, yellow, black, purple, red or brown.

If you have been knocking yourself over the head with little color or the wrong ones, in either your house or your clothes or make-up, give it a thought. You can be stimulated or depressed by color and made to look and feel older or younger because of it.

Cooking is another one of the important C's. Cooking was started early in the history of man, probably by a man. No woman in her right mind would have started it. Today cooking has a new connotation. We not only strive to make food as attractive looking and as tantalizing as possible but we are interested in retaining all of its health value.

We broil and bake as much as feasible. We no longer pour water off vegetables but use a pressure cooker or cook them with as little water as we can. We do not add soda to the water. We do not soak vegetables before cooking them. We do not peel fruit or cut up vegetables long before meal-time. We eat as many of the natural or vital foods as we can.

We keep vegetables in the icebox until time to prepare them. We leave the skins on fruits. We do these and many more things in order to save as many of the valuable vitamins and minerals as possible.

Callisthenics is the last but not least important of the five C's which are so essential to all of us who would remain youthful. I have written so often in this column about the value of exercise to health and to beauty that I will not linger on the subject today except to say that there is more and more evidence of its importance. We die of the sedentary life and boredom rather than from work or exercise.

If you would like to have my short routine of exercise planned especially for women send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 19 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Woman Gives Flowers to Help

OTTAWA (CP)—A package of crane paper flowers has arrived at Unitarian Service Committee headquarters here with a note from its donor that they're "better late than never."

But USC officials say the bright bits of tin foil and tissue are more appreciated than ever.

For the latest gift from Mrs. C. T. Munro, a pensioner who lives at the Masonic Home, Windsor, N.S., will as her previous flower gifts, be quickly sold at a USC bazaar.

The 76-year-old woman, nearly blind, made the two dozen paper flowers herself and sent them with hope that they'll sell and add "a few cents" to the USC fund.

"It just shows how people help, with all their talents," said Dr. Lotta Hiltzmanova, director of the voluntary world relief organization.

LOUISE DAVIS

On Etiquette

R.S.V.P.:

Do you write an answer to a written invitation to an afternoon tea? How many days after one receives the invitation should it be acknowledged? Louise Davis Answers:

Invitations to an afternoon tea party rarely contain a request for a reply. Therefore you don't. But should a hostess include a "Please reply," Louise Davis or an "R.S.V.P.," then of course you do. If the invitations are in note form, such as "Dear Mrs. Montgomery..." and if the contents include a question such as, "Won't you join me (or us)?" you should answer with a note, for the hostess is asking you something. If the invitations are formal, meaning engraved or penned in the third person, and should they include in the corner a request for a reply, then you acknowledge in the third person just as you would to a wedding reception. Example:

"Mrs. Donald Campbell accepts with pleasure Mrs. Montgomery's kind invitation for such and such a date." A formal regret would be: "Mrs. Donald Campbell regrets that she is unable to accept Mrs. Montgomery's kind invitation for such and such a date." The replies in such cases should be spaced in a similar way to the lines on the invitations. If an invitation is to be acknowledged, it should be done as soon as possible, for the hostess wants to know who is attending and who isn't. Courtesy is an important part of good manners.

Younger Generation WATERLOO, Ont. (CP)—Keeping busy is the secret of keeping young, Mr. and Mrs. Adam Picoski said when they celebrated their golden wedding. They have 12 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

For the tailored women, Paris likes the white pique cravat edged with tiny ball fringe and held with a clip. Perfect for the neckline of a wool or linen suit.

Lower lawn of Government House grounds was packed with guests who gratefully sipped tea and fruit punch after long waits in the receiving line.

Miss Brenda Turner, right, who is to be married in September, came from Vancouver for the party. She is chatting with Mrs. Lawrence Jolivet, also of Vancouver.

AT GARDEN PARTY

Filmy Chiffons; Classic Sheaths; Frivolous Hats

Wednesday afternoon, in the grounds at Government House, it was very evident that a garden party is the perfect occasion for feminine guests to wear their most attractive summer dresses and their most frivolous hats.

One guest said, as she looked out over the lower lawn where tea was being served, "It amazes me how so many women can appear in one place and yet, you do not see any duplication in gowns or in hats. Every woman looks charming and every woman is dressed differently."

Mrs. Hugh Pullen was outstanding in a matching dress and coat of champagne-toned figured brocade and large picture hat of plaited straw in the same tones. Rear-Admiral and Mrs. Pullen were officially attending their last garden party at Government House, for they are leaving for the Atlantic coast in August.

Sheaths and Prints Were Favored

A smart grey and black printed sheath was chosen by Mrs. William Kells. Her black picture hat was faced with pink, and she had black accessories. Mrs. R. E. Foster was in a black printed dress, and her pink hat was trimmed with tiny rhinestones and pink flowers.

Two friends attending together were Miss Frances Fredette and Miss Lorraine Brand. Miss Fredette was in a white linen sheath with lace inset waistband and a white mandarin hat. Miss Brand chose a pink flowered sheath and pink veiled hat.

Miss Margaret Nixon wore a flaring frock of blue linen with inset bands of lace, and white cloche hat. She was with Miss Anthea Stanley-Clarke, who had chosen a turquoise printed dress with white accessories. Miss Sheila Johnson wore a pale gold silk dress with tiny black hat.

Summer Visitors in Large Crowd

Here for the summer is Mrs. R. A. Heron, who wore a navy blue suit, and a navy hat edged with pale blue roses. With her were Mr. and Mrs. George Rinehart from La Canada, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. G. Marr Duncan.

Chatting in the shade of the trees were Mrs. P. D. Budge, Mrs. D. L. Macknight and Mrs. John Charles. Mrs. Budge was lovely in a green and white Liberty lawn dress and a white straw hat with green floral crown. Mrs. Macknight wore an apple green duster trimmed with a white feather hat, white shoes, gloves, and a flowered white cloth purse. Mrs. Charles looked charming in a grey draped sheath, black duster and black-feathered straw hat.

Mrs. Percy Scurrah, wife of Victoria's Mayor, wore a Swiss lace beige sheath, made by "Myer-Kawn," re-embroidered in gold, and a small beige hat-toned with brilliantia. Mrs. A. C. Woodhouse was chic in an ensemble styled for her in Rome. Her sheath, covered with large white polka dots, was draped softly after a French design, and her crevette (or shrimp-colored) turban hat, was finished with a large jewelled pin.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. L. Burridge came with Capt. and Mrs. Hubbard. Mrs. Burridge wore a smart navy-and-white sheath and a wide-brimmed navy hat, edged with white flowers. Mrs. Hubbard chose a beige linen sheath, trimmed with a wide band of white lace dotted with An ice-blue satin sheath was choice of Mrs. J. C. Hibbard, highlighted by her lipstick red straw picture hat.

The Hon. Senator Mrs. Nancy Hodges wore a Queen's blue ensemble, with small hat in tone. Mrs. Buda Brown M.L.A. was in a champagne tone ensemble. She flew from Vancouver for the party. With her were Mrs. C. W. Jaggs, Vancouver, and her sister, Mrs. Clarence Hetch, a visitor from Hanover, Ont.

Mrs. H. A. Arnold wore a rose flowered dress with a bag of the same fabric, and cream stole and accessories. She was with her daughters-in-law, Mrs. Charles Arnold and Mrs. Bruce Arnold, the former in a mauve and grey checked frock with puffed sleeves and beige hat, and the latter in a navy blue sheath with white net-trimmed for they are leaving for the brilliantia and carried her fur stole. Her gloves and small veiled hat were the same beige tone.

Mrs. George McMorris wore a sheath dress of turquoise and white print, with eye-catching flying panels at the back. She had a small white straw hat. Mrs. Vicki Borradale was in a rose-toned frock with pale pink hat. A medium blue dress with white coin dots and white trimming was chosen by Mrs. E. H. W. Elkington. Her hat was white.

Mrs. R. W. Mayhew wore a black silk organza gown, with bouffant skirt, matching stole of black Indian silk embroidered with gold and a large white picture hat with pink rosebuds and black velvet trim.

Misses Betty Briggs and Mary Joe McMordie made a pretty picture in white and pale blue. Betty's white-and-gold duster covered a white linen sheath dress, and her shoes, earrings and gloves were the same powder blue. Mary Jo wore a blue brocade dress on Princess lines, the neckline embroidered with pearls and brilliantia. She chose earrings of a deeper blue, and a white, close-fitting hat.

Mrs. Hans Gruber was charming in a steel grey eyelet embroidered sheath with large pale pink summer velvet hat touched with pink roses; Mrs. T. M. Jones was in beige lace with wild mink stole and large black picture hat wreathed in red and white flowers; Mrs. H. K. Brown wore a black linen sheath, appliqued at neckline with white flowers. Her Milan straw hat was wreathed with white flowers and she wore sable furs. Mrs. W. Hobart wore a turquoise tissue faille suit with small white turban hat, banded with pink and green chiffon; Miss Adele Gault was wearing a linen sheath with pink ripple brim straw hat touched with green and pink flowers.

Mrs. D. R. Crysdale was a picture in white and her sister, Miss Barbara Bate, wore a floral-linen in white and blue design. Her small hat was black straw. Miss Sheila Kingham was a dainty picture in a

Many hats worn this year at the party were large, wide-brimmed and laden with flowers. One of the most striking, a pink straw picture hat weighted with a profusion of full-blown pink roses, was worn here by Mrs. W. S. Wilson, who came to the party with her mother, Mrs. P. Sinnott, Mrs. J. Chadderton and Mrs. J. Bull.

Presentation Party

In honor of Miss Margaret Woodcock, who is leaving Victoria shortly to make her home on the mainland, the Evening Branch of Christ Church Cathedral Women's Auxiliary entertained at a farewell party at the home of the president, Mrs. M. Laughlin, on Craigdarroch Road. The guest of honor was presented with an electric clock and a corsage of rosebuds in appreciation of her long association and faithful work with the branch. Assisting the hostess were Mrs. A. Welton, Mrs. D. Small, Mrs. S. Leal, Misses Alison Chow, Eleanor Fowler, Daisy Hawkins, Winnie Plummer, Pincock, Alice George and Dora Brown.

Buffet Supper

Capt. and Mrs. Wilfrid Davenport served a buffet supper yesterday evening at their Wildwood Road home in honor of Mrs. Davenport's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. I. Caswell, from Wales. Other guests at the dinner were Mrs. H. Steven, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. W. Jardine, Capt. and Mrs. W. R. Stacey, and Capt. and Mrs. E. Cox-Walker.

Home From Britain

Mr. and Mrs. William Merston returned this week from a three-month trip to England and Scotland. They visited their daughters, Mrs. Graham Buckley, in London, and Mrs. James Johnston, in Edinburgh.

shirtmaker dress of delicate mauve sprigged with tiny flower design. Her hat was a small white straw cloche. Mrs. J. Alan Baker was in a shirtmaker dress of sheer cotton in blue and turquoise tones. With this she wore a close fitting white straw hat. Mrs. W. A. MacDonald chose a blue green dressmaker suit with small hat trimmed with small pink flowers. Mrs. Lewis Bartlett was in a red, white and blue print with white picture hat trimmed with the same tones.

Government House Gardens Perfect Setting for Party

By ELIZABETH FORBES

Victoria citizens, and a large contingent from Vancouver and other points in British Columbia, rallied more than 2,600 strong, in Government House grounds, Wednesday afternoon to make the annual summer party of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Ross, the largest and most colorful in many years.

It seemed that everyone was determined to show the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Ross, through attending the party, the sympathy felt when Government House burned a few months ago and to assure them of a province's appreciation for the way they have insisted on continuing the official program, despite the fire.

The receiving line wound its way across the upper lawn and back up the driveway right to the pillared entrance arch, all that remains of the gracious official residence. The line held its length without any perceptible decrease until nearly time for the national anthem at 6 p.m.

A perfect summer afternoon, with blue skies and warm sun added to the brilliance of the scene. Marquee, pegged down with huge bouquets of summer flowers and the shining white garden furniture on the lower lawn formed a colorful background.

Feminine guests, in their garden party dresses and gay summer hats gave the final touch of elegance to an impressive scene.

Mrs. Ross was an attractive picture as she stood at the side of the Lieutenant-Governor, smiling and shaking hands with the many guests. Her gown of white hand-made lace was afternoon length and her hat with scintillating rose-toned summer velvet brim and crown of white gardenias was a perfect complement.

Miss Brenda Turner chose a floral print in splashes of green and pink on white, highlighted with a cummerbund of matching green. Her off-face cavalier hat was of black straw lace.

Miss Ruth MacLean wore a garden party dress of pale blue eyelet embroidery with small white hat.

Aides-de-camp wearing the smart uniforms of the three services and of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police were in attendance and with their wives formed a semi-circle near the Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. Ross throughout the afternoon.

Two bands played for the garden party. One, the Royal Canadian Air Force Tactical Air Command Band, of 45 to 50 pieces, was flown from Edmonton for the occasion. The other was the Naval Reserve Band under direction of Lieut. (SB) M. Malfest, Calgary.

Bowes-Wade Marriage At Centennial Church

Centennial United Church was a scene of the wedding Saturday evening of Doreen Margaret Wade, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wade, 189 Cadillan Avenue, and Arthur James Bowes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Bowes, 3876 Cedar Hill Cross Road, Rev. Douglas B. Carr performed the ceremony.

Entering the church on her father's arm, the bride was lovely in her gown of fine net over satin, the pointed basque bodice featuring tiny scallops of lace outlining the high neckline and short sleeves. The floor-length skirt was panelled with imported French lace. A coronet held her fingertip illusion veil, and she carried a cascade of white orchids, stephanotis, and ivy.

Mrs. Guida Thwaites, as matron of honor, chose a ballerina-length gown of deep aqua tulle with brief matching jacket. Her headband was of pale pink carnations, and her cascade bouquet was of the same flowers and pink rapture roses. Brides-matron, Mrs. Joan Caldwell, sister of the groom, wore a ballerina-length gown of iridescent rose taffeta with bandeau of Kokomo carnations. Her cascade bouquet was of Kokomo carnations and pink roses.

Best man was the groom's brother-in-law, Douglas Caldwell, and the bride's brother, Ralph Wade, ushered. The reception was held at Wing-Comdr. J. D. D. Campbell, left, chats with a group of guests who came over from Vancouver for the party. They are, left to right, Mrs. Christopher Morrison, Miss Patricia Russell, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Russell, Mr. Christopher Morrison, Miss Penny Jenkins of Toronto, who is holidaying with the Russell family, and Miss Beverley Russell.

Mrs. Douglas Williams, left, and Mrs. Lance Lucas admired the lovely summer flowers before they lined up to be greeted by His Honor and Mrs. Ross.

Lieut. and Mrs. T. C. Shuckburgh, left, chat with Mrs. D. G. Wales, near the refreshment marquees.

Vancouver Guests

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Miller came from Vancouver to attend the Government House garden party yesterday. They stayed at the Empress Hotel and returned to the mainland this morning. Mr. Miller is regional superintendent of British Columbia branches of the Canadian Bank of Commerce. They attended the garden party with Mr. J. C. Thow, manager of the local bank, and Mrs. Thow.

After Garden Party

Mr. and Mrs. B. Russell Ker entertained at the cocktail hour at their Rockland Avenue home yesterday after the Government House garden party. A number of Vancouver visitors who had come over for the garden party were among guests.

Before Retirement

Resident girls, members of the board and of the staff of the YWCA gathered in the "Y" Wednesday evening for a party to honor Miss Florence Kennedy who is retiring after 10 years as night secretary. Board president, Mrs. C. W. Small presented the honor guest with a beige travelling case and bouquet of pale pink carnations tied with satin streamers on which was typed the names of the 90 guests. Miss Kennedy will retire at the end of this month.

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

FRIDAY, JULY 26, 1957

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)

Getting dull tedious work of the early is fine now for giving self and career a boost. In p.m. make certain you do not enter into any complicated argument between a family tie and an outsider.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)

The intellect with which you perform your duties during daylight hours determines the early future success possible in the horoscope today. Get recreational program well-rounded, but keep within your budget.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)

You can realize a greater abundance, more property possessions today by spending time thinking how to do so. Improve budget. You have spent too much on pleasures; stay at home to-night and relax.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21)

The day is just right to put all your papers of record in perfect order. And don't neglect to read your newspapers, trade journals, etc., that will assist you in the future. Tonight, don't bicker with tie.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)

You don't like the way things are going very much. Find out reasons for same, and fine ideas will also come to you for making the future easier and more lucrative. PM be very careful on the road and in conversations, too.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)

This is the day you can forge ahead with your plans and goals and get the support of worthwhile friends. See you keep active throughout the day. PM fine for counting your money instead of spending it too easily.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23)

Day of affairs for matters of public nature which will be fine for you financially. Follow advice of authorities. Tonight you will be well-served if you seek new pastures and get disapproval of ties.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21)

A powerful person of your acquaintance today gives ideas which bring your hopes higher and nearer. Start putting in motion and forget that private anxiety which would really cripple you if you let it.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)

Fine plan of yours of a big pecuniary nature can successfully be brought before right parties today. See that your immediate position is good enough to carry through with it. PM had if you pay attention to jealous pal.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Going off to some delightful spot with charming associate produces a deal of light on current position; then newspapers, radio, other media fine for getting data you need. Tonight, avoid fight with closest tie.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Put own hand today to interior decorating, other work for which you would usually pay high prices. You will be pleased with results and save a good deal. Don't neglect other tasks and go off to a tight tangent.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)

Spend your lunch and dinner hours combining business with pleasure. You will accomplish more in the happiest fashion by feeding right people than by hours of selling otherwise.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN FRIDAY

The little child born Friday is one of those fortunate people who will be endowed with fine equilibrium and an equal understanding of business as well as emotional matters, albeit a tendency to be a bit high-strung on rare occasions. Yours is the duty to keep your progeny perfectly balanced between the two, and there is conscious in this chart in all directions, especially before the public.

Voters' List In Saanich Will Stand

Same voters' list used at the last regular Saanich municipal election in December and the by-election in March will be used in the municipality's second by-election this year on Aug. 17.

The list, revised annually, was last altered Oct. 31, 1936.

It bears names of 19,850 eligible voters, including 19,775 property owners.

Everyone named is eligible to vote for a candidate for the council seat left vacant by the death of Stuart W. Brock two weeks ago, but only property owners may vote on the by-law referendum to provide moneys to alter and expand the municipal hall.

Copies of the list will be posted, but persons doubtful whether their names appear may call the municipal hall at 9-1621 to enquire.

Polling stations will be set up at these 13 places:

Cedar Hill School, Lansdowne Junior High, Tolmie School, Cloverdale School, Gordon Head Community Hall, Cadboro Bay Scout Hall, Marigold Scout Hall, Mount View High, Royal Oak High, McMorran's Seaview, Prospect Lake School, Tillicum School and St. Martin's-in-the-Fields Hall.

AUCTION SALE OF CROWN LOGS HELD AT BUTTE LAKE

There will be offered for sale at public auction at 1:30 p.m. on Thursday, August 12th, 1937, in the office of the District Forester, Marine Building, Vancouver, B.C., Parcel No. 4 consisting of approximately 500,000 cubic feet of fir, cedar, hemlock, balsam, white pine, crown logs, boom sticks and boom chains which are presently in camp-run booms. The logs in Parcel No. 4 will be auctioned in three lots designated Lots 1, 2 and 3.

The above logs may be inspected from the date of this advertisement up to and including the date of auction at the viewing grounds on Butte Lake.

Arrangements for inspection of these logs must be made with the Fire and Security Officer of the British Columbia Power Commission at the John Hart Generating Station.

The purchaser will be required to enter into an agreement with British Columbia Power Commission for removal of these logs from Butte Lake.

Further particulars may be obtained from the District Forester, Vancouver, B.C. or from the Forest Ranger, Campbell River, B.C.

Provided that anyone who is unable to attend the public auction in person may submit a sealed tender to be opened at the hour of auction and treated as one bid.

LAYOUT COULD COST $16,000,000

Grid pattern of sewer trunks and interceptors for the most ambitious sewerage plan ever considered for Saanich covers approximately four-fifths of the widespread municipality. Total cost of the system, which could be spread out over a lifetime, may be $16,000,000 according to estimates of consulting engineers Stevens and Thompson, Portland, Ore. Cost of sewers pictured is estimated at $3,350,000, exclusive of construction of outfalls and sewage treatment plants, one at the bottom at Colquitz, the other at top right for the separate system for Cordova Bay, making up the balance of $8,000,000 for the master system. All local mains and domestic connections would be additional expenses. Each leg of the system bears its own price tag for convenience in possible approach to construction.

Smoke Cancer Agent, 'Antidote' Claimed

WASHINGTON (UP)—A Cleveland, Ohio, research firm claimed today it has discovered a cancer-producing agent in cigarettes—and a way to eliminate it.

At the same time, Prof. Harry S. N. Greene, head of the pathology department at Yale medical school, pooh-poohed various medical reports indicating a relationship between smoking and lung cancer. He said such findings are based on statistical studies and that "statistics do not in themselves establish a cause and effect relationship."

For example, Greene said, by using statistics alone it might be possible to conclude that since baldheaded men frequently occupy the front row in burlesque houses, "the continued close observation of chorus girls in tight costumes caused loss of hair from the top of the head."

However, Dr. S. Z. Cardon, a chemist for the Rand Development Corp. of Cleveland, said his firm found that a "known cancer-producing agent" called "3,4 benzopyrene" occurred in condensed tars of smoke from cigarettes as well as cigarette paper and cigars.

Cardon and Greene made their statements in testimony prepared for the House government operations subcommittee investigating cigaret filters.

Cardon told the Congressmen that 3,4 benzopyrene was found more in smoke from the paper than the tobacco in cigarettes.

He said cigarettes can be treated with ammonium sulphate to "reduce by a large factor or eliminate entirely" the benzopyrene.

The first violinist in British orchestras is called the leader, but in North America he is the concert master.

SAANICH MUNICIPAL HALL

Sealed tenders will be received by the undersigned for an addition to the Saanich Municipal Hall and alterations to the existing building on Thursday, August 12th, 1937, at 5 p.m. P.D.S.T. and will be opened in public by the Council at 7:30 p.m. the same evening.

Tenders must be good for thirty (30) days, and must be accompanied by a surety bond in the form prescribed, which binds the tenderer and the surety in an amount equal to 10% of the tender, and a total of 30% of the tender if accepted. A definitive surety bond must be delivered within ten days after the award of the contract to the successful tenderer, and the surety must be approved by the owner. Bonds will be returned to unsuccessful bidders as soon as possible after tenders are opened. Fifteen per cent of each progress estimate will be retained until forty days after acceptance of the building by the owners and architects.

Plans and specifications can be obtained by general contractors only from the architect, WHITTAKER & WAGE, 543 Bastion Street, Victoria, on payment of $50.00, which will be refunded on their return in good order.

Depository bids will be taken from sub-contractors on this work. The lowest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

PPCLI Stage Record Jump At Exercise

CAMP WAINWRIGHT, Alta. (CP)—The biggest paratroop exercise ever staged in Canada took place at dawn today with nearly 500 officers and men of the 2nd Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry jumping in a surprise mock attempt on this military camp 120 miles southeast of Edmonton.

No serious injury or incident was reported in the jump, staged in clear, hot weather and with practically no wind.

The attack—Exercise Soft Touch—climaxed the second phase of an intensive six-week training program. Taking part are nearly 5,000 regular army troops representing units from Victoria to Camp Borden, Ont.

Vancouver Slips Back Into Third

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

As the disputed second spot race in the Pacific Coast League becomes hotter and hotter, so do tempers.

Hollywood again moved into second place after winning a first game with Los Angeles 3-1, but losing a 7-3 nightcap marked by fist swinging. Vancouver lost to Sacramento 2-1 and 2-0.

Meanwhile, San Francisco Seals maintained their 3 1/2 game lead although losing to Seattle 8-2, and San Diego with Portland, winning 2-1, then losing 1-0.

Seattle evened its series with the Seals 1-1, collecting 15 hits off four San Francisco pitchers. Except for a brief tie in the second inning when Bill Renna walloped a 350-foot homer, the game was all Seattle's. Rainiers put the game on ice in the third with a five-run outburst after two men were out.

A two-run single by Padre Bill Harrell in the first, seven-inning game gave San Diego a 2-1 victory over Portland. John Carmichael pitched and batted the Beavers to their 1-0 shutout. He scattered five hits, fanned 11 batters, doubled in the eighth and scored on a sacrifice fly.

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFS

A New Westminster family escaped without injury when their small English car overturned at about 11 a.m. today after failing to make a turn from Patricia Bay highway to Sayward Road.

Driver Richard Craven was heading south when his car left the highway and overturned in a ditch.

Sparks from an incinerator were blamed for causing slight fire damage to a garage at 736 Cloverdale this morning before Saanich firemen extinguished the blaze.

A motorcycle owned by A. J. Lefebvre, occupant of the premises, was removed from the garage before it was damaged.

Part of one wall and the roof were burned when grass caught fire from the incinerator.

Did You Miss It Last Time?

See the Leonard Electronic Range Demonstrated Friday

Ever seen a potato baked in four minutes? An egg cooked in 20 seconds? The latest marvel of science, the Leonard Electronic Range, does this and more, too. Convenient... no more hard-to-clean pans or oven walls, only the food is heated, so there's no baked-on grease to cope with. No more pot-watching... just set the automatic timer and forget it. With frozen foods and the Electronic Range you can have a full meal in five minutes... a true boon to the working wife!

Demonstrations Friday at 2.00 p.m., 3.00 p.m., 4.00 p.m., 7.15 p.m. and 8.15 p.m.

WH-O-O-SH—A NEW RECORD

Streak-of-lightning P-1 British jet flown by test pilot Roland Beaumont has beaten world speed record of 1,132 mph set last year by British Fairey Delta 2. What was P-1's top speed? Sorry, that's officially secret. But we can say it was set by accident while Beaumont was still accelerating with no thought of record. (Daily Mirror photo.)

Douk Mother Found Hanged—Her Child in New Denver

KRESTOVA, B.C. (CP)—The hanging death of a Doukhobor widow is blamed by a spokesman upon the fact that her nine-year-old daughter is being detained at a New Denver special school.

Body of Mrs. Mary Gienjer, 32, was found hanging from a beam in her Krestova home at 6 p.m. Wednesday.

Nearby was a letter she had just received from her daughter Patsy. It read:

"Mommy, I am lonesome for you... come and visit me... I love you. Goodbye."

When authorities arrived at the farm they were met by a gathering of bitter neighbors who charged that the government's policy of enforced education for Doukhobor children had caused the death.

An inquest was called for today in Nelson.

There are 89 children in the school in New Denver in B.C.'s Kootenay district.

Each is considered a ward of the courts.

The children were taken when their Doukhobor parents refused to send them to school in accordance with B.C. law.

A delegation of three Free-domite couples who have children at New Denver met Wednesday with provincial welfare officials in Victoria.

They sought to have the child

PRAYER FOR TODAY

Grant, dear Lord, that we may take time to be holy, to speak often with Thee, to listen in stillness. Make redemptive our communion with Thee in lovely places, in the holy sanctuary, in our blessed homes, and in all our daily contacts with Thy people; in His name who arose a great while before day, and often prayed through the night. Amen.

PRINCESS FRONT-PAGE NEWS

Margaret's Couture Lifts London Brows

LONDON (UP)—A London newspaper bluntly suggested today that Princess Margaret is busting out all over—and published a bosomy photograph of her to prove it.

The plunging neckline picture and the comment in Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express was an eyebrow raiser in this country where royalty is treated with respect.

Express columnist William Hickey commented:

"The dress she wore was one of the prettiest. The hat was simple, and for the dress itself

"Well, a dress should be where it was meant to be the day it was made. Could one or two extra pounds—a few extra dishes of strawberries and cream, a few extra ice creams at parties—have given it a look that wasn't intended?"

Rioting U.K. Strikers Face Government Action

Air Passenger Blown To Death In Mystery Blast

Airliner Lands As Weakened Side Caves In

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A mysterious hole was ripped in an airliner, flying 10,000 feet over California's Mojave Desert today and a passenger was blown to his death. Investigators believe the man shot himself and bullet holes so weakened the plane that its side blew out. The plane landed safely. Its 12 other passengers and crew of three were unhurt.

The missing passenger is a retired San Fernando Valley jeweler who flew to Las Vegas Wednesday night and boarded the Los Angeles-bound plane this morning. He had taken out a round-trip insurance policy for $125,000, with his wife as beneficiary.

Western Airlines, operator of the twin-engine Convair 240, said S. F. Binstock, 62, of North Hollywood, went to the plane's washroom soon after it left Las Vegas at 2:50 a.m. He stayed there until the blast occurred at 3:37 a.m.

HOLES FOUND

The blast was opposite the washroom. Western said its investigators found four bullet holes in the fuselage near the edge of the four-by-seven-foot hole.

An earlier theory that an explosion charge might have been touched off was discounted. Western said, when no signs of powder-burns—or any sort of a blast—were found.

Western said its theory is that the bullet holes so weakened the side of the plane that air pressure—the cabin was pressurized—blew it out. Binstock was in the washroom so long that one passenger became alarmed and was about to call a stewardess when the plane was shaken.

The occurrence posed a mystery for hours. There are no fuel or gas lines near the washroom and the main baggage compartment is in the front of the 40-passenger ship.

Suspects Cleared In Triple Slaying

HOBBS, N.M. (UP)—Authorities checked off the two latest suspects in New Mexico's triple slaying as "false leads" today. The three victims of the ruthless killer were put in their graves.

Sheriff Jewel McAdoo said Jack Smith, 48, a former California mental patient, has been eliminated as a suspect in the Tuesday slayings.

Authorities at Clayton, N.M., said a second suspect, Donald Rait Jr., 29, Pittsburgh, Pa., also has been eliminated as a suspect.

Pervukhin Gets Job

MOSCOW (AP)—Mikhail G. Pervukhin, demoted in the Kremlin shakeup last month, has been named the Soviet Union's new foreign trade czar.

Big 5 Ban on Missile Proposed by Stassen

LONDON (UP)—The United States declared today that the atomic "Big Five" powers should ban the military use of intercontinental missiles before it is too late to control them.

Presidential disarmament adviser Harold E. Stassen told the five-power disarmament conference here that a ban on missiles, which he described as the ultimate weapon, should be a feature of any first-step arms pact.

Stassen said a committee of experts should be designated by the conference powers—the U.S., Britain, Canada, France and Russia—to work out means of

COLD PAY ALLOWANCE HOT ISSUE FOR AUSSIES

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters)—School charwomen have asked the Miscellaneous Workers Union to press for a special "chillblain allowance" of five shillings a day when the temperature drops below 25 degrees and ice is floating in their water buckets.

British Forces Sent to Assist Friend—Lloyd

LONDON (UP)—Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd announced today Britain is sending "necessary forces" into the Middle East to help crush a revolt against the British-supported Sultan of Muscat and Oman.

RESIGNS

Rev. G. Hansell of Vulcan, Alta., has resigned as national president of the Social Credit party because of failing health and other obligations. National Leader Solon Low will temporarily assume his duties.

U.K. to Build 'Own Type' Atomic Sub

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain today announced determination to build her own type of nuclear-powered submarine despite information provided by the United States on the Nautilus.

Sir Edwin Plowden, director of Britain's atomic energy organization, told a press conference that the United States had provided "a very substantial amount of information" about the Nautilus, first submarine ever to be run on nuclear power.

He added, however, that Britain's decision to make a prototype still stands. Plowden led a mission to Washington last month to arrange for the exchange of information on atomic power projects.

The Atomic Energy Authority said in its third annual report today that British atomic scientists are working on three different types of atom-powered engines for ships.

BEVAN SCORES MOVE

Lloyd spoke in reply to an attack by leftwing Laborite Aneurin Bevan, who had charged that British air attacks on rebel strongholds merely "displace innocent rocks and sand from one place to another and destroy mud walls."

Bevan said the government is "not entitled to use the lives of British servicemen" merely to help its friends.

He took note of the furnace heat prevailing in Muscat and Oman, which ranges up to as much as 130 degrees in summer.

JETS HIT FORT

Meanwhile at Oman, Royal Air Force jets struck with rockets and cannonfire at the deserted rebel fortress at Nizwa, nerve centre of the tribal rebellion.

Other RAF planes from Bahrain and Aden blasted rebel concentrations in the mountainous hinterland in the second day of air strikes.

AVM Cook Dies

OTTAWA (CP)—Air Vice-Marshal Clarence A. Cook, 49, commanding officer of the RCAF's Air Materiel Command at Rockcliffe Air Station here, died suddenly Wednesday night.

A native of Saskatoon, Sask., Air Vice-Marshal Cook had headed the Air Materiel Command since last March. He succeeded Air Vice-Marshal Robert C. R. Ripley, killed in an air crash near Ottawa in March.

The air force said death was caused by a coronary thrombosis. Funeral services with full military honors will be held Friday afternoon in the Protestant chapel at Rockcliffe.

Violence Worst In Thirty Years

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Macmillan today threatened government action to halt the worst wave of strike violence in Britain in 30 years.

Even as striking fruit handlers battled police in London's produce markets, Macmillan told the Commons:

"I must make it clear that the government are determined to see that law and order are maintained."

The prime minister's statement was cheered by both Conservatives and the opposition. Labor party leader Hugh Gaitskell also deplored the use of violence in labor disputes.

Gaitskell said he was glad to hear Macmillan stressed that the violence came from "a tiny minority."

Macmillan had said: "I am sure that violence, which has been the work of a small minority, will be condemned by all trade unionists."

Asked about the current strikes of fruit handlers and of provincial bus workers—both of which have seen violence this week—Macmillan said the law permitted peaceful picketing "but intimidation in any shape or form is illegal."

Conservative member Walter Davenport said the outbreak of

CEASE-FIRE ENVOY KILLED

CAIRO (Reuters)—An emissary of the Sultan of Muscat was killed and a British officer with him wounded during a cease-fire mission to the Imam of Oman, the Imam's representatives said here today.

They said a mine blew up the emissary's automobile shortly after he asked the Imam in a meeting for a cease-fire. The Briton, a radio officer, suffered serious leg injuries in the explosion and was taken to a hospital in Aden.

Violence is "threatening a breakdown of law and order." Strikers set fire to trucks, cut brake cables and beat up a police chief in continuing violence today.

'Like a Wartime Convoy'

Police cars escorted long lines of fruit and vegetable trucks—like a wartime convoy, one driver explained—through pickets gathered around the big London markets from which this metropolis draws its food.

Some 3,800 men are on strike in the Covent Garden fruit and vegetable markets and other London depots in protest against a new job reclassification plan. But market officials recruited fresh staffs from their clerical employees to keep supplies moving.

Violence in the market strike coupled with scattered outbreaks in the strike of provincial busmen employed by private firms, roused the demands in parliament for quick government action against "violent and unlawful picketing."

FINE WEATHER FOR TONIGHT'S FINAL CONCERT

A balmy evening was promised today for Victoria Symphony Orchestra fans who will attend the third and last of the summer series of concerts tonight at Butchart Gardens.

The weatherman said clouds that started gathering this morning will thicken overnight, and break up Friday at about noon.

The chance of rain is remote, and any shower will be light.

Minimum overnight temperatures will be 55 degrees, but the symphony audience will find it will remain above 60 degrees until midnight. Maximum temperature Friday will be 55 degrees.

10th Atomic Test Shatters Nevada Calm

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP)—An atomic device shattered the pre-dawn stillness of the Nevada desert today with the power of almost 20,000 tons of TNT. It was the 10th shot in the Atomic Energy Commission's current test series. It was detonated from a balloon 500 feet in the air.

Today's detonation was a closed shot—newspapers were barred from the site of the AEC's big Yucca Flat test centre.

New Move to Prevent Nurses' Strike Fails

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Another attempt to head off the threatened strike of the 217 nurses at the Royal Columbian Hospital here ended in failure today when the latest offer by the hospital board was turned down.

The hospital offer was a $10-a-month increase from the current $240, retroactive to Jan. 1, plus five increases of $10 a month each over the next five years, starting in 1958.

The board had recommended that nurses wages be increased to $260 from $240 a month. Miss Hood said also that the association would not extend the strike deadline, set for next Tuesday.

Diefenbaker, Dulles Talks Centre on Canadian Dollar

By NORMAN M. MACLEOD

OTTAWA (UP)—The trade problems caused by the record high premium on the Canadian dollar may play a key role in weekend talks between Prime Minister John Diefenbaker and U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, Conservative government sources say.

They said that Mr. Diefenbaker's policy of diverting Canadian trade from the U.S. to the Commonwealth would ease the penalization of Canadian exports and subsidization of foreign imports imposed by the rising dollar.

A 15-per-cent diversion of Canada's existing trade would bring the current payments imbalance between the United States and Canada into manageable dimensions, the prime minister has contended.

Meanwhile, the soaring premium on the Canadian dollar is being recognized by leading government economists as fast building up to a critical national problem for which neither treasury nor Bank of Canada experts foresee any immediate artificial solution as possible.

The financial experts in the government are reported to have turned thumbs down on suggestions for exporting interests for a repositioning of exchange control with a view of pegging the dollar at or below parity.

The experts point out that exchange control is a device

Ottawa Forecasts Year's Function For UNEF Troops

OTTAWA (CP)—Barring some unforeseen incident, officials here expect the United Nations Emergency Force to continue to function for at least another year.

... DIEFENBAKER

used traditionally to deal with an outflow of capital from a country. They are skeptical of its effectiveness in a reverse role of trying to control an inflow of capital—which is the main cause to which the present problem strength of the Canadian dollar is being attributed.

By all the normal rules of economics the current premium Canadian dollar should be discouraging Canadian exports and encouraging foreign imports. The easing of the demand for dollars to pay for Canadian exports abroad, coupled with intensified Canadian demand for foreign currencies to pay for increased imports, automatically should bring the dollar back to or near parity.

GOODS TOO COSTLY

But while Canadian goods are being priced out of export markets on a steadily widening scale, federal officials state that the demand from United States investors for Canadian dollars to pour into our mineral and other natural resources is sufficient to maintain our dollar at a premium and to continue to drive it upwards.

Government experts say that a cure for the situation would be an embargo against the flow of outside investment capital into Canada. But the Diefenbaker government has made it plain it does not wish to take any step in such a direction. The Conservative administration recognizes that the flow of outside capital is essential to the maintenance of the current boom. They are convinced that if its inflow were ended, depression would be a rapid consequence.

POCKETS OF JOBLESS

But already the loss of markets by export industries is beginning to show up in unemployment pockets across the nation which are recognized as bound to increase the stronger the dollar gets. By that route, too, government economists realize, a recession could come. They feel, however, that it will be longer in arriving via the route of gradually increasing unemployment in export industries than by any drastic embargo of outside investment capital.

But the significant thing is at the moment that the government economists have no clue to any means by which the dollar can be restored to or near parity without destroying the development boom—nor have they any idea as to how the inflow of capital for the development boom can be conditioned so as not to result in insuperable difficulties for the export industry.

PANTS PROBLEM VEXES SCOTS AS ARMY CUT

LONDON (Reuters)—Scottish soldiers face the problem of just who wears the pants. It is one of the things to be sorted out in connection with a drastic trimming of Britain's armed forces announced Wednesday that 21 regiments will be amalgamated.

One of the complications was foreseen by War Minister John Hare. He told a press conference: "One of the most difficult marriages is that between a Scottish Regiment which wears the kilt and a regiment which wears trousers (tartan trousers)." He said such problems are being left to the regiments themselves. If they cannot agree the war office will have to impose a solution.

LETTER MADE PUBLIC

West Stalls Arms Talks---Bulganin

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Bulganin has accused the West of stalling the disarmament talks in an effort to aid West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's election campaign. It was disclosed Wednesday night as a 6,000-word letter to British Prime Minister Macmillan was made public. He also proposed that the United States and the European powers pledge mutually to withhold help from any aggressor in Europe.

The Bulganin letter was a reply to a June 14 letter from Macmillan. Linking the Sept. 15 West German elections with the disarmament talks, Bulganin charged the West was prolonging the arms deadlock by bringing up "this or that political problem" to aid Adenauer's re-election campaign.

"DEAL" WITH ADENAUER

"The statement of West Germany do not conceal a deal has been made between the governments of certain Western powers and the Adenauer government," Bulganin said.

The letter urged Macmillan to take another look at an old disarmament idea first put forward by former prime minister Eden at the Geneva Big Four meeting in 1955. The Allies since have disowned the plan, which would have put ceilings on Allied and Communist forces in West and East Germany, demilitarized a zone along the Iron Curtain and opened the zone to a control and inspection system.

Bulganin also said: "It would be worthwhile for the United States and the European powers mutually to pledge not to give military or economic aid to any state that violates peace in Europe, whether or not any of the frauding of the federal government of $75,000 to $100,000. Most of the arrested persons are farmers, and live in the Toronto suburb of Scarborough, and in the nearby municipalities of Markham and Whitechurch and Pickering township. Three live in Saskatchewan.

The alleged fraud was described as a bank loan swindle. They were charged with false pretences or violation of the Bank Act or both. Police said the charges were laid as a result of investigation which began in Ottawa into loans made under the Farm Improvement Loan Act to farmers in the Markham area.

An official of the Farm Improvement Loan Administration said the farmers made deals to purchase certain farm implements. He alleged that a dealer executed the necessary bills of sale and documents to show the farmers had taken delivery of the implements but no implements were delivered. He alleged that the money was used for some other purpose.

Missing RCAF Man Seen Last By His Wife

WHITE LAKE, Ont. (CP)—The mystery surrounding the disappearance of an RCAF flight sergeant, sought in a widespread ground search in this rugged area, deepened today with disclosure that he was last seen by his wife in Ottawa.

The wife of Pte. Sgt. C. A. W. Larose, 41-year-old father of three children, told reporters in Ottawa, some 40 miles east of here, that she and her husband arrived in the capital July 16 after a 10-day motor trip from Edmonton.

She said her husband vanished two days later after leaving her at the auto cabin they had rented to report for duty at Rockcliffe Air Force Station in suburban Ottawa. Larose, a member of the RCAF for the last 16 years, had been transferred to the Rockcliffe base after serving about five years at No. 7 supply depot, RCAF Lancaster Park, Edmonton.

Mrs. Larose said at a brief press conference at the Rockcliffe base today, however, that she and her husband and two of their three children made a leisurely motor trip east together.

They left the two children with relatives in Toronto and moved into a motel in Ottawa. Mrs. Larose said she and her husband had planned to go house-hunting when her husband came home on his lunch hour the day he disappeared.

Most diplomatic observers here regarded the Bulganin letter as notable for its moderate tone.

Crop Losses Soar to Millions In Drought-Blitzed Eastern U.S.

NEW YORK (AP)—A withering drought continued its grip on the eastern United States today, scarring some areas with the most severe damage in 25 years.

Estimated crop losses have reached a multi-million dollar level.

The parched region stretched from the Carolinas to Maine, inflicting its harshest punishment in southeast New England, southern New York, New Jersey, Virginia and Maryland.

Spotty rains teased some sections this week and temporarily eased the situation in Pennsylvania, but over most of the area the spattering showers helped little and no genuine rain was in sight.

Across the broad swath of the country, including major sources of fruits and vegetables, crops turned brown and shrivelled.

PRICES JUMP

Prices for garden products took a sharp upturn.

In orchards, peaches and apples hung scanty and stunted; Long Island potato vines wilted. Tomato plants sagged in New Jersey. Corn tasseled knee-high in Maryland, instead of its usual shoulder height. Tobacco leaves burned in Virginia.

Many pastures were little more than scorched earth.

But in places where it has been, the figures were in the multi-million zone. Some of them: Rhode Island, $10,000,000; New Jersey, $10,000,000; Connecticut, approaching $10,000,000; Massachusetts, $8,000,000.

"They're just dry lots where farmers turn out their cows for exercise," said Harry Beggs, Dorchester, Md., county agent.

No fair estimate of dollar damage has yet been made in many of the stricken regions.

Gagardi Endorse Marine Highway

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. (CP)—Alaska governor Michael A. Stepovich and B.C. Highways Minister P. A. Gagardi publicly endorsed the plan for a "marine highway" between Prince Rupert and Haines, Alaska, when they spoke at a Chamber of Commerce dinner here.

Gov. Stepovich declared that Alaska would do everything it can to further the project "and with God's help we'll have it running in the next three or four years."

Said Mr. Gagardi: "The B.C. government is just as anxious to see this project completed. You'll get all the co-operation that we can give you."

CAREFUL STUDY OF CBC PLAN OF TORY REGIME

OTTAWA (BUP)—The Diefenbaker government will move slowly in any changes in federal radio broadcasting policy, Revenue Minister George Nowlan indicated in an interview.

Nowlan has been named as minister through whom the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation reports to Parliament.

Interviewed about the CBC's so-called monopoly of network broadcasting and television facilities in Canada, Nowlan said: "This is an important problem and one that has aroused great national interest. If we are to take action it should be only after careful thought and on the basis of knowledge."

They were accused of plotting, together with Hungary's Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty, to overthrow the Communist regime.

An announcement in the Communist party newspaper Nepszabadsag said these leaders were arrested with an unstated number of followers. They will be brought to trial.

The new arrests were announced one day after Interior Minister Bela Biszku told a Budapest workers' meeting that his police had "struck a decisive blow" at underground plotters who still hoped to stage a repeat of last fall's Hungarian revolution, crushed by the Russian army.

Biszku's speech—in which he also asserted that about 40 espionage and subversive groups had been smashed—confirmed recent reports of a big new wave of arrests in Hungary. Some estimates claimed these exceeded 500.

Biszku said the still-seething revolt in Hungary was "being fed anew by hostile elements who calculated that they would have a better chance as a result of the recent changes in the Soviet Communist party leadership, believing it would result in greater liberalization in Hungary."

Team of Two Share $100 Prize; Catch Mystery Shopping Lady

It took only one hour for two astute young men to find the "mystery woman" shopper Wednesday.

She is petite Mrs. F. R. Moore, 2386 Queenswood Drive. The lucky fellows who will split the $100 reward money are Neville Howard, 17, 252 Ontario, and Jerry Walter, 20, 1637 Earle.

The young men made a concerted effort to locate the "mystery woman" because "of the money involved," and went about it systematically.

They had these clues: She was small and dark, wore a small hat, walked briskly and stopped often to look in store windows. Did not wear glasses or earrings, or a earring on fine days. It was a fine day for "Nev" and Jerry. Working together, they spotted Mrs. Moore outside the old Times building, Broad and Fort, and followed her quietly down to Government Street where she entered the Persian Arts shop.

"Are you the six-day shopping week mystery woman," asked Jerry.

That was it. She was. Mrs. Moore had ranged the

New Immigration High Established in Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—More immigrants arrived in Canada in the first half of 1957 than in any corresponding period in the last 44 years.

Latest estimates available here place arrivals in the January-June period at 175,000, compared with 69,924 in the first half of 1956 and 164,857 for all of last year. The six-month figure is the biggest half-year total since 1913 when some 225,000 arrived.

By the end of 1957 the flow of immigrants is expected to reach between 265,000 and 275,000, a rate exceeded only five times since the turn of the century.

The biggest group of immigrants in the first six months of 1957 were from the British Isles. They totalled 72,000, as against 22,428 in the corresponding period last year and 50,563 for all of 1956.

British arrivals by the end of the year likely will total between 85,000 and 90,000. The record was 157,000 in 1913.

Hungarian refugees have played a major role in boosting 1957 figures. Some 5,000 landed last November and December and 28,000 since Jan. 1 for a total of 33,000 at July 19.

By mid-August it is anticipated that about 35,000 Hungarian refugees will enter as immigrants.

Former immigration minister Pickersgill said the Liberal government would accept at least 28,000 Hungarian refugees. However at the same time he said no ceiling would be placed on arrivals.

The new Progressive Conservative government has not yet announced what policy it will follow on Hungarian refugees.

If total immigration in 1957 reaches between 265,000 and 275,000, it will be the largest number in any one year since 1913 when a record 400,870 came to Canada.

The Big Spread

THE DIEFENBAKER GOVERNMENT is said to be planning a study of the wide spread between the price paid to the farmer for his crop and the price paid for it by the consumer.

Most consumers will hope that the Government goes ahead with this inquiry. For the spread is very large and apparently it is still growing.

The last official figures, for May, showed that retail food prices were chiefly responsible for pushing the cost-of-living index up to a new peak of 121.6 points. But in that same month the prices paid to farmers declined from 208.4 to 207.3.

The farmer was getting less. The housewife was paying more.

To most city people it must seem extraordinary that vegetables and meats worth relatively little at the farm are so expensive in the stores but there is, of course, a reason for this margin.

Every item in the cost of getting the food from the soil to the table has gone up and is still going up by the familiar process known as inflation.

It costs more to transport farm products by train and truck because the costs of railway and truck operations—mainly wages—are up. It costs more to retail these things because the operating expenses of retail stores are up for the same reasons. It costs more to deliver them.

In fact, throughout America it is generally true that urban wages have advanced and farmers' wages have declined, relative to their costs of production. And the farmer, of course, being himself a consumer of urban goods, must pay higher prices for nearly everything he buys.

If the spread between the soil and the dinner table must inevitably be large, is it unnecessarily large? Is the huge and complex industry which transports, packages and distributes food as efficient and economical as it could be? Is the housewife demanding too much service, too costly packaging?

Apart from the general process of inflation which threatens everybody, in every nation, is there anything that can be done to reduce the price margin between the farm and the home?

If the Government can give us a factual answer to that question, which affects every family in the nation, its time will not be wasted.

The Secretary General

AS SECRETARY GENERAL OF the United Nations Mr. Dag Hammarskjöld, is one of the most important and influential men in the world; also one of the most controversial.

In the Suez crisis he received the strong support of the United States but earned the distrust of Britain and France. As his term of office will end next spring, unless it is renewed, the position of Secretary General already is under anxious discussion in the foreign offices of the great powers.

The United States has lately informed the French Government, and no doubt other friendly governments, that it will support the reelection of Mr. Hammarskjöld to another term of office.

He recently visited Paris where, despite its doubts about his record, the French Government entertained him with every mark of respect. The Russian Government is said to favor his re-election.

As is natural in such a delicate position, the Secretary General has antagonized some powerful states but where can they find a better alternative? If they do find such a man how can they expect the Russians to accept him? And this choice is subject to Russian veto in the Security Council.

The New York Times reports that Mr. Lester Pearson might be "a possibility" since he enjoys general respect in the Assembly. But the Assembly can consider only candidates recommended by the Security Council and the Russians blocked Mr. Pearson's candidacy both in 1946 and 1953. (This, ironically enough, is the statesman sometimes accused by a few American politicians of being "soft" toward Communism.)

The Russians undoubtedly would veto Mr. Pearson again but these speculations are irrelevant in any case. Mr. Pearson has a big job ahead of him in Canada. His future seems to be committed, and we trust it is, to Canadian politics where he can play a major and decisive role as prospective leader of the Liberal Party and alternative prime minister.

Some of the great powers may not like Mr. Hammarskjöld—no man in his position can hope to please both sides in the world struggle—but it appears probable that he will have more support than any other candidate and will be re-elected.

Biggest Headache

WHAT REUTERS NEWS Agency calls "the biggest headache since the Suez Canal crisis" now afflicts the British Government.

Rising prices, the consequent problem of the exporter, and lately the anger of the housewife have created a combined economic and political issue of first magnitude.

Britain, in short, seems to have realized that inflation has not been cured, is getting worse, and threatens to eat away the substance of the nation's prosperity.

The more sensational newspapers say that the cabinet is split on fiscal policies. Even the sober London Times reports that Conservative supporters in Parliament "are in a critical and apprehensive mood." The Labor Party is using inflation as a convenient weapon against the Government, though the only remedy it can propose is a return to direct price controls which must involve wage controls.

The same sort of debate is under way in the United States Congress where the Senate Banking Committee has been making an intensive study of the American economy's long-run prospects. The Washington correspondents agree that, apart from the problem of world peace, inflation has become the primary concern of the Government.

In Canada (where prices have advanced more rapidly than in the United States during the last decade) there has been a pause in the argument about inflation as a new Government prepares to launch a new financial policy.

But when inflation is so gravely alarming our friends abroad, when our own prices are still going up and our savings down, we may be sure that inflation will soon become the number one item in the agenda of politics.

The great national debate now ahead of us should have been conducted during the election campaign so that the public could have grasped the views of the contending parties. Unfortunately, the Government failed to explain its policy and the Opposition therefore contented itself with generalities. The opportunity to clarify a fundamental question affecting every Canadian household was lost.

There will be another opportunity, however, when Parliament meets and again when the Diefenbaker Government goes to the country. By that time the Government's policy no doubt will be clear and the public can vote intelligently on it.

What's Going on in Esquimalt?

THE PUBLIC HAS BEEN shocked by reports that a youth—formerly a student at Esquimalt High School—menaced a teacher with a broken bottle and a threat against the teacher's life. If true, it is a serious charge.

So far there seems to have been a vast amount of talk about the incident and virtually no action. The public wonders why.

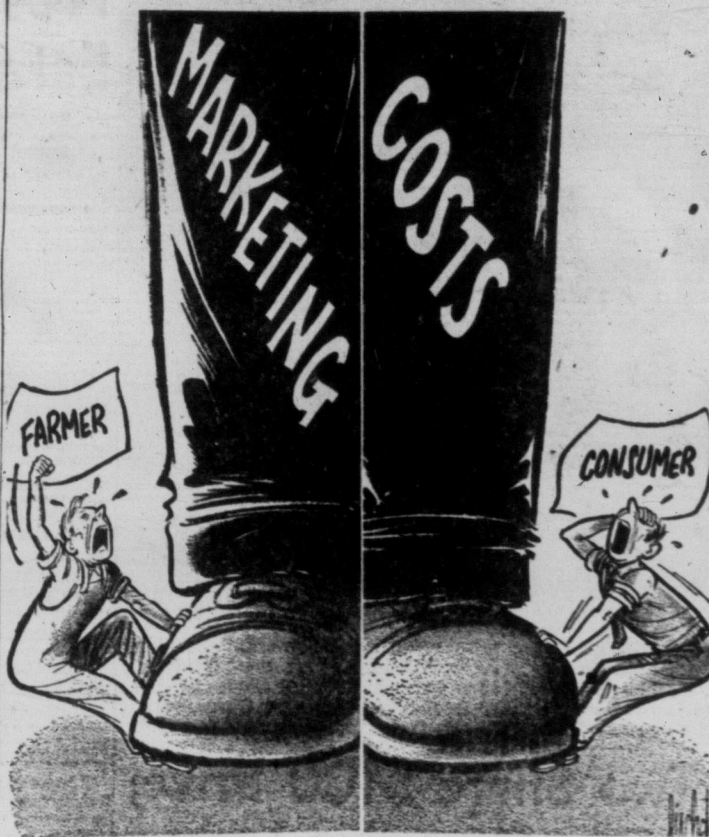

What is happening in Esquimalt? Are the facts given to the newspapers wrong, or don't the Esquimalt police prosecute when an alleged criminal act is committed against a teacher by a former school boy?

Secret discussion of the incident by the police commission does nothing to increase public confidence in the police. Unless the authorities wish, to feed suspicion and mistrust, they had better make a frank and complete statement, or by other proper means clear the air.

No fatuous statement that the incident lacked the serious implications it now has until it had been "bally-hoed" by the newspapers can answer the questions left in the public mind.

LOOSE ENDS

Horace Snifkin's Crime

IT IS ONLY fair to say at the beginning of this sorry business that Mr. Horace Snifkin did not become a criminal by intent. He was tricked into crime not by a lapse of morals but by a lapse of memory. The law, however, takes no account of these fine distinctions and Mr. Snifkin will have to face the penalties of his fatal mistake.

Hutchison

At the risk of making myself sub judice and in contempt of court, I set the pitiable record down here in full. If you have tears prepare to shed them now.

Mr. Snifkin, spending the summer on a lonely lake, went to town the other day to buy a piece of plywood and to get his orchard spraying machine fixed. Knowing that he would have to park for a few moments on the public streets, and having no money, of course, he borrowed two nickels from a generous lady in his office.

THUS equipped for the age of freedom, he set forth with a board eight feet long and four feet square, together with a spraying pipe twelve feet long, lashed to the top of his car.

He had not gone far before the load became dislodged, fell in front of the windshield, obscured the driver's vision and threatened the safety of all traffic. Mr. Snifkin therefore parked his car, readjusted the load and entered a lunchroom for nourishment at a friend's expense. But in all this confusion he forgot to put the borrowed nickel in the meter. That was his undoing.

ON HIS return to his car he found a neat, impressive and rather terrifying communication from the Police Department. It informed him that he had broken the law and to a man who had never been convicted of any crime before this was a pretty shaking piece of intelligence.

Mr. Snifkin, a man of great courage and unswerving honor, decided to make a clean breast of it and throw himself on the mercy of the courts. He drove at once to the police station and offered to surrender.

There, for the first time, he found himself among the criminal classes. As he observed them, he realized at once how far society had sunk into the morass of crime. For to his horror he saw a long line-up of criminals all of them utterly shameless and incorrigible.

THERE they were, says Mr. Snifkin, boldly approaching the desk, paying their fines and departing without the least sign of remorse or repentance. In all those criminal faces he looked in vain for any intimation of reform.

They had committed their several crimes on the free streets of the city, they were paying the penalties out of their ill-gotten gains (probably from looted safes or midnight hold-ups. Mr. Snifkin supposed) and they were going their devious ways to repeat their assaults on society.

Being only a first offender, not a seasoned criminal, Mr. Snifkin had no money with him, except two borrowed nickels. When his turn came in the criminal line-up he offered, with shaking knees and a guilty blush, to pay the fine of one dollar by cheque. Then he learned for the first time the iron logic, the pure consistency and the beautiful impartiality of the law.

BEHIND that desk stood a young woman divinely fair and most divinely tall, a goddess of Greek profile on whom, Mr. Snifkin supposed, Pheidias must have modeled his statue of the divine Athena above the Acropolis.

How wise, how scholarly, how nicely discriminating the police must be, thought Mr. Snifkin, to choose such a sublime symbol for the majesty of the law—a living image of Justice herself with evenly-balanced scales and equal treatment for all, rich, and poor.

Behind this splendid presence several officers of the law were seated at their work, all of them keen, athletic, intelligent young men who watched Mr. Snifkin with hard, knowing eyes. They knew a criminal when they saw one.

At first Mr. Snifkin decided to flee and seek refuge in the underworld but he realized that flight was hopeless. Those sleuths would follow him to the ends of the earth. The figure of Justice would haunt him to the grave.

SO HE offered his cheque for one dollar, a perfectly good cheque negotiable at any bank, and stood waiting for the verdict of Justice and clutching the counter for support.

Well, he received the verdict and took it like a man. (On hearing his account I was very proud of my neighbor, Mr. Snifkin.)

No, said the majestic lady, a cheque could not be accepted over the counter. The law did not permit it and the law must be obeyed. As Mr. Snifkin prepared to enter the dungeons and bid the world farewell, Justice relented slightly with that mercy which is twice blessed.

If, she said, Mr. Snifkin would put his cheque in the mail it would be accepted. The law would not accept a cheque by hand from a known and respectable citizen but it would accept a cheque in an envelope from anyone.

THE wisdom of this arrangement, the perfect logic of the law, instantly appealed to Mr. Snifkin, and he slunk away and borrowed an envelope and wrote a cheque for one dollar.

Unfortunately he had no stamp and the cheque, the lady had said, must reach the police for certain next day. He therefore drove back to his camp and at the rural post office secured a stamp on credit and posted the cheque. Alas, he had missed the daily mail. So the cheque did not reach the police until after the weekend.

Mr. Snifkin is plainly guilty of contempt or other high crimes but the police need not send out an armed posse. He is waiting for punishment with resignation. I can assure the Chief of Police that Mr. Snifkin will go quietly. We shall miss him, though, in the long, grim years ahead.

Statue of Christ

For once C. B. Carlton and I agree partly. I too am against political statues for our centennial, or for that matter any useless statues.

They mean absolutely nothing, most of them. The only statue I love really so far that I have even seen, is the one of our soldier boy, in the Parliament Building grounds. This is not because I am the daughter of a soldier and military ancestors and sister of servicemen brothers now passed on, but because it is a true symbol of something worth while, and a reminder of the fact that thousands of our lads, yes, and some women fought the good fight in our past wars, which were caused by greed, graft, and wickedness of all nations.

I therefore agree with Mr. Carlton's suggestion of an illuminated statue of Christ, placed where it can be seen by all, right on our Parliament Building grounds—where it has more right to be than any statue, other than our soldier lad who fought for peace and justice, as Christ did before him.

There are many today in this world who do not believe in our God, yes, and right in this city too.

Yes, I agree that every juvenile should contribute to this statue of our Christ. There are some I know, who will, and do, think I am juvenile in my thoughts. Let them.

Not only juveniles should contribute to this statue, but all who believe in Christ. Old age pensioners who have lived through trials and sorrows, I am sure will. I am one who has her dollar waiting for this true centennial memorial. Let's start.

Correction

It has been brought to my attention that the Victoria Daily Times of Tuesday July 16, 1957, quoted from CP wire, the following—this is an excerpt from the full article:

"Mr. Whitehouse said the Federation is counting on the support of CCF leader Coldwell, whose party holds the balance of power in the new House of Commons, where the Progressive Conservative government does not command a clear majority."

"Mr. Coldwell's home province of Saskatchewan is the only one of Canada's 10 provinces whose civil servants have the right to bargain collectively. The CCF leader has advocated the same right for federal civil servants."

So that there can be no misunderstanding, I wish to say most emphatically that I never made any such statement as I am given credit for in the above quote.

The Federation has never played politics, and if our present policy is maintained, we never will play politics. On the other hand, should the question of an improved system of negotiation for Federal civil servants ever be brought to the floor of the House of Commons, the Federation would hope that all parties would support this request for this measure.

Oman--Spark Near Tinder

THERE is an obscure tribal uprising in the remote British protected Arabian Sultanate of Muscat and Oman. The Foreign Office sends into action its unique private army, the truculent scouts, while the War Office alerts the regular British troops in the area.

Alsop

And the whole ambitious structure of the new American policy in the Middle East begins to quake and tremble like a boy camper's pup tent in a high wind.

This, surely, is a fairly alarming sequel. Until very recently, all official fingers, both British and American, were rather desperately crossed. The hope was everywhere voiced that "this disorder in Oman can be locally handled"—for which read "handled by the obscure and irregular and mainly Arab truculent scouts, without the importation of regular British troops."

But that hope is all but dead, since British Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd's statement on Monday to the House of Commons, foreshadowing active British intervention in Oman. As a result, the little trouble in Oman can mean big trouble both in the Middle East and in the Anglo-American alliance. And while saying a prayer for a good outcome, it is well to understand the reasons why such small trouble may produce such big trouble.

Old-Style Outposts

In brief, the last old style British outposts in the Middle East are the Persian Gulf coast Sheikdoms and the Aden protectorate, which together comprise the whole Southern and Eastern shores of the Arabian peninsula. The two most valuable pieces of totally arid real estate in the world are the Sheikdoms of Kuwait and Qatar, with their truly fabulous oil riches, and the Sheikdom of Bahrain, while less wealthy, is also a respectable oil producer. The Sultanate of Muscat and Oman, in contrast, has not in recent memory produced anything but camels and headaches. The Sultan is one of the local claimants to the tiny oasis of Buraimi, to which Saudi Arabia has a counter-claim. The Sultan, whose capital is at Muscat, also has a rival in the person of the Imam (or Archpriest) of Oman. In both these quarrels, the Sultan has been stoutly supported by the British, who have publicly broken with Saudi Arabia over Buraimi.

This local friction had little more than local significance, until the Suez crisis forcibly propelled the reluctant American policy-makers into the midst of the mess in the Middle East. A vital part of the new and thus far successful American policy was to encourage King Saud of Death-Bed Repentance?

Councillor Passmore's comments on the press report re Reeve Ash's lone fight for a referendum on the municipal hall addition must surely amaze ratepayers who have observed this gentleman's actions in the Saanich Council.

He states, he "was quite happy that the scheme." This same councillor along with the other "Old Guard" vigorously opposed the reeves' fight for a referendum. Now all of a sudden "he is quite happy." Does he think people are so stupid as to believe this? It is perhaps more to the point to say that the "Old Guard" have found out the feelings of the ratepayers on this matter.

It surely is a death-bed repentance. Councillor Passmore's apologetic and illogical explanation that the municipal hall committee (he is not a member of this committee, but seems to be the spokesman) had gone ahead with working drawings and specifications, "to find out an accurate estimate," is so much eyewash. He knows, or should have known, that sketch drawings will give him as complete an estimate as anyone could ever hope for under the circumstances. Incidentally, the "Old Guard" were so bent on getting an estimate that they did not even bother to find out what the architect's fees would be. This, by their own admission.

Mr. Editor, Councillor Passmore and other councillors instead of trying to justify another costly mistake should have the intestinal fortitude to admit their error pointed out to them by Reeve Ash.

This is just another good reason why all taxpayers should get behind the new organization calling itself "The December 12th Group." We certainly need this organization.

Eating the Dust

For many years tourists, and natives alike, have found their way to the East Sooke Road, which partly girdles that lovely body of salt water known as the Sooke Basin. The road offers a grand view of the Strait of Juan de Fuca as a reward for the venture.

Many times has this writer been stopped and asked if the district was "out of bounds" for the public works department patronage, or if perhaps we were tax delinquents, and thus being penalized by having to eat both our own dust and that of others, through the now busy traffic.

After driving on the west side of the basin and finding all the by-ways nicely oiled, and the wayside free from dust, one is forced to wonder why the discrimination? Considering the outstanding wealth of the province, as asserted by our finance minister, surely a little of such magnificence could be spared to oil, and lay the dust on the road, for quite a large number of steady—but weary—taxpayers, who are growing tired of both paying and "praying" for what is their just due.

The public works department can easily find the road on the map, it is the very, very old original, and therefore worthy of their attention—but now.

Can't Let Friend Down

Both efforts came to nothing for three reasons. First, the British said they "could not let down a friend," and as the sole Arab leader who publicly endorsed the Suez venture, the Sultan of Muscat and Oman certainly comes under that heading. Second, the British said that if they showed weakness anywhere on the Gulf Coast, their good faith would be questioned everywhere—meaning in the really important Sheikdoms of Kuwait, Qatar and Bahrain.

Third, some of the British did not say but certainly felt that they could not trust either the United States or Saudi Arabia. Thus they also felt they must stand firm now, lest U.S.-linked King Saud later reach out his hand for their oil interests on the Arabian Coast.

The British intransigence over Buraimi gave a golden chance to the Egyptians and the many powerful advisers of King Saud who bitterly opposed his break with Gamal Abdel Nasser. The tribes of Oman have therefore been paid to rise against the Sultan, in favor of the exiled Oman. The real aim is to inflame the row between King Saud and the British; to force the British into overt "imperialist" action which will inflame the whole Arab world; and so to cause a break between King Saud and United States.

Still Grave

Fortunately, the British seem to be handling the ugly little crisis with great sobriety. But the danger is still grave that the new American Middle Eastern policy will be defeated by the outbreak of trouble between King Saud and a third party, in this case the British. And this will in turn help to suggest the explosive possibilities of the Gulf of Aqaba, where the Egyptians are encouraging another Saudi-third party fight, in this case with the Israelis, which will again embroil the United States.

Motor-Boating Fine Pastime But Many Factors Need Thought

Crowded highways, longer leisure hours, and unparalleled opportunity have combined to make boating one of the most popular and fast-growing activities in the Greater Victoria area.

By DAVE ANGUS

To the new and uninitiated planning to go out boating, one of the first questions seems to be: "What is it going to cost?"

That is determined by such factors as how you plan to use the boat, and whether you are interested in sport fishing, cruising, water skiing, or just running about.

One must also consider size, power intended, whether it will be moored or trailer-borne, and accessories such as cushions, mooring lines, and fire extinguishers.

Also to be considered are insurance, moorage costs, and perhaps membership dues in an outboating or yachting club, but the main components are boat, motor, trailer, and accessories.

Boats range in size from tiny prams of six to seven feet to stately cruisers and are available in fiberglass, moulded plywood, strip cedar, metal or sheet ply, canvas over cedar, fiberglass over plywood, and other combinations.

Fiberglass is the most expensive, with prices ranging from $180 to $475 in the eight to 11-foot class, $350 to $1,100 from 12 to 14 feet, $800 for 15 to 18 feet, and $2,000 to $6,000 in the 19 to 22-foot bracket.

WIDE PRICE RANGE

Motors range from 1½ to 60 horsepower, and can be used in pairs. Victoria prices for new motors range from $125 to over $1,000 for the larger types with electric starting and generator equipment.

Choice of a motor follows choice of a boat, since one must consider the boat builder's recommendations. Conversely, when one is interested in a certain motor that will deliver a certain speed or accomplish a certain task, then a boat is found that will carry it safely.

Trailers vary in price according to capacity and special equipment such as winches, cable, tiedown kits, and tail light installations. Smaller trailers with capacities up to 300 pounds are available for $150, but as capacities increase, so do the prices. An additional accessory, a tilting cradle for easy loading, costs an additional $40.

Boat accessories can cost as much as $300. They vary according to boat size, but one must take into consideration the cost of steering gear, remote controls, boat hardware, windshield and a canvas cover.

INSURANCE VITAL

Insurance coverage is vital, particularly when the outfit represents a major investment. Rates vary according to coverage, and one must be careful not to be penny wise and pound foolish. If a trailer is to be used, make certain that it will not void the automobile insurance.

Operating expenses involve fuel cost, mooring fees, boatyard servicing and painting and winter storage. However, if one is careful to stay within the summer pleasure budget, the boat will give the greatest return of any investment—care-free hours on the water.

3¼-Pound Bass Wins Child's Fish Derby

Fishing just for fun, Ken Smith, 13, of 1812 Fairfield, hooked a 3¼-pound bass Wednesday afternoon to win top honors in the city playground fishing derby off the breakwater.

More than 500 young fishermen cast for prizes in the annual derby, sponsored by the T. Eaton Co.

Egyptian Plot To Aid Hitler Bared in Book

NEW YORK (UP)—Egyptian efforts to help Hitler win the Second World War and to halt America's "imperialist economy" in the Middle East are related in a book, Revolt on the Nile, published here yesterday.

The author is Col. Anwar El Sadat, one of Gamal Abdel Nasser's "young officer" revolutionary group.

Much of the book is devoted to secret efforts by the young officers to help the German war effort as well as to overthrow King Farouk. Of one unsuccessful effort, Sadat wrote:

"I still think that if ill luck had not so dogged our enterprise, we might have struck a quick blow at the British, joined forces with the Axis and changed the course of events."

"The imperialist economy of the United States came to the assistance of European imperialism in Palestine... American ambitions had been roused by the war... they set up the state of Israel in the hope of gaining a foothold in the Middle East, astride one of the world's trade routes, where they could keep an eye on the Russian colossus..."

Other winners were Peter Wakeman, third; Jack Pepper, fourth; Marilyn Fieldhouse, fifth, and Joanne Halfhide, sixth.

Largest fish of the day, a 100-pound skate, was disqualified. It was caught by Jack Firkins, 15, of 151 Linden, outside the legal derby limits.

TENNIS NEXT

More than 45 entries have been received for the annual playground tennis tournament which opens on Central Park Courts Monday at 1:30 p.m. Matches will commence daily at 1:30 and finals will be held next Wednesday or Thursday. Trophies and prizes will be awarded by the T. Eaton Co.

Annual field day for all children attending city playgrounds will be held at Central Park Friday, Aug. 2. Track and field and novelty events, including a boxing card matching boys from all parts of the city, will begin at 1:30 p.m.

COMPENSATION COVERS SORE BUS DRIVER LEGS

Extension of the list of diseases covered by the Workmen's Compensation Act to take in an occupational ailment of trolley-bus drivers was announced Wednesday by Labor Minister Wicks.

By constant movement of their right leg on the big acceleration pedal, trolley-bus drivers often suffer an inflammation of the leg tendons.

For that reason the compensation board now recognizes "tendonitis" as a compensatory disease. A similar, but not as extensive category, "tenosynovitis," has been on the schedule since 1942 covering inflammation of arm and leg tendon sheaths.

Film Beauties Beat A Path to His Door

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Peter Gowland earns $40,000 a year snapping sexy pictures of scantily-clad movie beauties in his living room.

Now, men, doesn't that sound like an ideal way to earn a living? "It certainly is," confirms Gowland, "and my wife thinks so, too."

PLAIN BUSINESS

However, Gowland says taking glamour pictures is business, strictly business.

But what a business! During the last 10 years, Gowland, 41, has built a reputation as one of Hollywood's best photographers of glamour and sex. Result: The loveliest ladies in movieland, both famed and unknown, beat a path to his door.

The door is on a modern studio.

(A) "A FACE IN THE CROWD" (Royal) — As entertainment Warner Brothers' "A Face in the Crowd" is a solid hit.

But, as a story to be believed, it is something else again. Between them, the brilliant directing-writing team of Elia Kazan and Budd Schulberg, who gave the world the Academy-award winning "On the Waterfront," simply took their character up above the ionosphere of credibility.

It starts off well enough. Guitar-strumming drifter Lonesome Rhodes is lifted from jail for a rural radio program. He makes a hit and then goes on Memphis television and there to big-time TV and the boisterous admen of Madison Avenue.

As the hillbilly Andy Griffiths is top-drawer. But like the plot he is top-drawer only half the way. The reason for this, one would suggest, is that for that part of the film where he rises to TV stardom on the wave of mass hysteria of the "great American public" he believes his role. But when he is called upon to transform himself into an egomaniac, obsessed with power and his own destiny to become a member of the U.S. Federal cabinet, it can be seen plainly that he doesn't believe the story himself.

IT MAY WELL be that Griffiths will be nominated for an Academy for his part in "A Face in the Crowd," but it will be a crying shame if Patricia Neal is overlooked. As the girl who watches horrified, and shamelessly in love, as the star she has created becomes a monster of Frankensteinian proportions, she is easily the best of the cast. Nor can Anthony Franciosa be overlooked as the opportunist office boy.

Not in a long time has sex been treated with such frankness as one learns that blushing yokel Lonesome, has been as lonesome for feminine company as Solomon. There was a wife he forgot to divorce. There is Miss Neal, who keeps him from returning to the country after he has lost his first sponsor by a feminine device, and

ROSSSELLINI MEETS BEAUTY BEFORE LEAVING

BOMBAY (AP)—Roberto Rossellini left by plane for New Delhi Wednesday night amid speculation that he may go on from there to Europe.

The Italian film director flew here Sunday and it is reported he was met at the airport by Sonali Dhas Gupta, Indian script writer who left her husband and two children to work with Rossellini on Indian documentary films.

The reports said Sonali waited in a car and when Rossellini arrived they shook hands and drove off to their separate apartments in the city. It was the first time the two had been seen together in a public place.

Sonali was not at the airport when Rossellini, the husband of actress Ingrid Bergman, took off for Delhi.

Meanwhile, Sonali's husband was reported by a close friend to be planning to move from Bombay to Calcutta because he is embarrassed by his wife's desertion and by newspaper reports linking Sonali and Rossellini romantically.

Dr. Sheppard's Lawyer to Probe 'Confession'

DELAND, Fla. (UP)—An attorney for Dr. Sam Sheppard said Wednesday he would come here and investigate the "confession" of a convict who said he might have killed Sheppard's wife, a crime for which the doctor is serving a life term.

Attorney William J. Corrigan said that the story told by Donald J. Wedler, 23, in jail here, fits his theory of the crime—that Marilyn Sheppard was beaten to death by a drifter who broke into the Sheppard's Bay Village, Ohio, home on July 4, 1954.

Wedler's story was termed "phony" by Cleveland authorities.

A merchant seaman who had planned to fly here to confront Wedler called off temporarily his trip. But the seaman, Ernest J. Kolofolias, 32, now in Waterloo, Iowa, stuck fast to his identification of Wedler as a suspicious motorist who gave him a ride near the murder scene some 24 hours after the slaying.

Israel 'Sold' On Merchant Of Venice

LONDON (Reuters)—The state of Israel does not object to Shakespeare's The Merchant of Venice.

sometimes criticized as anti-semitic, the chairman of the Old Vic Trust said today.

Sir Bronson Albery, chairman of the Old Vic company, said in a letter to the London Daily Express that the cultural attaché of the Israeli Embassy approached the Old Vic to see whether the play could be performed in Tel Aviv.

The Old Vic company will produce The Merchant in Lebanon during a cultural festival. Albery said it "unfortunately was not possible" to extend the Old Vic tour to Tel Aviv.

Answering criticisms that the story of Shylock, a Jewish money lender, should not be produced in the Lebanon, Albery said: "Shakespeare is not explosive."

MONTE ROBERTS

I hope and trust this does not lose me any friends or influence reprisals... but I just can't resist it.

There arrived at the Times office yesterday morning an interesting bit of mail from Comox.

This bit of mail from Comox consisted of a photograph, and a few words of explanation from the RCAF.

The photograph was of the Japanese barque Nippon Maru, and showed same under full sail.

The few words of explanation said a routine air patrol had spotted the four-master, "somewhere off the West Coast of Vancouver Island," and hoped the Times would be interested in the photo.

As a sailing ship of that size is a rarity these days, the Times was indeed happy to receive the photo, and is duly grateful to the RCAF (see page 25, yesterday's issue.)

However, there was a detail missing.

The Nippon Maru was known, by reputation, but no person around the office was sure whether she is a merchant navy craft, or a service navy craft.

So it fell to my lot to find out.

My first thought was to telephone the Royal Canadian Navy, which I did.

And I asked the information officer if he would be so kind as to slide down below and ask the intelligence officer to tell all he knew about the Nippon Maru, including what she was doing in our coastal waters, where bound, and so on.

The ever-obliging officer said, why, sure, he would be happy to. Call you back in a couple of minutes, said the information officer.

Well, about 15 minutes later the telephone rang, and a familiar voice said hello at me.

I said hello at the familiar voice.

"Do you know anything about a Japanese sailing ship off the west coast?" asked the familiar voice.

I allowed as how I'd heard a little about the matter, and told the familiar voice all I knew about the Nippon Maru.

After all, why shouldn't I? The familiar voice belonged to B.C. Pilotage.

"By the way," I enquired of the familiar voice, "why do you ask?"

"Oh," said B.C. Pilotage, "Naval intelligence phoned and..."

I guess I would spoil a good story if I told you what happened when naval intelligence phoned me to tell me what naval intelligence had learned, wouldn't I?

But I DO hope I haven't lost too many friends or influenced too many reprisals.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Friday in Beacon Hill Park.

Performing will be the Mount View High School folk dancing group, a Swiss accordion team of "Fred and Hans," and Mrs. Christina Roffler, a yodler who has made recordings in Switzerland.

Film shown will deal with the beautiful mountainous country.

Naval authorities have requested city police for any information known of whereabouts of PO Roy Bernard Drysdale, 34, Vancouver, up to the time he was killed early July 13 near Langford.

The naval recruiting officer's truck, painted blue and bearing naval insignia, crashed into a rock face off the highway as he headed for Vancouver.

A Mungo Martin-carved Kwakiutl totem pole, 40 feet high, was loaded on a trailer truck at Kelvin and Douglas, Wednesday, in preparation for shipment to the border at Blaine for erection at the International Peace Arch.

Oak Bay council will consider a suggestion by the municipal board of trade that a centennial outdoor theatre be built in Oak Bay.

Board secretary, John Welcker, said the theatre could be erected in Uplands Park near the Beach Drive war memorial. It could be built, he said, with centennial funds.

Arriving in Victoria next Thursday for a three-day convention of the International Northwest Parks Association, will be officials from between 100 and 150 parks in Oregon, Washington, Alberta and B.C.

Included in the convention program are tours of the city and parks, talks by authorities on park problems and a visit to Butchart Gardens.

Recreation and Conservation Minister Earle C. Westwood will speak at a luncheon August 2, while Major H. C. Holmes, chairman of the Victoria Town Planning Commission, will be the speaker at a banquet that evening.

Seven lots in the new Veterans' Land Act subdivision at Royal Oak remain to be sold according to George Chatterton, divisional VLA director.

A special VLA board Tuesday and Wednesday sold 28 of the 38 lots. Prices ranged from $800 to $2,300.

Victoria's sub post office Number One at the Junction Pharmacy, 1541 Fort, closed this week. Nearest other sub post office is located at the Jubilee Pharmacy, 1775 Fort.

Elected to the council of the College of Dental Surgeons of British Columbia at their annual meeting in Vancouver was Dr. M. J. T. Dohan, 37 Beach Drive.

Dr. C. M. Whitworth and Dr. C. R. Hallman, both of Vancouver, were elected president and vice-president, respectively.

FOR 'EPIC SWIM'

Victoria's gift to Toronto's Cliff Lumsden, first swimmer to conquer the Strait of Juan de Fuca from Victoria to Port Angeles, is on display at Woodwards Stores Ltd. Each plate of the 41-piece Minton bone china dinner-service in Lady Devonish pattern is engraved "in recognition of his epic swim..." One special plate is centred with Victoria's coat-of-arms. Sample plate is shown above by Woodward's employee, Mrs. Jackie Giles.

CIVIL SERVICE COFFEE BREAKS TO BE CHECKED

The government's drive to make the civil service more efficient has been extended to coffee breaks.

In future, employees in the main legislative building won't be able to duck over to the Douglas Building cafeteria for a pick-me-up.

The government feels that too much time is taken up travelling back and forth across Government Street.

The unofficial word was passed around Wednesday, to be backed up soon by an official order which is also expected to apply to other government offices on Superior and Menzies Streets.

It is believed that "coffee carts" or vending machines will be adopted.

In another efficiency move Wednesday, the government decreed that all government employees will take lunch between 12 noon and 1:10 p.m., and offices shall be closed during that period except for special services.

NO INSPECTION

Pensioner 'Boarding' Protested

A protest against the practice of the city social welfare department of placing pensioners in private unlicensed "nursing" homes, today was received by the city from the Victoria branch, B.C. Rest Home Association.

Mary Brishin, president, said all rest and nursing homes should be properly inspected and licensed before pensioners are placed in them.

She noted that at present there are several places advertised as rest and nursing homes which were really only rooming houses.

"We realize that there is an increasing demand for homes for elderly people," she said, "but our protest is that these homes should be properly inspected and licensed."

City welfare officials said that due to the lack of accommodation they have been forced to place pensioners in private homes. These private homes were inspected, they said.

NEW MATRON of the Veterans' Hospital here is Miss Ruth Cowper, BA, RN, whose last appointment was with the Westminster Veterans' Hospital in London, Ont. Member of the department of veterans' affairs since 1947, Miss Cowper is a graduate of the Ottawa Civic Hospital School and the University of Toronto. She replaces Miss J. D. Roberts, who retired from the post in May. Times photo.

B.C. Teacher Shortages to Ease

Because of the new College of Education at University of British Columbia, never again will the same teacher shortages in B.C. be experienced as in past years, Dean Neville Scarfe, UBC education faculty, said here today.

Addressing the Victoria College summer session, he said the UBC college would raise the status of the teaching profession and "will go a long way towards solving the problem of shortages."

But so far, not enough persons were entering the college, despite stimulation of young people to enter the profession. Dean Scarfe was optimistic, however, regarding the future as more persons are attracted to the profession with salary increases, following on broadened teacher education.

"No longer, therefore, will teachers be trained in a few techniques... they will be cultured, thoughtful, knowledgeable persons who can hold their heads high in any society and will be leaders of thought wherever they go."

One of the problems is to retain teachers. This can be helped by providing extra courses which builds the feeling of confidence in teachers.

"People do not normally leave a profession in which they feel really happy and confident, merely for money."

He said happiness always made for a fine teaching situation, as few children learn readily from unhappy, insecure or incompetent teachers.

About 30 off-campus courses will be available for trainees this winter throughout the province, he said.

"It is not easy to get enough of the right kind of people. It is not easy to train them. We hope, however, that our present set-up will provide for the needs of the province in future," both in quantity and quality.

Year in Prison For City Sailor

A 24-year-old sailor was sentenced in city police court today to one year definite and a year less one day indefinite for the robbery with violence of an Esquimalt man July 8.

Paul G. Cook had pleaded guilty to the charge laid on complaint of Donald William Carson, 37, 618 Grenville, and was remanded to today for a probation report.

Magistrate H. C. Hall ordered the sentence to be served in Oakalla Prison young offender's unit.

Another man, Donald Quate, 130 Linden, also is charged with robbery with violence and elected trial by judge and jury.

HEARING ADJOURNED

His preliminary hearing Wednesday was adjourned to Aug. 1 for decision.

A third young man, Douglas Cameron, 805 Intervale, originally charged with robbery with violence, later pleaded guilty to being in possession of money known to be stolen after the first charge was withdrawn.

Cameron was remanded to Saturday for a probation report.

Charges were laid after Carson complained of being beaten and robbed of his car and wallet containing $110 after giving three young men a ride to department of transport wharf on Harbor Road the night of July 8.

His car was located next morning by Esquimalt police on the grounds of Lampson Street School.

WALLET EMPTIED

A search of the area on Harbor Road turned up Carson's wallet, papers and identification intact, but with no money.

Carson required hospital treatment for abrasions and a deep cut under the right eye.

MAGISTRATE REGRETS

"It is a matter of regret," said Magistrate Hall, "that a young man like you, doing so well in the service, should be charged with so serious an offence. I must treat it on that basis."

"You are a young man and I think there are contributing factors... Partly... Carson left himself open to it."

ALISTAIR FRASER

B.C. Liberals Name Chief Organizer

Appointment of Alistair Fraser of Victoria as chief organizer of the Liberal party in B.C. was announced today by Senator Sydney Smith, president of the B.C. Liberal Association.

Named associate organizer is Jock Ross of Vancouver, who for the past 18 months has been executive secretary to former defence minister Ralph Campney.

"With provincial by-elections and a federal election in the offing, we have been working intensively for some weeks," Senator Smith said. "The new appointments are the forerunner of a complete overhaul of our organizing system."

Mr. Fraser makes his first address in his new capacity at Liberal headquarters in Victoria tonight at 8.

Joseph Siscoe testified before coroner Dr. E. C. Hart that he was travelling north at "between 30 and 40 mph" when passed by the RCN vehicle, which then skidded back and forth, left the road, hit an outcropping of rock, and threw the driver out into the ditch.

"I assume he was travelling at least twice my speed... 70 or 80 mph."

Lieut. G. W. Tanner, RCN, said Drysdale was engaged in recruiting duties and "it was presumed he was on duties pertaining to that" when the fatality occurred.

Lieut. Tanner, who had on occasion travelled with the victim in relation to recruiting, said he had always found Drysdale "a careful driver."

But he added the navy had no "good reason" why Drysdale was travelling at that time.

It had been assumed the petty officer was en route home to Vancouver with the vehicle, to see his wife there.

Constable F. C. W. Minty, RCMP, Colwood, who attended the accident scene, said death was apparently caused when the driver was thrown from the vehicle on impact and hit his head against the rock.

WORKING WITH 8,000 MEN, WORLD-WIDE TEAM

Researchers Here Probe Magnetic Mysteries

BY MONTE ROBERTS
You don't have to know what you are looking for in order to find it.

This (to the layman) appears to be the working philosophy of the Pacific Naval Laboratory research team participating in the current International Geophysical Year.

The four men are:

P. W. Naysmith, chief of the PNL's seaward defence section; Sir Charles Wright, ex-Royal Navy scientist, out of retirement for this project; John Duffus, IGY project chief, and scientist Arthur J. Shand.

Each will admit, cheerfully, he doesn't know exactly what the team is searching for, or whether it will be found, or if it is found, of how much value it will be.

It appears this is the essence of free research; to probe, investigate, compile, correlate.

From it, sometime, somewhere, somehow, something of use may develop.

The current International

Geophysical Year began in June, will carry on through December, 1958. The 8,000 scientists from 64 countries who are involved agreed to lengthen the "year" to 18 months.

Biggest So Far

This is third IGY scientists have observed. In many ways, it is the biggest, and certainly the most publicized.

Although there are some special IGY projects, most of the work going on would be carried forward, IGY or no IGY.

Says Mr. Naysmith: "It's simply a matter of doing our jobs in concert with other scientists."

An impetus to research during IGY comes in the form of alerts. For example: a researcher in Geneva sees unusual activity on the face of the sun, reports to the IGY "braintrust" in Belgium.

The "brain trust"—a six-man committee headed by secretary-general Marcel Nicolet—evaluates the information.

And then, over the meteorological communications network (the weather wire in layman's language) an alert goes out to all 64 countries.

Couched in scientific terms, the alert advises scientists to keep their eyes on old man sun, because he appears to be up to something.

So far, 55 such alerts have been received at the Pacific Naval Laboratory's Esquimalt headquarters.

The PNL's participation in IGY is termed "unofficial" by Mr. Naysmith.

Magnetic Studies

"By good fortune, we are engaged in research of a type which ties in with IGY," he explained.

The project he refers to is the study of magnetic fluctuations—the minute changes in the magnetism of the earth.

PNL is interested because it is researching the possibility of magnetic detection as a supplement to other warning devices, such as sonar and radar.

There are always magnetic properties present, in and around the earth. Any accurate detection devised based on magnetic principles would have to allow for the "normal" fluctuations.

But at the present time, there is no accurate knowledge of "normal" fluctuations. Thus the PNL team's study, through which they hope to find something—although they don't know exactly what they seek.

Their main item of equipment is a giant induction coil magnetometer installed at Albert Head. Constant recording machines are attached. From the miles of graph paper which will be used during the life of the study—at least 18 months—a pattern may emerge. Or it may not.

Focus on Ionosphere

The magnetic fluctuation study ties in with IGY because the international study is focused largely on the area of space between the ionosphere—the layer off which radio waves bounce—and the sun.

Japanese scientists have advanced the theory that fluctuations in the earth's magnetic sphere are "probably" caused by properties of matter in this unknown space between sun and ionosphere.

If so, the fluctuations would conceivably bear some relationship to other factors being studied during IGY—the envelope of air around the earth, the surface of the earth, the depths of the earth, the surface and depths of the seas upon the earth.

Extends to Soil

Later this year, the PNL team will extend its research to a study of magnetism in soil.

Meanwhile, Sir Charles Wright, who concluded a distinguished career in Britain as scientific adviser to the Admiralty during the Second World War, is carrying on a fascinating study of his own.

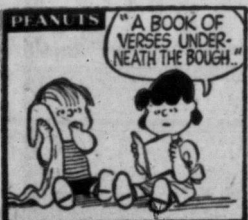

Not satisfied with the fluctuations recorded by the Albert Head magnetometer, Sir Charles is studying the "fluctuations between fluctuations."

These are caused by lightning. There is always lightning, somewhere around the globe, every minute around the clock, Sir Charles explains.

A flash in Iraq or Auckland or Rome or Moscow will make itself felt in magnetic fluctuations recorded here.

Like the other scientists, Sir Charles does not know what he is looking for.

But it is quite likely he—and the rest of the team—will find it.

Attending a civil defence course for ministers which closes today at Arm-prior, Ont., are (from left, standing) Brig. C. J. Milley, Salvation Army public relations officer, and Rev. G. L. Gillard, command padre, RCN (ret.), and (seated), Rev. J. L. W. McLean, St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, and Canon George Biddle, St. John's Anglican Church. Course started on Tuesday.

MID-AUGUST WEDDINGS

Mr. and Mrs. William Boyd, 3236 Service Street, announce the engagement of their only daughter, Christina Ramsay, to Lawrence Raymond Leach, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Leach, Lloydminster, Sask. The wedding will take place Aug. 17, at 3 p.m. in First United Church, Rev. A. I. Higgins officiating. Miss Boyd has asked Miss Heather McKinnon to be maid of honor, Miss Margaret Wilson, bridesmaid, and Miss Hazel Craig, junior bridesmaid. (Joncas Photo.)

Mr. and Mrs. A. Shewchuk, 737 Kings Road, announce the engagement of their daughter, Helen Florence, to Robert Daniel Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Green, 809 Selkirk Avenue. The wedding will take place Aug. 17 at 6:30 p.m. in St. John's Anglican Church. Miss Shewchuk has chosen Mrs. Mary Parsons as matron of honor, Miss Nettie Mitchell and Miss Sonia Molofy as bridesmaids, and Miss Dolores Parsons as flower girl. (Joncas Photo.)

Use Pinch of Exotic Tea To Flavor Ordinary Brew

By PENNY SAVER

If you'd like a change from just plain tea, why not try some golden-tipped Assam? Or lapsang Souchang? Or jasmine or Russian caravan? If you haven't tried any of the more exotic teas and aren't sure if you'd like them, then a sample packet is the answer.

The packets are beautifully done up in cellophane and gold foil, and contain enough tea for about 25 cups. They're just 25 cents each. The manager of the store where I found them recommends that you try just a pinch of a strongly flavored tea, such as jasmine, with your ordinary tea.

For gift-giving, the packets are packed four to a box, complete with a booklet giving history and details of the teas and suggestions for using them. This is $1. A box of eight packets is $2.

The same store also carries a full range of spices and herbs, from allspice to white pepper.

If you like your kitchen cupboard to be all nicely organized, you may be interested in a rubber-covered rack for dishes that lets you put the most china in the smallest space and still get it out easily.

There is a section for out-size platters, and hooks to hold 10 cups. The rack comes in white, blue or red, and costs $4.50.

"What's so difficult about doing a steak well done inside and rare on the outside? My wife does it all the time."

Couple Making Home Here After Marriage Up-Island

Mr. and Mrs. Robert John Fowler are now making their home in Victoria at 815 Walker Street, following a honeymoon trip to Banff and Calgary. They were married recently in St. Andrew's Church, Sandwick, B.C. Rev. J. J. Vanderleest officiating.

The bride is the former Iris Blodwen Rogers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Rogers, Courtenay, and her groom is son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Fowler, 3422 Bethune Avenue, Victoria. During the ceremony, the bride's brother, Fred Rogers, sang "The Lord's Prayer," and organ music was played by Mrs. B. Marriott.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a classic gown of white taffeta with chantilly lace outlining the portrait neckline and forming a bustle effect of puffed gathers below the waistline. The skirt swept into a train. Her train-length net veil fell from a pearl-embroidered coronet, and she carried a crescent bouquet of yellow roses and stephanotis.

Maid of honor was Miss Gail Long, bridesmaids were Mrs. Ray Rogers, Mrs. Fred Rogers and Mrs. Ken Kerr, and bridesmaids Miss Beverly Bell and

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Three of the Five Important C's Are Discussed Today

This week I have been telling you about courage and clothes, two of the five important C's. Today let us think of the remaining three—namely Color, Cooking and Calisthenics.

For many years artists and psychologists and cosmeticians were the only people who realized what a great impact color has on our lives and our appearance. Some colors are soothing while others are exciting, and some cosmetics flatter us while others are aging and unbecoming. One school of thought is that the effect of color on our emotions is due to the action of the color on the nerves of the eyes.

The psychological impact of color is carefully considered today in the decor of hospital and school rooms and by those who design stage sets. The smart woman in the home uses colors on the walls of her house and in the materials of decoration which are flattering to her and restful to her family.

The right shade in powder, rouge and lipstick, can make a pallid complexion bloom and a muddy skin look fairer. They can bring out the eyes or mask them, make the mouth alluring or dull.

We all know what colors can do for us when it comes to clothes! There are certain colors which always bring us compliments while there are others which do nothing for us. Use your most flattering shade often but also have variety. There are many colors you can wear. It is boring to become correlated with just one color in the minds of our friends so that they think of us as blue, yellow, black, purple, red or brown.

If you have been knocking yourself over the head with little color or the wrong ones, in either your house or your clothes or make-up, give it a thought. You can be stimulated or depressed by color and made to look and feel older or younger because of it.

Cooking is another one of the important C's. Cooking was started early in the history of man, probably by a man. No woman in her right mind would have started it. Today cooking has a new connotation. We not only strive to make food as attractive looking and as tantalizing as possible but we are interested in retaining all of its health value.

We broil and bake as much as feasible. We no longer

French Kill 80 Rebels in Algeria

ALGIERS, Algeria (Reuters)—French military sources said today their troops annihilated a Moslem nationalist band in a battle near Geryville in the Algeria-Morocco border region.

They put the casualties at 80 nationalists killed. Thirty were taken prisoner. French losses were four dead and four wounded.

African Women Stage Protest March

PIETERSBURG, South Africa (Reuters)—A crowd of 3,000 African women demonstrated here today in protest against a government move to make them carry reference books—a form of identity card.

TOKYO (Reuters)—Japanese police said today an estimated 1,000 persons are dead or missing in Kyushu, southern Japan, following torrential rains and floods.

Cairo Paper Says Israeli Confesses

CAIRO (Reuters)—The newspaper Al Akhbar says the Israeli sailor arrested aboard a Danish ship has confessed he became a member of the ship's crew on orders of Israeli intelligence officials.

Al Akhbar says the one-eyed sailor, Raffi Eylon, admitted he was an Israeli army officer.

Demand Permanent UN Armed Force

NEW YORK (Reuters)—H. S. Suhrawardy, Pakistan's prime minister, today called for the setting up of a permanent United Nations police force.

The prime minister in a broadcast over United Nations radio said: "In order to be able to reach a position where the decisions of the United Nations will be respected and carried out by all concerned, it seems necessary that there should be constituted a permanent United Nations force."

PRINCESS FRONT-PAGE NEWS

Margaret's Couture
Lifts London Brows

LONDON (UP)—A London newspaper bluntly suggested today that Princess Margaret is busting out all over—and published a bosomy photograph of her to prove it.

The plunging neckline picture and the comment in Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express was an eyebrow raiser in this country where royalty is treated with respect.

Express columnist William Hickey commented:

"The dress she wore was one of the prettiest. The hat was simple, and for the dress itself

"Well, a dress should be where it was meant to be the day it was made. Could one or two extra pounds—a few extra dishes of strawberries and cream, a few extra ice creams at parties—have given it a look that wasn't intended?"

Air Passenger
Blown To Death
In Mystery BlastAirliner Lands
As Weakened Side Caves In

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A mysterious hole was ripped in an airliner flying 10,000 feet over California's Mojave Desert today and a passenger was blown to his death. Investigators believe the man shot himself and bullet holes so weakened the plane that its side blew out. The plane landed safely. Its 12 other passengers and crew of three were unhurt.

The missing passenger was a retired San Fernando Valley jeweler who flew to Las Vegas Wednesday night and boarded the Los Angeles-bound plane this morning. He had taken out a round-trip insurance policy for $125,000, with his wife as beneficiary.

Western Airlines, operator of the twin-engine Convair 240, said S. F. Binstock, 62, of North Hollywood, went to the plane's washroom soon after it left Las Vegas at 2:50 a.m. He stayed there until the blast occurred at 3:37 a.m.

HOLES FOUND

The blast was opposite the washroom. Western said its investigators found four bullet holes in the fuselage near the edge of the four-by-seven-foot hole.

An earlier theory that an explosion charge might have been touched off was discounted. Western said, when no signs of powder burns—or any sort of a blast—were found.

Western said its theory is that the bullet holes so weakened the side of the plane that air pressure—the cabin was pressurized—blew it out.

Binstock was in the washroom so long that one passenger became alarmed and was about to call a stewardess when the plane was shaken.

The occurrence posed a mystery for hours. There are no fuel or gas lines near the washroom and the main baggage compartment is in the front of the 40-passenger ship.

U.K. to Build
'Own Type'
Atomic Sub

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain today announced determination to build her own type of nuclear-powered submarine despite information provided by the United States on the Nautilus.

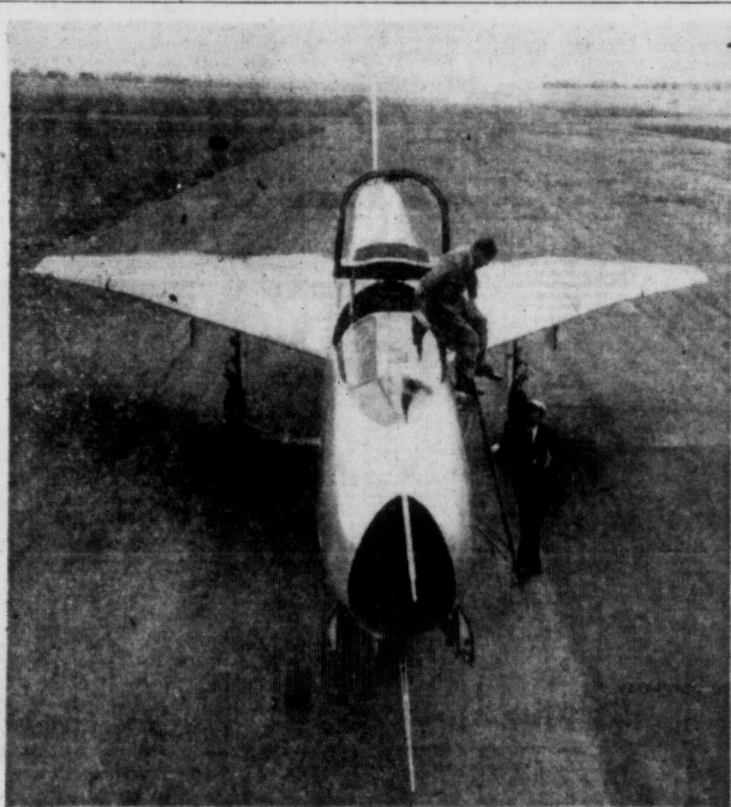

Sir Edwin Plowden, director of Britain's atomic energy organization, told a press conference that the United States had provided "a very substantial amount of information" about the Nautilus, first submarine ever to be run on nuclear power. He added, however, that Britain's decision to make a prototype still stands.

Plowden led a mission to Washington last month to arrange for the exchange of information on atomic power projects.

The Atomic Energy Authority said in its third annual report today that British atom scientists are working on three different types of atom-powered engines for ships.

Douk Mother Found Hanged
—Her Child in New Denver

KRESTOVA, B.C. (CP)—The hanging death of a Doukhobor widow is blamed by a spokesman upon the fact that her nine-year-old daughter is being detained at a New Denver special school.

Body of Mrs. Mary Gienger, 32, was found hanging from a beam in her Krestova home at 6 p.m. Wednesday.

Nearby was a letter she had just received from her daughter Patsy. It read:

"Mommy, I am lonesome for you... come and visit me. I love you. Goodbye."

When authorities arrived at the farm they were met by a gathering of bitter neighbors who charged that the government's policy of enforced education for Doukhobor children had caused the death.

New Move to Prevent Nurses' Strike Fails.

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Evelyn E. Hoed, personnel director for the Registered Nurses' Association, rejected the offer and indicated the Hospital here ended in failure today when the latest offer by the hospital board was turned down.

The hospital offer was a $10-a-month increase from the current $240, retroactive to Jan. 1. The board had recommended a $10-a-month increase from the current $240 a month. Miss Hood said also that the this year, plus five increases of association would not extend $10 a month each over the next five years, starting in 1958.

The board had recommended that nurses wages be increased a month from $240 to $250. Miss Hood said also that the this year, plus five increases of association would not extend $10 a month each over the next five years, starting in 1958.

Britain Acts
To Help Friend
Declares Lloyd

LONDON (UP)—Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd announced today Britain is sending "necessary forces" into the Middle East to help crush a revolt against the British-supported Sultan of Muscat and Oman.

Lloyd told parliament that British warplanes already have attacked "military targets" in the area held by rebels in the Persian Gulf sultanate.

"These are limited operations," he said. "The necessary forces are being placed at the disposal of the local military commanders as they are required."

Lloyd said Britain is acting out of friendship for the sultan, who is battling "holy warriors" led by the Imam of Oman, rather than in fulfillment of any special guarantee.

NO TREATY

"There is no specific treaty obligation that Britain should interfere in the internal affairs of Oman," he said.

"On the other hand, we have quoted more than one precedent where the (British) government has in the past acted at the invitation of a friendly ruler to help him preserve law and order in his domain."

"That's what we are doing now."

He described Sultan Said Bin Taimur as "a firm friend of Britain... Whose sovereignty is acknowledged."

BEVAN SCORES MOVE

Lloyd spoke in reply to an attack by leftwing Laborite Aneurin Bevan, who had charged that British air attacks on rebel strongholds merely "displace innocent rocks and sand from one place to another and destroy mud walls."

Bevan said the government is "not entitled to use the lives of British servicemen" merely to help its friends.

He took note of the furnace heat prevailing in Muscat and Oman, which ranges up to as much as 130 degrees in summer. Meanwhile at Oman, Royal Air Force jets struck with rockets and cannonfire at the deserted rebel fortress at Nizwa, nerve centre of the tribal rebellion.

Other RAF planes from Bahrain and Aden blasted rebel concentrations in the mountainous hinterland in the second day of air strikes.

Crackdown Threat
On U.K. Strikers

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Macmillan today threatened government action to halt the worst wave of strike violence in Britain in 30 years.

Even as striking fruit handlers battled police in London's produce markets, Macmillan told the Commons:

"I must make it clear that no strike will be condoned by all the government are determined to see that law and order are maintained."

The prime minister's statement was cheered by both Conservatives and the opposition, this week—Macmillan said, the Labor party leader Hugh Gaitskell also deplored the use of violence in labor disputes.

Gaitskell said he was glad to hear Macmillan stressed that the violence came from "a tiny minority."

Macmillan had said: "I am sure that violence, which has been the work of a small minority, will be brought to an end."

Asked about the current strikes of fruit handlers and of provincial bus workers—both of which have seen violence since the week—Macmillan said, the law permitted peaceful picketing "but intimidation in any shape or form is illegal."

Conservative member Walter Davenport said the outbreak of violence is "threatening a breakdown of law and order."

Strikers set fire to trucks, cut cables and beat up a policeman, Davenport said.

Diefenbaker, Dulles Talks
Centre on Canadian Dollar

OTTAWA (BUP)—The trade problems caused by the record high premium on the Canadian dollar may play a key role in weekend talks between Prime Minister John Diefenbaker and U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. Conservative government sources say.

They said that Mr. Diefenbaker's policy of diverting Canadian trade from the U.S. to the Commonwealth would ease the penalization of Canadian exports and subsidization of foreign imports imposed by the rising dollar.

A 15-per-cent diversion of Canada's existing trade would bring the current payments imbalance between the United States and Canada into manageable dimensions, the prime minister has contended.

Meantime, the soaring premium on the Canadian dollar is being recognized by leading government economists as fast building up to a critical national

Car Runs Wild Into Beach Party

(From CP Dispatches)

VANCOUVER—Two women and four children were injured when a car ran out of control into a beach-side parking lot at nearby Deep Cove Wednesday.

The most severely injured was Mrs. Lillian Anderson of Kelowna, who was pinned beneath the car until a wrecker lifted it. She is in North Vancouver Hospital with chest injuries.

The car also rolled over three-year-old Debra Smith of North Vancouver. She was reported in fair condition with a deep back cut.

Police said the accident occurred when the car, carrying four children, rolled down a steep hill toward the beach and then swung into the parking lot. The occupants were uninjured.

Mrs. Elsie Schrenk, her daughter Dianne, 4, and two other children, Penny Smith, 11, North Vancouver and Theresa Catherine Owens, Horseshoe Bay, were detained in hospital overnight.

ARENA WALL BLOWN DOWN

DAWSON CREEK—Reconstruction of the Memorial Arena here, which suffered $100,000 damage in a fire last winter, has received a setback. An entire cement wall was blown down by high winds Tuesday. A crew of carpenters working inside the arena escaped injury.

CHILDREN'S CENTRE

NEW WESTMINSTER—Plans for a $55,000 handicapped children's training centre were announced Wednesday by the New Westminster Kinsmen Club and the B.C. Society for Handicapped Children.

The project calls for conversion of an old Trapp Technical School machine shop into a modern five-classroom school with facilities for 75 students. The Kinsmen, who will renovate and equip the building, said the job will be completed by October.

KINSMEN CLUB FINED

COQUITLAM—The Coquitlam Kinsmen Club was fined $20 in police court Wednesday on a charge of keeping a common gaming house.

The club was charged after RCMP gambling squad officers from Vancouver seized a dice game in Blue Mountain Park while the club was operating a fund-raising drive. President Ed Morigeau told the court the club has been operating five years, during which time it has raised funds for worthy causes.

AMALGAMATION STUDY

NORTH VANCOUVER—A hitherto one-sided love affair was struck up again Wednesday night. District council voted to appoint two councillors to meet with two aldermen from North Vancouver City Council and look into the possibility of an amalgamation. It is the third such attempt in three years.

STRIKE VOTE FRIDAY

KITIMAT—Carpenters here have rejected two alternative offers to settle their 6½-month dispute with the Kitimat Builders' Exchange.

Ernie Rodda, business agent of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, Local 1081, said the carpenters would go ahead with a strike vote Friday as planned. The union is asking for an hourly rate of $2.55 retroactive to April 1, with a five-cent raise next January, as recommended by a conciliation board.

PGE Overpass To Get Chief Off Warpath

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Pacific Great Eastern Railway is considering building an overpass so Chief Mathias Joe of the Capilano Indians can reach his front door without crossing the tracks.

Indian agent F. E. Anfield said Wednesday the railway has recognized the chief's right of way following consultations with federal officials. An ancient trail leading to his waterfront home in North Vancouver was crossed a year ago by a nine-track PGE freight yard.

While the discussions have been in progress, trains parked in the yard have been divided to permit free passage on the trail. The overpass is being considered as a compromise, Mr. Anfield said.

B.C. YOUTH HIT BY BALL

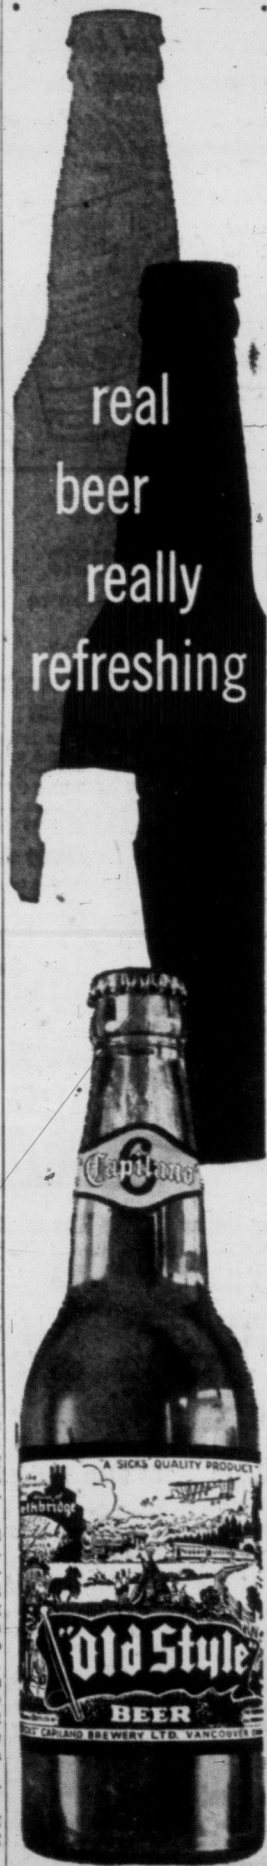

EDMONTON (CP)—A 17-year-old boy who was struck on the head with a baseball four days ago was flown from his Dawson Creek, B.C., home to an Edmonton hospital by the RCAF Wednesday night.

Hospital authorities described as critical the condition of young Jimmy Anderson.

C.N.R. DERAILMENT

VANCOUVER—A buckle in the track caused by heat on the CNR mainline near Spencer's Bridge, 150 miles east of here, derailed 10 freight cars and tied up traffic on the track for several hours Wednesday night.

A 59-car westbound freight hit the buckle shortly after 5 p.m. and the 10 cars slid from the tracks. No one was injured. The track was expected to be clear today.

Lone Canadian Left in Korea

OTTAWA (CP)—Only one Canadian soldier will be left in Korea after July 31.

Army headquarters announced Wednesday that 29 soldiers, the last but one of more than 22,000 to serve in the Korean theatre, will have returned by the end of the month.

Staying behind is Maj. Gordon Douglas Cochrane, 41, of New Glasgow, N.S., Canadian representative on the military armistice commission at Munsan-Ni, Korea.

The returning troops comprised the Canadian medical detachment which has provided medical and dental care for the remaining British Commonwealth troops in Korea. The entire Commonwealth contingent is being withdrawn.

Most of the soldiers already have arrived back in Canada. The final four are to arrive by air at Vancouver between 8 p.m. MDT July 31 and midnight Aug. 1.

The first Canadian Army unit to reach Korea was the 2nd Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry. It landed in Korea Dec. 18, 1950.

Cabbie Finds $11,200 In Car But No Claimer

NEW YORK (AP)—A taxicab driver found $11,200 in cash in his cab Wednesday. Hours later nobody had appeared to claim it. Harold Petrie, 65, the driver, said he found the money wrapped in a package a few minutes after taking a well-dressed man from lower Fifth Avenue to the Biltmore Hotel. The fare, it later developed, was $11.20. Tammany Hall leader Carmine de Sapio, head of the Manhattan Democratic organization. However, he said the money wasn't his. "I'm certain I left no package," he said. "Certainly not one with $11,200 in it." The police said Petrie could have the money if nobody claimed it within 90 days.

Big 5 Ban on Missile Proposed by Stassen

LONDON (UPI)—The United States declared today that the atomic "Big Five" powers should ban the military use of intercontinental missiles before it is too late to control them.

Presidential disarmament adviser Harold E. Stassen told the five-power disarmament conference here that a ban on missiles, which he described as the ultimate weapon, should be a feature of any first-step arms pact.

Stassen said a committee of experts should be designated by the conference powers—the U.S., Britain, Canada, France and Russia—to work out means of imposing and supervising the ban.

The U.S. delegate said the commission should start work within three months after the proposed treaty is ratified.

Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin, Russia's representative at the conference, expressed no opinion on the U.S. proposal. He said merely that he will "study it carefully."

The western powers had agreed to go ahead with the U.S. plan despite the harsh tone of Soviet Premier N. A. Bulganin's latest letter to Prime Minister Harold MacMillan. (See Page 2)

10th Atomic Test Shatters Nevada Calm

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP)—An atomic device shattered the pre-dawn stillness of the Nevada desert today with the power of almost 20,000 tons of TNT. It was the 10th shot in the Atomic Energy Commission's current test series. It was detonated from a balloon 500 feet in the air.

Today's detonation was a closed shot — newspapermen were barred from the site of the AEC's big Yucca Flat test centre.

Alberni Valley Centennial Plan Makes Progress

PORT ALBERNI—Good progress has been reported here on the development of district sports facilities, chosen by Alberni Valley Centennial Committee as its permanent centennial project.

Full amount of the provincial grant of $5,592 has been received, and city councils of Alberni and Port Alberni will match the sum between them. An additional $3,600 will be provided by School District 70.

The program includes construction of a cinder track and soccer pitch at Alberni District High School, improvement of Tenth Avenue ball park, and flooring of Alberni Athletic Hall.

To date levelling and graveling of the track is close to completion, and a source of cinders is being investigated. The committee is considering quotations made for draining and seeding the soccer field.

Only volunteer work has been done at the ball park because of a lack of funds. Flooring for the athletic hall has been ordered.

AVM Cook Dies

OTTAWA (CP)—Air Vice-Marshal Clarence A. Cook, 49, commanding officer of the RCAF's Air Materiel Command at Rockcliffe Air Station here, died suddenly Wednesday night.

A native of Saskatoon, Sask., Air Vice-Marshal Cook had headed the Air Materiel Command since last March. He succeeded Air Vice-Marshal Robert C. R. Ripley, killed in an air crash near Ottawa in March.

The air force said death was caused by a coronary thrombosis. Funeral services with full military honors will be held Friday afternoon in the Protestant chapel at Rockcliffe.

Missing Boys Safe

VANCOUVER (CP)—Two barefoot boys who disappeared from their home Wednesday morning were found 11 hours later in an automobile, huddling over three smoking lanterns to keep warm. Police had launched a search near their home in Vancouver's Trout Lake district for six-year-old Eddy Miller and his brother Bobby.

12-Year-Old Wreckage of Plane Confuses Duncan Family Search

Aircraft wreckage in the Mt. Pilechuck area 30 miles east of Everett, Wash., believed to be that of a plane missing since May 19 with three Duncan residents aboard, apparently is that of a U.S. Navy plane that crashed about 12 years ago.

Snohomish County Sheriff Bob Twitchell of Everett said he flew low over Mt. Pilechuck Wednesday, and that the object sighted a week ago appeared to be wreckage of the previous crash.

The Duncan party, lost on a flight from Ellensburg to parties armed with black paint and brushes to camouflage old plane wrecks in the area.

Three other planes—two jets and a helicopter—have crashed in eastern Snohomish County in recent years, he said.
